"Similarly, in view of the nationwide operations of criminals and the manner in which the criminal element in one community can easily operate in another, we urge expansion of the existing arrangements for the exchange of intelligence information between and among departments.

"It was the unanimous agreement of those in attendance that the present utilization of statistics to compare crime among cities is invalid by reason of variances in reporting systems

Great Dorchester Heights Painting Owned by BPL

The great German painter, Emanuel Leutze, produced two American historical scenes on his canvases. One was titled "Washington Crossing the Delaware." That is in possession of the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art. The second carries just as matter-of-fact a title—"Washington at Dorchester Heights." That is one of the most precious exhibits of the Boston Public Library.

Whether your interest in art is sharp and alive or merely dormant and in need of awakening you'll find a visit to the Main Library to see that painting a most rewarding experience. Every Bostonian will find himself enthralled with the Dorchester Heights study in oils.

The painting, reproduced in this issue of the City Record, through the courtesy of the Library, was acquired for Boston by the BPL in 1955, when a group of representative citizens, headed by Boston businessman Harry Blake—saw it and said to themselves—"That belongs to Boston."

Emanuel Leutze had been commissioned to make the painting by descendants and admirers of Washington many decades back.

One of the most interesting, points out Francis X. Moloney of the Library staff, is the first Medal of Honor awarded in the United States.

Congress made the award after cautiously pointing out it was not only a personal award to George Washington but that it also honored the great events with which he was associated. It is saucer-like in size and the work of French artisans turned it out in the finest gold available.

Mayor Urges Support Of '63 Jewish Appeal

Mayor Collins, in a letter to all department heads, urges enthusiastic support of the 1963 Combined Jewish Appeal. He announced designation of Elmer Foster as chairman of the fund for city workers and asked that each department head appoint a captain to supervise fund collections.

"The 1963 Combined Jewish Appeal is now in progress," said the Mayor's letter. "It has my sincere personal support and that of the City of Boston. Money raised in this campaign will aid those in need right here in our own community.

"In order that employees of the City of Boston may have the opportunity to contribute to this important philanthropic campaign, I should appreciate your appointing a captain from your department to cooperate with Mr. Elmer C. Foster, whom I have designated as chairman of city employees for this purpose.

"Please send the name of your designee as soon as possible to Mr. Foster, Boston Redevelopment Authority, City Hall."

WASHINGTON IN SOUTH BOSTON—One of the most thrilling and inspiring treasures of the Boston Public Library is this famous Leutze painting showing General George Washington at Dorchester Heights on March 17, 1776, watching the ships that evacuated the British leaving Boston Harbor. (This reproduction made by Vose Galleries of Boston was loaned to the City Record by the Library trustees.)

Washington Victoriously Ended War In New England by Dorchester Heights Coup

(The following passages from "The Story of the Revolution," written in the late 1890s by the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, gives a graphic picture of the end of the siege of Boston and the evacuation of British troops and Tories. General Washington had ordered brought to Boston from Fort Ticonderoga guns captured by Ethan Allen. That alone had been an amazing, punishing feat. Washington watched the evacuation from gun-studded Washington Heights.)

On the evening of Monday, March 4, under cover of a heavy bombardment, he marched a large body of troops to Dorchester Heights, and began to throw up redoubts. All night long Washington rode up and down the lines encouraging his men and urging them to work. He knew them now, they had always believed in him, and under such leadership and with such men, the works grew rapidly.

When morning broke there was, as on June 17, great stir and excitement in Boston, and it was plain that the British meant to come out and attack. Washington's spirits rose at the prospect. He had had enough of siege work, and was eager to fight. Meantime his men worked on hard and fast. The British troops made ready, but a gale came up and they could not cross the bay. The next day there was a storm and heavy rain.

The next day it was too late; the works were too strong to be attempted successfully. Then the Ticonderoga guns began to send shot and shell into Boston and parleys were opened. Howe, through the selectmen, promised to evacuate if not molested, but if attacked declared that he would burn the town. Washington assented to this proposition, but still Howe delayed, and Washington, not fond of delays and uncertainties, advanced his works.

The hint was enough and on March 17, amid disorder and pillage, leaving cannon and much else behind, eleven thousand British troops with about a thousand Boston Tories went on board the fleet, while Washington marched in at the other end of the town. The fleet lingered at the entrance to the harbor, closely watched by Washington, for a few days, and then sailed away to Halifax.

The victory was won. Boston was in the hands of the Americans, and so remained. Except for raids here and there, and an attack on Newport, the war in New England was over, and those colonies, the richest and most populous, with their long coast line and ample harbors, were set free to give all their strength to the general cause without being held back or distracted by fighting for their own firesides. To have driven the British from New England and from her capital city in this complete and rapid fashion, was not only a victory, but an achievement of immense importance toward the ultimate success of the Revolution.

It was, moreover, in a purely military way, a very remarkable feat of arms. We cannot improve on Washington's own statement, simple, concise, and sufficient as his statements always are. "To maintain," he said, "a post within musket shot of the enemy for six months together without powder, and at the same time to disband one army and recruit another within that distance of twenty-odd British regiments is more, probably, than was ever attempted." It was in truth a daring attempt, and the success was extraordinary. The beginning came from the armed people of the colonies. The final victory was won by the genius of Washington, whom the people had the wisdom to obey and the sense and strength to follow.

REMEMBERED THIS WEEK — John Boyle O'Reilly noted Irish patriot, first editor of the Pilot of Boston and a lifelong devotee of the literary arts, was remembered by many old-time Bostonians as the Hub paid tribute to the memory of St. Patrick this week.

Mayor Collins' St. Patrick Day Greetings

Fifteen hundred years ago a Man of God sprinkled many hands of seed on a land of great warriors, a land ruled by pagan druids.

The seeds fell on winding rivers and lush green vales. They fell alike on harsh coastal rocks and harbors reaching a gentle welcome from turbulent seas.

The seeds were wafted to every continent of the world. Here in the United States they found most fertile soil. Particularly, they found fruition in Boston.

To every Bostonian — regardless of faith, creed, or color — I extend on St. Patrick's Day, 1963, my most sincere and heartfelt — "Top-'O-The-Morning."

Type II Polio "Sip" Clinics for Boston Preschoolers Announced

Boston's fight against polio gets under way again March 13, 1963. This time the "sip" will be Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine Type II. Free clinics for preschool children, six weeks up to school age, are scheduled at the Health Units and Substations of the Boston Health Department from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M. on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, March 13, 14, 15, and again the following week, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, March 20, 21, 22 (schedule attached).

Dr. John T. Foley, Boston Health Commissioner, said there are three major types of polio viruses, Type I, Type II, and Type III. Each type of vaccine is specific for a given type of polio virus, and every child should be protected against each of the three types. Last May and June, the Boston Health Department provided Type I and Type III Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine to children three months of age through high school. All preschool children who had the vaccine last spring, or received Type I in January, 1963, should return to the March clinics for Type II. School children, with parental approval, will receive their vaccine in school as they did last year. Any child who has not had Oral Polio Vaccine should start now with Type II.

Dr. Foley emphasized that it is very important that every child be adequately protected against polio.

This means they must have three protective "drinks" of the Oral Polio Vaccine.

The Oral Polio Vaccine gives long-lasting immunity, is safe, effective, and easy to take—A few drops of vaccine mixed with water—just DRINK!

The vaccine will be available at 18 clinic locations and parents are urged to make sure their children get their "sip" of Type II polio protection NOW!

They Had Much To Talk About March 12

To accentuate positive aspects of Boston, a panel of seven distinguished Bostonians met March 12, to discuss "What's Right with Boston?"

Sponsored by the Junior Advertising Club of Boston, the panel met at the Statler Hilton to make the public more aware of Boston's many constructive accomplishments and cultural advantages.

Special guest was John F. Collins, Mayor of Boston.

BOSS SHOWS HOW — Park Commissioner Martin Walsh, during one of his rounds of the city's many indoor recreation centers, took time out at the Columbia Road Recreation Center to show these girls of Msgr. Ryan Memorial High School how he did it in the old days. The girls admired his Cousy-like approach, but he declined to get up a quintet of old-timers to match one of their teams. The commissioner heads the vast, extremely popular, recreation program of the Park Department.

and differences in population composition. This fallacy was originally stressed by the Committee of Uniform Crime Reporting of the International Association of Chiefs of Police in their 1929 report which initially established the system.

"It was stated in this report: 'At this point another difficulty arises which partially explains the reluctance of some police forces to compile and publish reports showing the number of crimes committed. It is derived from the tendency to charge the crime rate against the police rather than against the community and the temptation to draw from such statistics broad generalizations concerning the relative efficiency of various police forces.' We are recommending a searching re-examination of the crime statistics publication process.

"Increased urbanization of our mobile society is bringing about an unprecedented increase in crime. To meet this increase, we subscribe to:

1. Vigorous and effective law enforcement;
2. Equal protection of the law for all law-abiding citizens; equal enforcement of the law against all law violators; and
3. Support of all law-abiding citizens for law enforcement.

"We feel that the benefits derived from the meeting and exchange of information today make it imperative that periodic meetings of top administrators of the largest police departments in the country be continued. We propose to meet from time to time to hold similar discussions; to review those things which we have discussed today; and to explore other problems of common concern to us.

"Our efforts will be coordinated with the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) of which we are all members."

Mayor Approves Full Pay for Widow of BFD Hero

Mayor John F. Collins has signed legislation granting the widow of a Boston fire fighter a weekly benefit of $105.33.

Mrs. James H. Sexton of 49 Beech Glen street, Roxbury, will therefore receive the full weekly amount of her husband's salary at the time of his death.

This marks the second time the Mayor has granted full pay to a widow of a public servant in the last few months. Earlier, he signed legislation granting full pay to the widow of hero patrolman John Gallagher who was killed in action last June in a gun fight at Kenmore square.

Mr. Sexton, a tillerman stationed at Ladder 4, was killed on December 7, when he was thrown from the seat of an apparatus which grazed a pole while answering an alarm. A fire fighter for 13 years, he had reported for duty only an hour before the accident which claimed his life.

In granting the death benefit to Mrs. Sexton, Mayor Collins said he hoped that the annuity might in some small way soften the blow of the loss to Mrs. Sexton. The Mayor added that another reason he felt he should sign the legislation was the fact that when Mr. Sexton was killed, his daughter was only 20 days old. The infant was scheduled to be christened two days after her father was killed.

"It is my sincere belief," the Mayor concluded, "that any Bostonian would agree that this unusual legislation is justified."

Avery St. One Way Traffic Reversed

To provide for better traffic circulation and eliminate congestion at Avery street, Hayward place, and Washington street, Commissioner Thomas F. Carty ordered a reversal of the one-way flow of traffic on Avery street. The order became effective March 12.

Under the new rule, traffic will flow from Washington to Tremont street. Under the same rule one-way traffic on Mason street is reversed to run from Tremont street to Mason Street proper.

Hancock Aids Charles River Development

Representatives of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company and Charles River Park, Inc., have signed papers for a $12 million mortgage loan to finance the second complex of the Charles River Park.

The new loan brings John Hancock's financial interest in Boston's newest and largest residential apartment community to more than $22 million. The high-rise apartments, adjoining the Massachusetts General Hospital, overlook the Charles River Basin.

Big Bowling Party for Golden Agers March 25

Mayor Collins' Golden Age Club will conduct a big bowling party for "Golden Agers" at the Huntington "55 Alleys," 255 Huntington avenue, Back Bay, Monday, March 25, starting at 10.30 A.M.

Billy Day, hailing the big party, says it's on a "Come One—Come All" basis. "55 Alleys" are located next to Symphony Hall. Get off the MTA at the Symphony station.

Pemberton to Boston Boat Service Started

In these days when transportation by wheel is almost the prime essential for every human any new ideas will gain attention of everyone from the lowly pedestrian to the top traffic expert. That's why so many were rooting this week for the survival and prosperity of daily water run from Pemberton to Boston.

The "Vineyard Queen" in her maiden run on the new service left her Pemberton Pier at 7 A.M. and from India Wharf at 5 P.M. That won't necessarily be her regular schedule—the commuters themselves, according to owner-operator Adrian Millar, will decide on that.

BOSTON TO BOSTON—Recent caller at City Hall was Capt. James G. Andrews, USN, commander of the ultramodern fighting ship the U.S.S. Good Service, Lower Fares, for N. H. Riders

The New Haven Railroad's mass demonstration program of stepped-up commuter service and reduced fares, much in the pattern of that of the Boston & Maine, went into operation March 11.

The 12-month experiment will be made possible through a $1.2 million payment from the U. S. Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Under the test, being conducted by the Mass Transportation Commission, the New Haven will provide hourly passenger service on the Boston-Providence line, and trains every 50 minutes on the Needham route.

To meet this schedule, the New Haven will add 26 trains daily to its regular service. Fare reductions, though varying according to distance, will average 10 per cent.

Mental Health Unit In New Gov't Center

The new Government Center will contain a State Mental Health Center, operated with the joint cooperation of Massachusetts General Hospital and the Harvard Medical School.

Dr. Erich Lindemann, chief of the psychiatric service at Massachusetts General Hospital, says a new awareness in the problems of mental health has triggered the release of federal funds for community clinics.

The new center will contain 80 beds with an emergency ward for both mental and physical illnesses and an information center.

Brighton was annexed by the city under an act of the Legislature on January 5, 1874. Originally part of Cambridge it became an independent municipal unit in 1807. On the same day as Brighton became part of Boston, Charlestown and West Roxbury were also incorporated by the city.

Thomas C. Fahey, retired Boston police officer, died March 11, at his home, 31 Wycliff avenue, West Roxbury, at the age of 75.

He was the father of three members of the Boston police, Laurence M., with whom he lived, Francis W., and Thomas C., Jr. A native of Clare County, Ireland, he came to this country as a youth and joined the Police Department. For most of his 32 years of service he was assigned to the Joy Street Station. WELFARE COSTS FOR JANUARY

Following is a summary of the Welfare Department for January:

Public welfare assistance statistics for January, 1963, maintained established trends and reflected seasonal variances. Departmental expenditures amounted to just over $3.5 million for aid rendered to 29,436 families and individuals for the month. The average cost per case was $119.98 of which 70 per cent represented direct payments to recipients, with the balance principally earmarked for payment of needed medical services. With 1,451 applications approved and 1,411 cases closed, the caseload showed a slight rise of 40 cases. In addition, there were 453 requests for assistance which were rejected or withdrawn.

Old Age Assistance: Under this category, the department aided 12,291 persons at a cost of close to $1 million. There was a continued downward trend with 170 approvals and 179 closings. The major reasons for this movement are due to more adequate social security benefits and the comparatively new Medical Assistance for the Aged program. The average monthly grant was $78.87 per case.

Medical Assistance for the Aged: Because this category is designed primarily to meet the medical expenses of recipients, 97 per cent of the three quarters of a million expended took the form of vendor payments to hospitals, nursing homes, druggists, physicians, etc. While 5,536 persons are covered by the program, only 4,841 actually incurred medical bills during the month.

Aid to Dependent Children: With 7,073 families covered by this program, this category continued to provide assistance for the largest number of individuals (24,000) and conversely claimed the largest share of welfare funds ($1.2 million). On an average, each family received $171.56 for the month. Of the 504 applications processed, 436 were approved and 68 rejected. There were 442 cases closed for a net decrease of 6 cases in the caseload.

Disability Assistance: Under this program, 3,226 persons who were unable to maintain self support due to incapacitation received an average of $126.02 of the $407,138 expended. With minor fluctuations, Disability Assistance has sustained its present caseload for some time suggesting that it has reached a static plateau. During January, 119 requests were approved and 118 cases were closed. Almost half of the rejections were due to ineligibility to meet the required medical standards according to the State Medical Review Team.

General Relief: More than any other category, General Relief reflected the post-Christmas employment lag. With Aid to Dependent Children covering the children of the unemployed wage earner, the bulk of the General Relief clients are composed of "unattached" persons. Expenditures amounted to $169,821 which provided assistance to 2,025 families and persons. There were 457 applications approved and 419 cases closed for an increase of 38 cases.

An Irishman who had imbibed too freely began to feel exceedingly ashamed of his conduct and decided to go to confession. Noticing that he was under the weather, the priest said gently, "Better put it off until some other time, Pat. Now go home and go to bed like a good man. You haven't killed anyone, have you?"

"Of course not," mumbled Pat, and departed. On his way home he met his friend Tim Murphy, bound for confession. "It's no use going there now," said Pat. "The father is only hearing murder cases tonight."

Building Start Assured, City Transfers Land to U.S. Old Scollay Sq. Hums With Work

Final technical hurdles were cleared March 15 to make possible the start of construction of a $28 million Federal Office Building in the former Scollay Square area this spring.

At a brief but dramatic ceremony at Mayor Collins' office in City Hall the four and one-half-acre site of the building was turned over to the Federal Government by the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

Title to the land was transferred when a check for $1,200,000 was presented to the Mayor by the General Services Administrator Bernard L. Boutin.

The money will represent the actual sales price of the land from the Boston Redevelopment Authority to the General Services Administration and will pave the way for early construction of the first building to rise in the downtown urban renewal program under the Mayor's Boston Development Program.

The Federal Office Building will also be the first of four major public buildings and at least ten private buildings in the Government Center that will follow hard on its heels.

It will provide approximately 25 acres of office space for many federal agencies previously scattered throughout the city and will occupy a commanding position on the new Government Center Plaza in close proximity to the new City Hall. Its twin 28-story towers and adjacent 4-story annex are the work of the famed architectural team of Walter Gropius and Samuel Glasser.

In conveying the land for the new building to the Federal Government, Mayor Collins declared the ceremony underscored the pace at which urban renewal is paving the way for a "New" Boston through the Government Center Project.

The building site that less than one year ago was a typically deteriorated section of the old Scollay Square area, today hums with renewal activity.

One of the focal points of activity is the $26,000,000 State Office Building now under construction by the Commonwealth. The Metropolitan Transit Authority has also begun an ambitious project to improve rapid transit facilities that will serve the new Government Center. The City of Boston has begun construction on New Sudbury street that will be one of the major streets serving the Federal Office Building site.

BIG DAY FOR BOSTON!— Left to right, Senator Edward M. Kennedy, Mayor Collins, and Senator Leverett Saltonstall as papers were passed assuring the start of the new Federal Office Building in Scollay square this spring. Top Theater Man To Head 1963 Mayor's Field Day

Ben Sack, outstanding Boston theater operator and owner, has been named chairman of the 1963 Mayor Collins Charity Field Day.

The widely experienced theater man was praised by Mayor Collins at a special meeting at City Hall when announcement of the appointment was made.

The Mayor praised him for his "tremendous talent as a charity leader." Mr. Sack said he has some exciting plans for the Field

Day and will bring in some Hollywood stars to boost this year's success. The Mayor reported that more than 2,000 persons received help from the charity fund during the past years. This included the furnishing of glasses, wheel chairs, and hospital beds to the needy. Some 50 charitable organizations were assisted.

Trustee Michael Pagliarulo of Roslindale reported that last year's drive grossed $109,000. All but $4,000 has been used.

James Philbin

James Philbin, retired Boston police officer, died recently at Soldiers Home, Chelsea, at the age of 69. He was a widower and had made his residence at the home for several years.

Born in South Boston, he was a naval veteran of World War I. He was appointed to the Police Department in 1923 and served the traffic divisions in Brighton and East Boston prior to his retirement in 1944. Funeral services were held at St. Theresa's Church, Everett.

Land Transfers . . .

The land conveyance ceremony took place in the Mayor's office at 11.30 A.M. It was followed by a luncheon at the Parker House and a guided bus tour of the Government Center area by Administrator Edward J. Logue of the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

Among the distinguished guests participating in the program were Governor Endicott Peabody, Senators Leverett Saltonstall and Edward M. Kennedy, members of the City Council, members of the staff of General Services Administrator Boutin, Lester Eisner of the U. S. Housing and Home Finance Agency, Stephen Moulton of the U. S. Attorney's Office, Monsignor Francis J. Lally and members of the Boston Redevelopment Authority, and the architects of the Federal Office Building.

What's Right in Hub? Here's a Jury Verdict

At a luncheon sponsored by the Junior Advertising Club of Boston—frankly billed as a "What's Right About Boston" gathering—a jury of top examiners looked the city over and dissected it from many angles. The verdict? "Something of which to be proud today."

Here are a few quotes:

Mayor Collins—"At long last Bostonians have abandoned hypochondria."

Dr. Asa S. Knowles, president of Northeastern University—"Within the near future Greater Boston universities will be contributing more than half a billion dollars in new resources, new equipment facilities."

Rt. Rev. Francis J. Lally, editor of "The Pilot" and chairman of the BRA—"We have the most ambitious renewal program in America."

Arthur Fiedler, Boston Pops Orchestra conductor—"Our outdoor concerts have established a tradition now being imitated by other great cities."

Elliot Norton, one of the nation's top dramatic critics—"Boston is a leading cultural city today."

John C. Dowd, veteran leader in the field of advertising—"We have a new community dynamism."

Mrs. Muriel Snowden, associate director of Roxbury's Freedom House, extolling citizen planning for the Washington Park urban renewal program—"We have to fight for it to get it."

At a meeting of the YMCA in its headquarters on Huntington avenue, Back Bay, March 27, Mayor Collins will point out the role of the "Y" in the "New Boston." Ellis Ash, of the BRA, John D. Fox, of the YMCA board of directors, and Warren McManus, community secretary of the "Y," will also address an audience which will include civic leaders concerned with the "New Boston."

A five-day exhibit of scale models of the Government Center, South End Project, Waterfront Project, Washington Park, and the Prudential Center will be opened at the luncheon and remain on display for the public.

Jess Cain of WHDH will be master of ceremonies.

Suburbia Tax Rates Hit the Escalators

Those who thought they would find real estate tax relief heavens in suburban and exurban towns outside metropolitan areas aren't finding it works out just that way. Take the little town of Tewksbury as an example. Recently its Finance Committee, estimated a hike of $12 on top of the present $96 rate would be necessary for town operations this year.

John C. Brodhead

John C. Brodhead, 92, retired assistant superintendent of the Boston Public Library, and an uncle of former Vice President Henry A. Wallace, died recently at his home, 3 Montclair street, Roslindale.

He retired in 1938 and devoted much of his time in subsequent years to occupational therapy work at Veterans' Administration Hospitals in West Roxbury and Bay Pines, Florida.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Fogerty King, of Needham, and Mrs. Gladys M. Brown, Melrose.

2 Skyscrapers Get Okay in Single Day

Two big strides were taken on a single day recently toward realization of the "New Boston" look when major technicalities were cleared for two skyscrapers in various parts of the downtown area.

First, Mayor Collins and the White Fund Trustees signed a 99-year lease agreeing with Boston developers Bertram A. Drucker Associates, clearing way for construction of a $12 million 30-story hotel and luxury apartment house on Boylston street, opposite Public Garden.

Secondly (see page one), the Mayor received a check for $1.2 million from the General Services Administration for four and one-half acres of land in the Scollay Square section of the Government Center. This tract will be on the site of the $28 million 28-story Federal Building.

Mr. Drucker said demolition of existing buildings at 190-200 Boylston street, near Charles, is scheduled to begin in early May. The new building is expected to be completed within 18 months, and construction may begin in July, he said.

The White Fund lease covered a 9,200-square foot parcel of land on which part of the structure is to be erected. The developer already controls or owns four adjacent pieces of property which complete the site. The Drucker firm will pay the city $10,000 a year rental for the site, as well as taxes when the building is finished.

From the nineteenth floor and on up through the tower will be 126 permanent luxury suites. Rentals will range from $150 a month for studio-type apartments to $500 monthly for larger units which will include two bedrooms and a library.

$53 Million Earmarked To Hub by Fed. Gov't

Federal government commitments to Boston for urban renewal and redevelopment aid totals $53 million according to figures presented the City Council by Budget Analyst Raymond Rothermel. It was also brought out that the federal government has allotted a total of $6.1 million for survey funds in the General Neighborhood Renewal areas of Boston.

No Mourners As Poll Tax Goes Into Discard

Massachusetts' $2 poll tax—an impost dating back to 1776—was doomed the other day after passing both branches of the Legislature and sent to Governor Peabody's desk. Impetus for its demise was given by Mayor Collins when results of an investigation in depth showed the cost of collection was found to be so great as to make the tax uneconomical.

Boston Trade Provides K-9 Corps Housing

All modern conveniences for up-and-coming members of the Boston police K-9 corps have been built into the doghouses for the eight German police dogs undergoing training for work in the city. The doghouses are being completed by students of the Boston Trade School in Roxbury under direction of Raymond Tomasini.

Plans called for a front porch, swinging doors, an entrance corridor, a bedroom, and even a canvas roof for sunning purposes. The roof is removable, too, to make the task of cleaning the living quarters easier.

Each house will be placed on cement blocks, since the type of dog used in the corps is often subject to arthritis. Each is also designed for year-round living affording enough room in which to move around. Body heat will keep them warm.

Three Police Officers Honored for Civil Rights Devotion

For their determination in pressing an investigation into a murder to the very nth degree and for their profound respect for civil rights, three Boston police officers have won national recognition.

The officers are Deputy Superintendent William A. Bradley and Detectives Robert E. Hayden and Robert H. Costello. They have been awarded honorable mention for the Judge Jerome Frank Award, named for a jurist who championed civil rights. The award is made each year to police officers showing a conspicuous respect for such rights.

The case which won them attention came with the arrest of Maurice Berry, 62, of West Canton street, South End, for manslaughter in the death of one Joseph L. Morrow, 62, of Dorchester.

Berry in his original story to police said that one of a group of youths knocked Morrow to the sidewalk. He suffered a head injury and subsequently died. Later he changed his story somewhat and indicated he had knocked Morrow down. The officers were dissatisfied and maintained their investigation. They refused to accept "an easy way out."

While grand jury action was awaited in the case, the police picked up a 15-year-old boy on another matter. Under questioning he admitted he was the prime assailant in the death case and his companions corroborated his story.

The deputy and the two detectives went to District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne and convinced him that Berry should be freed.

Recently Hayden and Costello were advanced to their present ranks.

Mayor in Capital to Urge Boston Projects

Mayor Collins in a dual-purpose trip to Washington bolstered the strong support of the American Municipal Association's strong backing of the $500 million mass transportation program and further cleared the path for the release of federal funds for U.S.-backed Boston projects.

The Mayor is vice president of the AMA and has played a leading role in its fight for the success of the mass transportation program.

In conferences with Administrator Robert Weaver, of the U. S. Public Housing Administration, and Bernard Boutin, chief of the General Services Administration, he explored the release of further funds by the GSA.

Mrs. Claire Murphy

Funeral services were held March 13 at Windsor, Connecticut, for Mrs. Claire (MacLeod) Murphy, former Boston City Hospital nurse, and wife of Dr. Edward Murphy. She died in a Boston subway accident.

She was the mother of two sons, Michael and Daniel, and two daughters, Susan and Ruth.

A native of Westwood and a resident of the Greater Boston area until moving to Windsor eight years ago, she was a graduate of the Boston City Hospital School of Nursing.

B & M Figures Stay On Encouraging Side

February patronage figures of the Boston & Maine Railroad's commuter service between Boston and its suburbs continued to show encouraging gains in the experiment into mass transportation being carried out with federal assistance by the Massachusetts Transportation Commission.

During February, second month of the experiment, the road carried 530,361 passengers an increase over the 422,672 using the lines during the same period a year ago, or 25.5 per cent.

In January this year 495,887 were served or a gain of 21.4 per cent over the 408,427 total of January, 1962.

Hospital Lottery Bill Goes Down Drain

A bill designed to provide for a lottery to raise funds for Boston City Hospital gained a favorable report from the Cities Committee of the House but stumbled and lost out when it reached the floor. Under provisions of the measure proposed by Representative Michael A. Nazzaro, Jr., lottery tickets would be sold by the Boston tax collector or persons designated by him. Fifty per cent of the proceeds would be used "exclusively for the support and maintenance of the hospital." The remainder would have gone for prizes and expenses.

Hartford, Ct., in Race for That Modern Look, Too

Hartford, Connecticut, is one of the American cities vying with Boston for a new look and the discard of the "dull and drab" appearance that goes with age and decay.

In a downtown area close to the Connecticut River, called Constitution Plaza, developers, with substantial financial assistance of the Travelers Insurance Company, have raised a group of severely modern buildings which, with their predominantly glass areas, form a new architectural note against the Hartford skyline.

In a downtown area close to the Connecticut River they have set down office buildings, a resort-type hotel, and a research center. The buildings are set in an attractive plaza with walks lined with potted trees and flowers. In the area is an outdoor swimming pool, restaurant, and other recreational facilities.

On the assumption that most of these visitors will come by car, the plaza officials have provided plenty of parking space.

One of the important phases of plaza construction was reached recently with a special "roof-topping" ceremony held for the new Hotel America. Attended by city and business officials, the formalities marked the completion of the twelfth and final floor of the $5,000,000 hotel.

smoke, and gases. Members of Engine Company 40 raised a ladder to the third floor and Fire Fighter Julius C. Sutton of Engine Company 40 went over the ladder, removed a child from a window, and then climbed the ladder again to remove the child's mother. He ascended the ladder for a third time searching for a boy who was reported missing. He entered the apartment but was unable to locate the boy and had to leave the floor because of severe heat and dense smoke.

Fire Fighter Paul D. Crimmins of Engine Company 5 climbed a ladder to the third floor, entered the apartment, and located a boy whom he removed to a window where he gave him to Fire Fighter Sutton who brought him to the street.

Both these fire fighters performed this rescue work under very difficult conditions, at great risk, and without regard for their own safety. By their quick action, they no doubt saved the lives of the mother and two children.

The Fire Commissioner is pleased to highly commend Fire Fighters Julius C. Sutton and Paul D. Crimmins, and their cases are referred to the Board of Men for further consideration.

The Rules and Regulations of the Boston Police Department are hereby amended, effective at 12.01 A.M., Friday, March 15, 1963, as follows:

On Page 60, strike out Section 7, 8, and 9 of Rule 40, "Arrests and Prisoners," and insert the following new sections:

SECTION 7.—Every person arrested, for any cause, shall be taken at once to the station house of the district within which such person was arrested and shall be registered upon the books of that district.

The name, address, age, date of birth, if obtainable, of every person arrested and the charge shall be immediately telephoned to the Identification Section of the Records and Communications Division of the Bureau of General Services, where a booking number will be obtained. This number will be used on District Arrest Books and Indexes. No other booking number will be used by the districts except that obtained from the Identification Section.

The information received at the Identification Section will be recorded, the files searched to learn whether or not the arrested person is wanted for a crime or for questioning in connection therewith, and the arrest indexed.

All persons arrested for felonies, on suspicion, or for other serious crimes, including sex offenders and those charged with violations of the gaming and narcotic drug laws, shall be sent to the Identification Section to be fingerprinted and photographed.

Prisoners taken from station houses to Headquarters or other places for purposes of identification or detention, or for any other purpose whatsoever, shall be guarded properly by a sufficient number of patrolmen or officers of rank, and shall (except women and juveniles) be handcuffed to a patrolman, an officer of rank or to another prisoner. Under no circumstances are handcuffs to be removed while said prisoners are being transported, or while in Headquarters or such other place to which they may be taken except for the purposes of taking fingerprints, writing on forms as may be required, lineup, or when otherwise absolutely necessary. Officers having prisoners in their custody shall be held strictly responsible for the safe custody of the prisoners under their care and this responsibility is theirs whether in the Criminal Investigation Division, at the lineup, or elsewhere.

All police personnel, prisoners and witnesses required for the lineup shall arrive at Headquarters not later than 8 A.M.

SECTION 8.—When a prisoner has been arrested, with or without a warrant, and the arrest registered upon the books in a district other than the district wherein the warrant was obtained or the crime committed, the prisoner shall be surrendered to the district holding the warrant or wherein the crime was committed, where the arrest shall be recorded for statistical purposes and the original arrest record red-lined.

SECTION 9.—All persons taken to a station house under arrest shall be placed before the booking officer in charge who shall enter the arrest in the daily arrest record; see that such persons are properly searched in front of the desk and be sure that belts, neckties, and all other articles which might be used for suicidal purposes by the persons under arrest and confined in cells are taken away from the prisoners. All articles taken from the persons under arrest shall be marked with the name of the prisoner and the cell number in which he is confined, and shall be kept in a safe place until such time as the articles are restored to the owner thereof, or otherwise disposed of. The booking officer in charge of the station will be held responsible for and must record any property taken from any persons under arrest. When a prisoner is being surrendered to another district or another law enforcement agency, the prisoner's property shall be handed to the officer transporting the prisoner to such other district or law enforcement agency and said officer shall give a receipt for the property received. The property shall then be delivered to the booking officer in charge at such other district who shall care for such SECTION 30.—All personal property taken from female prisoners who are searched at the station in accordance with the Rules and Regulations, shall be placed in a property envelope and contents listed thereon by the officer in charge. The officer in charge shall hand the property envelope to the officer accompanying the prisoner to the house of detention for delivery to the matron for safekeeping until such time as the articles are restored to the owner. The matron shall examine the contents of the envelope and give a receipt to the officer for any property received, which shall be delivered by him to the officer in charge of the station.

On Page 62, Section 31, as so appearing, shall be amended by striking out in the second line the words, "or at headquarters," so as to read as follows:

SECTION 31.—Any article taken from female prisoners as a result of a search at a station house in accordance with the Rules and Regulations which may be regarded as evidence, shall be retained for presentation in court.

On Page 63, after Section 2 of Rule 41, "Fugitives from Justice," add the following new section:

SECTION 3.—Any officer returning a fugitive from justice to this jurisdiction may take the prisoner to District 2, where the arrest shall be recorded. If such arrest was made in pursuance of a process obtained by an officer of any other district, the booking officer in charge of District 2 shall notify the commanding officer of the district concerned, who shall record the arrest for statistical purposes and the arrest record at District 2 shall be red-lined.

Effective with this order, the practice of booking persons arrested by Headquarters personnel at the Criminal Investigation Division shall be discontinued. However, the maintenance of records covering arrest activities of Headquarters personnel shall be continued for administrative purposes.

Whenever a member of a Headquarters unit effects an arrest, he shall submit all statistical IBM card reports as are required, to the district in which the crime occurred, and said district shall process the cards in the usual manner.

We take our car for service to a small garage where the mechanics identify each car by the owner's name. I had quite a chuckle the first time I saw the orders for the day. Posted on the bulletin board, they read:

Mrs. Ellis won't start.
Give Miss Jackson some alcohol. Two quarts ought to hold her.
Something wrong with old man Pitts' wiring.
Wash Miss Jenkins.

Proceedings of City Council

Monday, March 4, 1963.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., President HINES in the chair. Absent, Councillor Coffey.

The Right Reverend Christopher P. Griffin, chaplain of the City Council, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY THE RIGHT REVEREND CHRISTOPHER P. GRIFFIN.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Almighty and ever blessed God, we penitently confess that again and again our spiritual nature becomes eclipsed by the sordid materialism around us and we lose our vision of the wonder and the glory of the life to which Thou hast called us. Therefore this Holy Season of Lent upon which we have entered will be a time of self-examination, self-discipline, self-denial, that we may discover the divine power which will enable us to gain the mastery over every insurgent impulse and every unworthy and inordinate desire. Thus daily we shall become more sensitive and more responsive to the guidance of Thy spirit and thus a more worthy instrument in the governing of our city. Hear our prayer in the name of Christ our Saviour.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

City of Boston,

Health Department, February 25, 1963.
Hon. John F. Collins,

Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the City Council order of February 11, 1963:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to order the Health Department inspectors or inspectors of the Office of Neighborhood Improvement to make a concentrated effort during the next two weeks to have landlords in the Elbert and Bower Street section of Roxbury clean up the rubbish and garbage and other debris which now cover many of the yards and alleyways in that area; and further be it two (2) environmental sanitation inspectors and two (2) police officers were assigned to the Elbert and Bower Street section of Roxbury in a concentrated effort to have those areas cleaned of rubbish, garbage, and other debris.

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to have the appropriate city department clean up any and all city-owned lots in said areas.

The Section of Environmental Sanitation reports that an inspection of this area has revealed thus far thirty (30) dirty vacant lots, eighty-one (81) abandoned automobiles, eighty-four (84) yards with accumulations of rubbish and garbage, one unsanitary private passageway, seventeen (17) cases of insufficient rubbish receptacles, and thirty-seven (37) vacant houses.

Notices to Abate a Nuisance are in process of being served pending ownership determinations on the following violations: 45 dirty yards, 12 vacant lots, 6 insufficient rubbish receptacles, and 1 private passageway. In addition, referrals have been made to the Boston Redevelopment Authority on 39 dirty yards, 18 vacant lots, 11 insufficient rubbish receptacles.

I have instructed the Section of Environmental Sanitation to continue this concentrated inspectional and enforcement program in this area until conditions are improved.

Respectfully,

JOHN T. FOLEY, M.D., M.P.H.,

Health Commissioner.

Placed on file.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR SALARY INCREASES TO CERTAIN EMPLOYEES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, March 4, 1963.
To the Honorable City Council.

Gentlemen:

I am submitting herewith, for your Honorable Body's consideration and approval, orders for the appropriation of funds totaling, in the aggregate, $3,574,975, the details of which are outlined in a communication from the Supervisor of Budgets transmitted herewith.

The purpose of this request is my desire to make effective March 6, 1963, an implementation of the J. L. Jacobs survey as well as a salary increase for the fire fighting, fire alarm, and police forces. It should be noted that this appropriation is for the 43 weeks remaining in 1963; the total annual cost would amount to $4,341,226.92.

Inasmuch as, after the adoption of the accompanying appropriation orders, formal amendments to the City and County Plans will have to be made before the benefits involved can be reflected in the "take-home" pay of the employee, your early action on the accompanying orders will be appreciated.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Administrative Services Department,
March 4, 1963.

Hon. John F. Collins,

Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir:

In accordance with your instructions, a detailed analysis of the funds necessary to implement the recommendations of the J. L. Jacobs & Co. classification and compensation survey in addition to a salary increase for the fire fighting, fire alarm, and police forces amounting in total to $3,574,975 for the balance of 1963 is respectfully submitted.

Enclosure "A" outlines, in detail, the expenditure necessary to promulgate a salary increase in the fire fighting, fire alarm, and police forces amounting to $1,549,981.22.

Enclosure "B" is an analysis of the effect of the J. L. Jacobs survey on the personnel covered by the report which amounts to $1,867,337.78.

The sum necessary to meet the adjusted salaries for personnel working overtime can not be arrived at with complete accuracy because of the many contingencies involved in the employment of personnel needed during periods of emergency or on projects of an expeditious nature. It was therefore decided to estimate overtime on a percentage of 10 per cent of the budget allowance for all departments recommended for 1963 less 20 per cent to compensate for the adoption of this plan as of the first Wednesday in March 1963. Enclosure "C" outlines, by department, the 1963 budget allowance which, when computed on the above formula, amounts to an appropriation for overtime of $140,656.

It will also be necessary to appropriate $17,000 for the administrative cost for the implementation of this program. An overtime expenditure for the Personnel Division of $6,000 and for the Auditing Department of $9,000 will be required in addition to $2,000 to the City Documents for printing and binding of the rules and regulations of the Jacobs plan.

A further analysis indicates that of the appropriation of $1,867,337.78 for personnel covered by the survey, Income Departments account for $196,888.83. This appropriation will be raised from revenues pertinent to the respective division. This is also true of overtime for income departments amounting to $11,312.

Respectfully,

HENRY T. BRENNAN,
Supervisor of Budgets.

Boston Hailed Nationally as a Top All-American City

Boston — seemingly destined for bankruptcy and a shabby place near the bottom of the list of once great American cities — won national recognition this week as one of the 11 top municipalities of the nation.

In the most fierce kind of competition — against long-established cities as well as new ones boasting phenomenal cultural and material advances within the past few decades — Boston was adjudged for acclamation as one of the United States' "All-American" cities.

The award was made by Look Magazine and the National Municipal League.

It was joyfully hailed by Mayor Collins and the city at large as most satisfying evidence of the impact of New Boston on the rest of the nation.

The Mayor himself led the determined battle to place a true image of Boston before the nation and the world.

The success of the bid came in the face of a period when emphasis on the least favorable aspects of the city's problems had received often distorted and grotesque publicity.

The Mayor expressed himself as honored and highly pleased with the award. "It is," he said, "a superb verdict by impartial observers of the Boston of today and the Boston of the near-at-hand tomorrow."

The competition for honors on the top-eleven list was testing and extremely searching. Last November by elimination process the field had been narrowed to 22 finalists.

At that time, a summation worked up by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce directed attention to the fact that the city — by sound planning and an unswerving will — had become one of the nation's most progressive municipalities.

At last its financial house had been placed in order. For three successive years its tax rate had been revised downward. Beyond that it had taken reins in hand in a drive to place itself among the world's top population centers.

From tremendous resources of its past and from the best planning brains it could find it began laying a solid foundation for a place in the world of the future.

It had succeeded, said the G.B.C.C., in "rising from the ashes of indifference, cynicism and apathy" into a renaissance of nuclear, electronic, medical and financial achievement.

State Library Aid to Cities Limited Handout

In its support of a legislative bill which provides for grants to municipalities from the State's General Fund for aid in the conduct of public libraries rather than from the proceeds of the State income tax, the Boston Finance Commission cites some interesting figures. Under present law the aid comes from the State income tax.

"In 1930," said a Fin. Com. statement, "the total distribution of income tax moneys by the State was $30,815,560, of which Boston received $7,572,205. For the State fiscal year ending June 30, 1962, the State distributed $59,317,797 of income tax money, but Boston received only $8,142,062 in income tax money during its fiscal 1962.

"In other words, the amount distributed, as a whole, has almost doubled but Boston's share was small, indeed."

Adding the money to finance State aid for local libraries to the list of commitments to be taken from the Income Tax Fund before the balance is distributed, is a continuing move in the wrong direction, the Fin. Com. argued.

Boylston Street Site For 30-Story Structure

A 99-year lease for White Fund property at Park square was signed with developers who propose to construct a 30-story combination hotel and apartment building overlooking the Public Garden.

The five parcels of land from 190 to 200 Boylston street were turned over to developer Bertram Druker, representing the firm of John Druker & Son.

Druker said demolition of the present structures will get under way in May. Construction on the $12 million building could begin by July, he said.

Under terms of the lease agreement, the developers will pay a yearly rent of $10,000 on the property in addition to taxes on the building.

Scollay Sq. Sidewalk Superintendents Glimpse Future on a Sunday Afternoon

There were Bostonians — at least at heart — middle-aged or beyond. Probably 300 or more. Most of them had their elbows draped over the top board of the fence barrier. Just below them was the ditch being carved out week days to give the tunnel a new direction out of Scollay square.

It was Sunday afternoon. First good one — weather-wise — since the fall. They just stood there and watched. If they talked it was in soft, subdued fashion. They weren't there for any action. There was no action.

Down deep in the ditch just below them you could see part of the old Scollay station — its tile walls bared like an underground tomb. Big cranes were scattered over the barren area. They stood like motionless oil wells. Only a comparatively small pile of granite marked the complete effacing of old Leopold Morse.

Hanover street sort of cuts the area in half. It's just a stretch of lonesome road, between two beaten sidewalks. You try to figure out where the old American House—one of the liveliest hostelries of the East — once stood. It's not easy. There's one clue. It's a forlorn, staggered street sign that says — "Portland Street."

Away up on the northern edge of the cleared area a modern road's in the making. You can trace it from Haymarket square to its old Scollay terminus. Sort of dominates the scene now. Scattered around are the great shells of what will help form some of its underground complex of conduits, sewers, etc.

The people at the board fence just stared. What were they thinking? Of the now dead past? They didn't look it but some of them may have once been part of old Scollay. Maybe, some could remember her Saturday nights — Saturday nights when the tough old spot tried to make like Singapore — Saturday nights when rollicking noise burst out from almost every door — Saturday nights when sidewalks were jammed — Saturday nights when the clang of patrol wagon bells vied with the screams of mechanical music makers.

One old fellow tapped us on the elbow almost apologetically.

"You know," he said, "I was just thinking. When all those buildings out there are finished — when they got the plaza seeded down good — it'll be great coming back here. Imagine the lights. Imagine Christmas time when all the lights in the Federal Building and City Hall and the State Building and the rest

"I'll betcha nobody'll ever think of the neon signs or the star that went round and round in front of the theater." He fumbled for a match and got his pipe going again. Then his eyes went back to the scene before him. He himself went back to his reverie.

Buddies Club Gives Way to New USO

Almost simultaneously with the opening of the first USO operation in the United States at 104 Boylston street, the task of dismantling the old Buddies Club on the Common was completed. The Buddies Club which served so well and for so many years during World War II, the Korean War, and after both conflicts, held a tender spot in the hearts of many servicemen from all parts of the nation.

Age and built-in inadequacies to meet present-day needs wrote "finis" to the structure. The new club located next to the Colonial Theater will do more than replace it. Meanwhile the razing of the structure will add much to the appearance of the Common.

SOON TO START—On a site that was once the northern end of Scollay square the Federal Office Building gets under way soon. Here the conception of the architects traces out its bold clean lines. (The Architects Collaborative and Samuel Glazer Associates Architects.)

99-Year-Old City Hospital Receives 1,800,000th Patient

Boston City Hospital where a patient is always a human being in need of the best medical attention possible and never a mere number—a number and a patient caused quite a stir March 21.

Pergola Photo

RECORDING HISTORY On a modern machine, Thomas Crowley at the City Hospital's Admitting Office, records the admission of the hospital's 1,800,000th patient.

It's a Girl for Dr. and Mrs. John Conlin

Dr. and Mrs. John F. Conlin became the parents of a charming daughter on March 19. The new arrival, Elizabeth Joy, made her appearance at St. Margaret's Hospital, Dorchester, shortly before 7 A.M., carefully surveyed the post-St. Patrick's Day world and gave way to a full-lunged cheer for the New Boston.

Dr. Conlin is head of Boston City Hospital. Mrs. Conlin is the former Genevieve Joy. She is a graduate of the Boston City Hospital School of Nursing and former resident of Dorchester. The proud parents are residents of 2 York road, Winchester.

The patient was Mrs. Miriam English, 27, of Charlestown. The serial number on the card for the records was 1,800,000. That sounds like a big, round figure. It was. It meant that since its opening on June 1, 1864, the hospital was receiving its 1,800,000th inpatient.

That is a total unsurpassed by any other hospital in New England and probably surpassed by few other major hospitals anywhere.

On the floor as she was brought in for observation was Dr. M. Winthrop O'Connell, chief executive physician for admissions, with 40 years of service behind him. He grasped Mrs. English's hand as her admission was quickly processed.

"You know," he told her "I admitted the one millionth patient some years back (it was October 3, 1940) and she also came from Charlestown."

Pergola Photo

MILESTONE MARKER Dr. M. Winthrop O'Connell at City Hospital, who as chief admitting physician received the hospital's 1,000,000th patient 22 years ago, extends reassurance to Mrs. Miriam English, as she became the 1,800,000th inpatient.

NO. 1,800,000—That's the number of the admission card issued for Mrs. Miriam English (left) at City Hospital where no patient is ever permitted to be a mere number. Nurses are Sylvia Patalano, center, and Florence Verry.

Dr. James J. Meehan

Dr. James J. Meehan, member of the staff of the Boston City Hospital and widely known obstetrician and gynecologist, died unexpectedly at his home 31 Pillon road, Milton, March 22. He was 62.

He was a graduate of Boston College and Harvard Medical School and was an instructor in obstetrics at Tufts Medical School.

Funeral services were held March 27 when a Solemn Requiem Mass was sung at St. Agatha's Church, Milton.

Boston Hailed . . .

Among the community groups singled out by the award judges for recognition were the South End Planning Council, Roxbury Community Council, Dorchester United Neighborhood Association, Action for Boston Community Development, Committee on Civic Progress, North Station Area Merchants, Committee for the Central Business District, and many others.

The neighborhood action groups were cited for their efforts, in cooperation with city officials, toward initiating Boston's $120 million urban renewal program. In line with this was the success of the Action for Boston Community Development in winning a $1.9 million Ford Foundation grant to coordinate social planning with urban renewal.

The award comes even as preparations are made for the rise of steel in the old Scollay Square area . . . even as the still "un-kinned" Prudential Tower has become accepted as one of Boston's great landmarks for the decades ahead.

In the final presentation of Boston's case for top honors Mayor Collins headed a delegation of Boston businessmen, city officials, and civic and religious leaders to Washington in November.

Dr. George H. Gallup, director of the Institute of Public Opinion, headed the jury which selected the winners. Representatives from the Chamber of Commerce, League of Women Voters, Look, and other civic groups were also on the jury.

The Boston group presented the story of the city's accomplishments and progress in its rebirth through citizen participation.

The Boston story was put before the jury by Mayor Collins, Muriel Snowden, director of the city's famed Freedom House, and Carl Gilbert, chairman of the board of the Gillette Company.

The Mayor's steering committee, which documented Boston's "Parade of Progress," included James M. Connolly, vice president of the John Donnelly Company; Walter Knight, general chairman of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce; Sidney Gross, marketing research director of the Donnelly Company, and Don DeHart, staff assistant of the Gillette Company.

Others were Rev. W. Seavey Joyce, S.J., of Boston College; Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor; Frank Christian, vice president of the New England Merchants Bank; Joseph Turley of Gillette; Thomas Moccia, William Chouinard, and Frank Landry of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce; Edward A. Logue, John P. McMorrow, Mark Breen, and Elmer Foster, all of the Boston Redevelopment Authority, and Salvatore A. Messina, director of the Office of Neighborhood Improvement.

Mayor Hails Allston Air Rights Location for NASA

The proposal that the $50 million NASA electronics center be built over the Allston-Brighton interchange of the toll road extension has made the Air Rights Bill now before the Legislature the most important piece of legislation of this decade in the opinion of Mayor Collins.

Chairman William F. Callahan of the Turnpike Authority, after a long series of talks with James E. Webb, head of the NASA, made public the spectacular proposal. The site would place the center within walking distance of Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Boston University.

Here is Mayor Collins' comment on the proposal:

"I have been in frequent contact with Fred Smith who has been given the responsibility to resolve the precise location of the NASA research facility.

"Every unbiased American recognizes that its location in the Boston area is the only sensible decision.

"We are the center of the greatest science-oriented educational area in the world. Our scientists, technicians, and skilled employees exceed in numbers and training those of any other metropolitan area.

"The area referred to—the Brighton railroad yards—about 150 acres—perfect—its proximity to M.I.T. and other universities and schools makes it a superlative choice.

"The Air Rights Bill which I filed now becomes the most important piece of legislation in this decade.

"The multibillion dollar potential in the increase of productivity and the increase of satellite business will make Boston once again the Hub of the Science Universe—All-American City—and the Research Center of the Free World."

First Honor Medal Property of Library

On March 25, 1776, the Continental Congress awarded the first Medal ever given in the United States to George Washington in recognition of his role in bringing about the evacuation of Boston by British forces on the previous March 17. Carefully the Congress avoided establishing a precedent in honoring a mere citizen. It made it clear that the Medal was for both Washington and the historic event with which he was identified.

Today the Medal is one of the most prized possessions of the Boston Public Library.

Court Action Pressed For Cleanup Failure

The owner of property on Leyland street, Roxbury, was fined $960 in Roxbury District Court by Judge Elwood McKenney for failure to clean up rubbish. Alexander J. Thomson of the Health Department testified the landlord had been ordered to clean up rubbish scattered about the property grounds on December 9.

Huge Street Surfacing Task Launched Soon

One of the most extensive road-surfacing programs in the city's history will get under way shortly, following recent authorization from Mayor Collins for the spending of $6.6 million project. The task which calls for resurfacing in whole or in part for some 300 streets in every section of the city will be launched with a favorable break from the weather.

More than 71 miles of the city's streets will get attention.

While awaiting the issuance of bids and a smile from the weatherman, Public Works Commissioner James W. Haley will have his own crews out right away to meet the problem of the worst potholes left as an unwanted legacy by the departing winter.

Actually the gigantic road resurfacing task will be only part of the DPW's major tasks in the weeks and months ahead. New streets will be required for the Government Center, in the West End, and at the Whitney Street project in Roxbury. There has been no exact estimate of the cost of these new streets but part of the expense will be met by the city and state.

Mystic Traffic Load Down, Tunnels Go Up

While traffic over the Mystic River Bridge in 1962 was showing a slight drop from 1961 the city's combined underwater vehicular links, the Sumner and Callahan Tunnels recorded a sharp increase.

The bridge carried 22,015,525 vehicles in 1962 compared to 22,277,977 in 1961, a drop of 1.18 per cent. The Callahan Tunnel was opened in 1961. The older Sumner Tunnel was closed for an extended period for remodeling and repairs.

Despite fare increases and service slashes the 1962 deficit of the MTA will be $16,405,107 a reduction of only $3,736,736 below 1961. The City of Boston, acting by the Superintendent of Construction of the Department of School Buildings, Boston, Mass., hereinafter referred to as the Awarding Authority, invites sealed general bids for sealing exterior masonry walls, to minimize their absorption and increase their repellency of water, at the Roger Clap School, 35 Harvest street, Dorchester, Mass.

General bids must be submitted in duplicate on the form for general bid obtained from the Awarding Authority. Each copy of the general bid shall be completely filled in, signed, enclosed in an envelope, sealed, and plainly marked with the description of the work to be done. One copy of the general bid shall be filed with the Awarding Authority, at the office designated above, accompanied by a bid deposit in the form of cash or a certified check on, or a treasurer's or cashier's check issued by, a responsible bank or trust company, payable to the City of Boston, in the sum of $350. The other copy of the general bid shall be filed at the office of the City Auditor, City Hall, Boston, Mass. Both copies shall be filed before the time stated above for the opening of general bids.

The rate per hour of the wages to be paid to mechanics, teamsters, chauffeurs, and laborers in the work to be performed shall not be less than the rate of wages determined for this work by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts under the provisions of General Laws (Ter. Ed.), chapter 149, sections 26-27D, inclusive, as amended, a schedule of which rates appears in the specifications.

The successful general bidder will be required to provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Law, General Laws (Ter. Ed.), chapter 152, to all persons to be employed under the contract, and sufficient proof of compliance with the foregoing stipulation will be required before commencing performance of the contract.

The general bids will be deemed to relate to that signed set of plans and specifications for the project on file at the office of the Superintendent of Construction of the Department of School Buildings designated above and bidders will act at their own risk if any variance exists between the aforesaid plans and specifications and the plans and specifications furnished to the bidder by the Awarding Authority. In short, each bidder has the burden of checking to make certain that the plans and specifications furnished to the bidder is a true and complete copy of the plans and specifications on file as aforesaid.

Plans and specifications and other documents may be obtained at the office of the Awarding Authority.

A performance bond and also a labor and materials or payment bond, each of a surety company qualified to do business under the laws of the Commonwealth and satisfactory to the Awarding Authority and each in the sum of 100 per cent of the contract price, will be required of the successful general bidder.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to waive any informalities and to reject any or all general bids if it be in the public interest so to do, in accordance with section 44D, chapter 149, of the General Laws, as amended.

CITY OF BOSTON

Proceedings of City Council

Monday, March 11, 1963.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., President HINES in the chair. Absent, Councillor Coffey and Councillor Foley.

The Reverend John E. Barclay, President of Boston Council of Churches, and Minister of the Morgan Memorial Church of All Nations, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY REVEREND JOHN E. BARCLAY.

Almighty God, with the coming of spring, we acknowledge how swiftly the varying seasons indicate to us that Thou dost remain eternal even though the things of this world change.

As we pray for this session of the City Council, we are reminded, first of all, these are men, servants of the people but first of all men, and they are pulled in many different directions. There are pressures that come upon them, and there is all too little time to remember that Thou art the One after whom our lives are to be patterned.

So we pray for a quietness in them so that they may sense they have the souls which they must build upon, and they have tasks which are greater than they themselves are able to perform, and that they need Thee.

As members of this City Council, we pray that they may function as Thy servants working for that which is pleasing in Thy sight; that they may choose right before expediency and principle above reputation; that this city may continue to grow, remembering in the words of the scripture that there is a city whose builder and maker is God.

This city has been graced with great men, but they were ordinary men who captured a vision, and this is what made them great. May the mantle of those men fall upon them as Thy will is carried out.

In Jesus name we pray for His sake. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

AMEND LAW ON EMINENT DOMAIN TAKINGS RE URBAN RENEWAL AREAS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 11, 1963.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Corporation Counsel concerning your resolution of January 28, 1963, with respect to "amending the Massachusetts Law of eminent domain with respect to takings in Urban Renewal Project Areas."

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, March 8, 1963.
Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.
Dear Mr. Mayor:

In accordance with your request, dated January 30, 1963, that I consider and report to you on the matters contained in the resolution of the City Council adopted on January 28, 1963, with respect to "amending the Massachusetts Law of eminent domain with respect to takings in Urban Renewal Project Areas so as to provide

1. That the fair value of property taken be established as of the date when the City Council votes authorization for the preparation of plans and surveys rather than the date of the filing of the eminent domain taking.

2. That upon the taking, a percentage of the assessed value of the property be immediately paid the owner thereof without any prejudice to him to further pursue his rights . . ."

I submit the following opinion in triplicate.

From a study of our Massachusetts constitution (Article 10 of the Massachusetts Declaration of Rights that whenever property is appropriated to public uses, a reasonable compensation shall be received therefor) and the provisions of our General Laws dealing with eminent domain and the cases decided by our Supreme Judicial Court under such provisions and the provisions of particular acts of the Legislature authorizing the exercise of the power of eminent domain, I am of the opinion that legislation embodying the subject matter of the first amendment proposed in the City Council's resolution would be legal and could properly be enacted into law.

I think it necessary in support of this position to cite only two Massachusetts decisions, namely, Connor v. Metropolitan District Water Supply Commission, 314 Mass. 33, and United States Gypsum Co. v. Mystic River Bridge Authority, 329 Mass. 130.

In the Connor case, which involved chapter 321 of the Acts of 1927 that supplemented chapter 375 of the Acts of 1926, the Legislature authorized the diversion of certain waters into the Wachusett Reservoir and the taking of certain lands. An owner of land, on which he had an established business, filed a complaint after part of his land was taken claiming that it had been determined to take his land as early as October 1, 1926, but that it was not actually taken until March 24, 1938, during which interval the value of his land and business decreased, and contending that he should have damages for such loss of value. The court observed that by the above statutes the takings were made to conform generally to G. L., c. 79, s. 12, under which damages are fixed for land taken at its value before the taking. The court went on to say that the words "before the taking" mean before the beginning of the public work which necessitates the taking and that it appeared from the specific provisions, respecting compensation in the special act (St. 1927, c. 321) covering the takings made thereunder, the Legislature intended there be compensation for the decrease in value between 1926 and 1938.

In my opinion, this case indicates that there is no legal barrier which prevents the Legislature from providing for an award of damages for a decrease in value of land in an interval preceding the time of the actual taking thereof.

Moreover, in the United States Gypsum Co. case the court at page 137 says—

"The Legislature, however, is not limited in providing compensation to damages which the landowner is entitled to receive as a matter of constitutional right but may extend compensation to instances where an exercise of eminent domain would result in a real hardship to one whose property has been damaged or injured if he were deprived of compensation."

This latter case seems to lend further support to the opinion I have expressed above.

With respect to the subject matter of the second amendment set forth in the City Council's resolution, I also feel that a provision that a percentage of the assessed value of the property be immediately paid the owner when his land is taken would be legally unobjectionable.

However, in this connection, I wish to direct attention to section 8A of chapter 79 of our General Laws covering pro tanto payments in eminent domain cases. Generally, under this statutory provision, a taking authority, if so requested, must offer a person entitled to damages on account of a taking such reasonable amount as it is willing to pay either in full settlement or as a payment pro tanto. Of course, such offer of payment is not of a fixed percentage of the assessed value but is required to be a reasonable amount.

In conclusion, I also feel I should direct attention to House No. 1689, a bill which is now pending in the Legislature and which embodies the principle of allowing recovery of damages in eminent domain cases where the value has decreased prior to the actual taking because of the announcement or publication thereof in advance. I am enclosing a copy of this bill and am submitting this opinion well in advance of the time requested in the resolution of the City Council so that the progress of the legislation contained in the bill may be followed in the General Court if so desired.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR G. COFFEY,
Corporation Counsel.

Roxbury Moderate-Income Project Gets Start in July

Academy Homes To Be Union-Sponsored

July will be the starting date for construction of the $3 million 202-unit moderate-income private housing development under urban renewal, it was announced by Mayor Collins and the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

The development will be on the so-called Notre Dame Academy site off Columbus avenue and Dimock street. It will be sponsored as a non-profit venture by Local 254 of the Building Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO.

When built, the development would be managed by the First Realty Company for the union.

Rent schedules were listed as: one bedroom, $75; two bedrooms, $85; three bedrooms, $95, and four bedrooms, $105, including heat.

The Building's International Union in Chicago is sponsor of the twin-tower "Marina City" apartment project. The union's "Academy Homes" would be the largest low-to-medium rent project in New England.

On hand for the announcement were officers of the union. Edward Silva, president; Helen Donovan, recording secretary; Harry Sutherland, vice president; Max Kargman, president, and Walter Winchester, vice president, represented the First Realty. Stephen McCloskey, vice chairman of the BRA represented his board.

"This program makes urban renewal a living, vital thing," said Edward T. Sullivan, business agent for the union.

"No family will be dislocated, no one will be bulldozed out of the way."

"This is the kind of housing that all of us have wanted to see for a long time," said Mayor Collins as he lauded the pioneering effort of the union. The type of development, said the Mayor, "is necessary to give urban renewal a vitality."

Funds to build the housing would come from the union's general fund, said Sullivan. The developer-builder for the union will be the First Realty Company, which is developing the 25-story White Fund apartment building on Tremont street and is active in the moderate-income low-mortgage interest housing programs being encouraged by the Urban Renewal Administration in Washington.

The architect will be Carl Koch of Cambridge who will draw up specific plans from prototype housing he has devised under contract with the Boston Redevelopment Authority. This housing stresses the use of concrete slab construction.

Planned are two to four-story buildings on the landscaped seven-acre plot. One hundred per cent parking will be provided. The city will net about $36,000 a year in taxes on the site which now pays no taxes.

'CROSS THE COMMON—This fine, modern structure, which will include apartments, offices, shopping facilities, and self-contained garaging space will get under way soon on and near the site of the old White Fund Building opposite historic Boston Common. Features will include a 25-floor rooftop restaurant and a heated swimming pool. Architects' sketch is from the revised New Boston published by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce and Advertising Club of Boston.

MTA (Los Angeles) Scraps Streetcars

Los Angeles bid a nonlachrymose farewell to its streetcars the other day. When the last car came into its barn 10 minutes late the city made ready to scrap its whole fleet. The L. A. MTA (they have one out there, too) is converting to busses.

The abandonment of the one proud successor to the horsecar, by the California city leaves only Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, St. Louis, El Paso, San Francisco, and Pittsburgh with "electrics."

Los Angeles is willing to sell its discarded fleet outside the U. S. but only potential customers appear to be in Korea and Mexico.

2,000 To Be Working At Prudential By July

Succeeding weeks from now on will see a steady growth of the employment of the various crafts as the Prudential Center moves toward completion. Last week about 700 represented the total work force. That figure will rise to a peak of around 2,000 when the interior work reaches its full force in July.

Presently an elevator reaching to the 42d floor of the 52-story structure has been installed and the framework for escalators serving the subbasement, parking area, the lobby and the mezzanine are in place.

Despite the subfreezing temperatures prevailing through most of the winter 900 piles have been driven 150 feet for the Hotel America project. It is a very good possibility that steel for the hotel will begin rising some time during the latter part of this month.

Police, Firemen, and City Hospital Praised in Sherry Biltmore Fire

Boston news media—press, radio, and TV—were unanimous in their praise for the Police and Fire Departments and for Boston City Hospital for the work of all three major emergency units in the fire which exacted four lives at Sherry Biltmore Hotel, March 29.

From the time the first alarm was sounded by an alert police officer at 4 A.M., until every inch of the ruins had been examined for possible victims after daybreak, the showing of the city's protective arms and the hospital won praise.

General comment later in the day ran along one line—how did they limit the death toll to four in such a fire?

The Police Department officers first on the scene realized the potential of the fire at a single glance. "Send all help possible," they pleaded. Help came—from the Back Bay and North End divisions—with speed.

The fire officials first to arrive quickly assayed the situation accurately. The quick succession of alarms attested to that—4 A.M., 4.04, 4.05, 4.11, and 4.13.

Prime requisite if a large number of guests of the hotel were not to perish was to get ladders up to the upper three floors quickly. They did. The ladders meant life. In the very early stages of the fire police helped tremendously in the evacuation of the hotel by pounding on doors and awakening sleepers until their knuckles were raw.

Twenty-four ambulances were at the scene or on trips to and from the scene during the early minutes. City Hospital—where work in the Cocoanut Grove disaster attracted international attention in November, 1942,—once again rose superbly to the occasion.

Swift, intelligent communication plus trained police officers, trained fire fighters and trained hospital staff workers prevented a heavy toll of life on those early morning hours.

For Boston's Police Department that morning, that whole day, for its Fire Department and its City Hospital there was nothing but the highest praise.

Everyone knew a very possible holocaust was prevented on the morning of March 29 when most of the city was sleeping.

Fire Chief John Martin and Fire Commissioner Thomas Griffin were both at the scene from the start and Fire Chief Martin paid a double tribute, spreading praise among the police as well as his own men.

"Both did tremendously good work on this fire," he said. "About eight or nine officers went right into the hotel at the height of the fire, along with my men, and worked through the hallways getting the people out."

MTA Cuts Park Fees At 8 Key Stations

Effective April 1 the use of 2,000 parking spaces controlled at key stations by the MTA was cut from the prevailing 25-cent charge to 10 cents. The key stations where the new 10-cent charge will prevail will be at the lots in Wood Island Park, Orient Heights, Butler Street, Suffolk Downs, Beachmont, Riverside, Woodland, and Brookline Village. The reduction is one of seven experiments planned for the MTA by the Massachusetts Transportation Commission in an effort to bolster lagging MTA patronage.

Plates Factors For Spring Sticker Tests

Spring auto inspection got under way April 1 and closes May 15 for each motor vehicle or trailer registered in the state. To receive this year's official green windshield sticker, each vehicle must be checked for the efficiency of its brakes, lights, horn, steering gear, and other equipment.

The paint failures on a large percentage of license plates will be a factor this year. Every car must carry two plates in order to qualify. The more legible must be on the rear.

Eger, director of the Boston University-Boston City Hospital Guidance Center, were featured speakers at the Ford Hall Forum, March 31, in a discussion on "The Uses and Abuses of Psychiatry." Both deplored a growing trend which, they said, reflects considerable misuse of the psychiatric findings, techniques, and medications by both the public and medical physicians.

Parking Ban Extended By Sands of Winter

All night parking regulations which were due to expire March 31 have been extended to May 1, Traffic and Parking Commissioner Thomas F. Carty announced. Parking will be allowed only on even-numbered sides of streets unless otherwise prohibited. Reason? Sand. The icy winter obliged the application of many thousands of tons of sand and the cleanup task is not going to be easy.

The Boston Health Department reports that 45,357 adults participated in the Type II Sabin oral polio program sponsored by the city. The figure, it is pointed out, does not include several thousand others who received the sips from 12 hospital clinics through out-patient departments.

The number participating was slightly higher than the participation that was evidenced during the needle programs.

The annual task of filling up winter-bred potholes on Boston streets got under way early this week. Sidewalks are also included in the program. Jack Frost and King Winter may have refused to use some of their record-breaking snowstorms through the long stretch but steady freezing conditions, week after week, left plenty of evidence of the kind of punishment they handed out.

WELFARE COSTS FOR FEBRUARY

Following is a summary of the Welfare Department for February:

During February, $3,844,342 was spent aiding 28,633 public assistance cases under the five categories administered by the department. Of this amount almost two out of every three dollars (62.4%) went directly to recipients in check payments, with the balance paid to vendors for medical and other services on behalf of clients. Assistance requests for the month numbered 1,706 of which 1,338 were approved and the remainder rejected or withdrawn. There were 1,305 cases closed resulting in a net increase of 83 cases. From a categorical view, Medical Assistance for the Aged, Aid to Dependent Children and Disability Assistance showed increases while Old Age Assistance and General Relief showed decreases.

Old Age Assistance: The downward trend in this category continued with a decrease of 64 brought about by the approval of 148 applications and the closing of 212 cases. Over $1 million was spent aiding 12,158 aged persons at an average cost of $89.33 for the month.

Medical Assistance for the Aged: Almost all of the $860,631 expended in this category paid for the medical needs of recipients. Although 5,607 persons were certified as being eligible for assistance under this program, only 4,219 actually incurred medical bills during the month. Of the 422 applications processed, 312 were approved and 110 either rejected or withdrawn. Taking into account the 241 cases closed, the caseload rose 71 cases.

Aid to Dependent Children: With 404 requests approved and 342 cases closed, the case count increased by 64 families. Loss of employment through discharge or illness was the reason cited in 4 out of every 10 situations. During the month, 7,106 families received $1,283,034 for an average grant of $180.52 per case during February. Although the number of cases were less than Old Age Assistance, there were 24,558 individuals serviced.

Disability Assistance: Just over half of the $455,842 spent on this program covered medical needs for 3,169 recipients. With 152 applications approved, 69 rejected or withdrawn, and 124 cases closed, the caseload showed an increase of 28 cases. Failure to meet the medical requirements prescribed by the State Medical Review Board accounted for more than 60 per cent of the applications rejected.

General Relief: The procurement of employment for 139 persons appeared to have checked the seasonal rise noted in this category last month. With 385 closings and 372 openings, the caseload stood at 1,982 as of the end of the month. It should be noted, however, that 72 closings represented transfers to one of the federal subsidized categories noted above. During the month, the expenditures amounted to $152,297 for an average of $74.04 per case.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the award of contracts, without advertising, based on the following communications:

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT.

Purchasing Division.

WHEATLIGHT PARTS.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This office is in receipt of requisitions from the Fire Department for Wheatlight parts as manufactured by the Koehler Manufacturing Company. This company has submitted an informal written quotation.

Inasmuch as Koehler Manufacturing Company is not only the manufacturer of the equipment requested but is also the only source of supply, no advantage would be gained by publicly advertising for prices. Authority is therefore requested to dispense with publicly advertising for prices and award a contract, without public advertising, to Koehler Manufacturing Company. By awarding the contract in this manner, it is my opinion that the best interests of the city will be served.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $5,957.75, less 1 per cent discount for payment within ten days.

Respectfully yours,

MICHAEL A. DESIMONE, Purchasing Agent.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS. CONSTRUCTION OF ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your Honor's approval of my selection of Thomas F. McDonough, 140 Boylston street, Boston, Mass., as architect for the construction of an elementary school in the Paul A. Dever District, Dorchester, Mass.

As there is an accepted standard rate for professional architectural services established by the Massachusetts Association of Architects, it is requested that public advertising be dispensed with as nothing would be gained thereby.

The estimated construction cost of the project is two million thirty-nine thousand dollars. Under the above schedule the architect's compensation will be 6.8 per cent of the actual construction cost.

Respectfully yours,

W. A. MCPHERSON,
Superintendent of Construction.

LIBRARY DEPARTMENT STORAGE OF BOOKS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Trustees of the Public Library respectfully request that you approve the signing of an agreement with the New England Deposit Library for the storage of books and other library materials for the period April 1, 1963, through March 31, 1964.

The New England Deposit Library building is located at 135 Western avenue, Allston. The institution was created by action of the General Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts under terms of chapter 240 of the Statutes of 1941. The act names the Boston Public Library as a "Participating Institution" together with the Massachusetts State Library, the Boston Athenaeum, Boston College, Boston University, Simmons College, the Massachusetts Historical Society, and other libraries, for the purpose of providing storage space for books and other library materials for which there is only occasional use and for which storage space is not available in intensively used library buildings. The "Participating Institutions" share cooperatively in the low-cost housing arrangements provided by the New England Deposit Library in accordance with a schedule of rates standard for all "Participating Institutions."

The Trustees have set a limit of $9,145.50 on the amount to be expended for storage space for the period of the agreement. The Trustees have therefore "Voted, That there be entered into with the New England Deposit Library, 135 Western avenue, Allston, an agreement for the rental during the period April 1, 1963, through March 31, 1964, of storage space therein for books and other library materials belonging to the Boston Public Library, in accordance with the rates for storage space formally adopted by the governing board of said New England Deposit Library."

Inasmuch as the total cost of the storage space will exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000), there is respectfully requested permission of your Honor to enter into this agreement without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE
CITY OF BOSTON,
By MILTON E. LORD, Director.

RENTAL OF PREMISES, 275 WASHINGTON STREET, DORCHESTER

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Trustees respectfully request that you approve the signing of a lease, without public advertising, with Toffe G. Kando for the rental of the premises located at 275 Washington street, Dorchester. These premises have served as quarters for the Mt. Bowdoin Branch Library since 1929. The lease will be for the period April 1, 1963, through March 31, 1964. There will be no change in the rate of rent, which will be in the sum of three thousand six hundred dollars ($3,600). It is not possible to obtain competitive bidding by public advertising for this purpose.

Inasmuch as the total rental will exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000), there is respectfully requested permission of your Honor to enter into this lease without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE
CITY OF BOSTON,
By MILTON E. LORD, Director.

FURNISHING GUARD AND PATROL SERVICE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Trustees of the Public Library respectfully request the approval of your Honor for the award of a contract, without public advertising, to D. C. Sullivan & Co., Inc., 6 Beacon street, Boston, Mass., for the furnishing of guard and patrol service at the Central Library building for the period April 1, 1963, through March 31, 1964. The rates to be charged will be the same as for last year, and the cost of this service for the period of the contract will be kept to a sum not to exceed an upper limit of $30,000.

It is the opinion of the Trustees that the nature of this work is such as not to lend itself to public bidding. D. C. Sullivan & Co., Inc., was selected a year ago after a thorough examination of five companies in the guard and patrol protection business. At the present time this company is providing the required guard and patrol protection service in the Central Library building and is doing so most satisfactorily. The Trustees have therefore:

"Voted, That Milton E. Lord, Director and Librarian of the Public Library of the City of Boston, be, and hereby is, directed to request the permission of the Mayor to award to D. C. Sullivan & Co., Inc., 6 Beacon street, Boston, Mass., the contract without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement in the City Record for furnishing guard and patrol protection at the Central Library building in Copley square, Boston, for the period April 1, 1963, through March 31, 1964, at an hourly rate of one dollar eighty-five cents ($1.85) for each hour in each day, including Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays in all months in which D. C. Sullivan & Co., Inc., does furnish protection as aforesaid, the total amount which may be paid under this contract not to exceed the sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000), the reason for the award as aforesaid being that the services are of a professional nature and do not lend themselves to such advertisement; and

"Voted, That Milton E. Lord, Director of the Public Library of the City of Boston, be, and hereby is, directed in the name and behalf of the Trustees of the Public Library of the City of Boston to execute said contract in quadruplicate."

Inasmuch as the total cost for this service will exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000) there is requested permission of your Honor to enter into this contract without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

RENTAL OF PREMISES, 161 HARVARD AVENUE, ALLSTON

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Trustees of the Public Library respectfully request that you approve the signing of a lease, without public advertising, with Joseph B. Gordon for the rental of premises located at 161 Harvard avenue, Allston. These premises have served as quarters for the Allston Branch Library since 1939. The lease will be for the period April 1, 1963, through March 31, 1964. There will be no change in the rate of rent, which will be in the sum of four thousand dollars ($4,000). It is not possible to obtain competitive bidding by public advertising for this purpose.

Inasmuch as the total rental will exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000), there is respectfully requested permission of your Honor to enter into this lease without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE
CITY OF BOSTON,
By MILTON E. LORD, Director.

RENTAL OF PREMISES, 18 BARNES AVENUE, EAST BOSTON

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Trustees of the Public Library respectfully request that you approve the signing of a lease, without public advertising, with the Woodside Realty Corporation for the rental of the premises located at 18 Barnes avenue, East Boston. These premises have served as quarters for the Orient Heights Branch Library since 1929. The lease will be for the period April 1, 1963, through March 31, 1964. There will be no change in the basic rate of rent. The rental will be four thousand dollars ($4,000) plus "additional rent" of eight hundred sixty dollars ($860). It is not possible to obtain competitive bidding by public advertising for this purpose.

For the purpose of this lease the "additional rent" referred to is defined as that sum of money by which the real estate taxes on the premises assessed for the year 1963 exceeds the 1949 real estate tax. It is further agreed that until such time as the real estate tax rate for the year 1963 is finally determined, the sum of eight hundred sixty dollars ($860) shall represent the "additional rent." Further, if the 1963 real estate tax as finally determined should be less than the 1949 real estate tax, no "additional rent" shall be payable and the lessor covenants and agrees to pay the lessee the difference.

Inasmuch as the total rental will exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000), there is respectfully requested permission of your Honor to enter into this lease without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE
CITY OF BOSTON,
By MILTON E. LORD, Director.

PLASTIC BOOK JACKETS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Trustees of the Public Library respectfully request the approval of your Honor for the award of a contract, without public advertising, to Bro-Dart Industries, 56 Earl street, Newark 2, New Jersey, for supplying plastic book jackets for the period April 1, 1963, through December 31, 1963.

Since the Bro-Dart "Foldon" plastic book jacket with its patented feature not licensed for use by any other firm has been found superior to all others for the library's purposes, no useful end would be served in advertising for bids. The Trustees have therefore "Voted, That there be entered into with Bro-Dart Industries, 56 Earl street, Newark 2, New Jersey, a contract for supplying plastic book jackets for the period April 1, 1963, through December 31, 1963, at a cost not to exceed four thousand two hundred and fifty dollars ($4,250)."

Inasmuch as the total cost for the book jackets will exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000), there is respectfully requested permission of your Honor to enter into this contract without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE
CITY OF BOSTON,
By MILTON E. LORD, Director.

FURNISHING INSPECTION SERVICE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Trustees of the Public Library respectfully request that you approve the signing of a service agreement, without public advertising, with the American District Telegraph Company, 60 State street, Boston, for the period April 1, 1963, through March 31, 1964, for furnishing inspection service for the combination-recording and fire alarm system in the Central Library building. In 1951 the equipment for the system was installed by the General Alarm Corporation. On September 1, 1955, the assets and service obligations of the General Alarm Corporation were taken over by the American District Telegraph Company. Inasmuch as the servicing of this equipment can be obtained only from the American District Telegraph Company, the Trustees have therefore stated, "That there be entered into with the American District Telegraph Company, 60 State street, Boston, a service agreement for the period April 1, 1963, through March 31, 1964, for furnishing of inspection service for the combination watchman-recording and fire alarm system in the Central Library building, the total fee for such services not to exceed one thousand four hundred and ninety-two dollars and five cents ($1,492.05)."

Although a written contract for this service is not necessary inasmuch as the total cost will be under two thousand dollars ($2,000), it is believed desirable in this case to have a written contract because of the nature of the work involved.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE
CITY OF BOSTON,
By MILTON E. LORD, Director.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT DISPOSAL OF REFUSE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On February 10, 1961, your Honor approved our entering into an agreement with the M. DeMatteo Construction Company for the use of their land located on the Salem Turnpike in Saugus for the disposal of all the refuse from the East Boston District for a one-year period from April 1, 1961, to March 31, 1962, the DeMatteo Construction Company to operate the dump and to be paid $2,000 per month, the total cost not to exceed $24,000. The agreement contained an option whereby if the city so elects it can renew the contract for a second year and also for a third year upon the same terms and conditions.

Subsequently, on May 26, 1961, your Honor approved our entering into an agreement with the M. DeMatteo Construction Company to provide for the disposal of refuse from two additional districts at their Saugus dump at any time within the period from April 1, 1961, to March 31, 1962, for the amount of $250 per week for the Charlestown District, and $500 per week for the Boston-Downtown District, the total cost not to exceed $9,750. This agreement also contained an option whereby if the city so elects it can renew the contract for a second year and also for a third year upon the same terms and conditions.

There would be no advantage in publicly advertising for proposals for a dumping site as the M. DeMatteo Construction Company owns and operates the only dump having adequate capacity within a reasonable distance of East Boston.

Therefore, I respectfully request your authorization to dispense with public advertising, and enter into a lease agreement with the M. DeMatteo Construction Company for the use of land owned by said company and located adjacent to the Salem Turnpike in Saugus and licensed by said town. The agreement shall provide that all the refuse (including street sweepings) from the East Boston District may be deposited on said land for a one-year period from April 1, 1963, to March 31, 1964, and that the M. DeMatteo Construction Company shall operate the dump, as specified in the agreement, for the amount of $2,000 per month. The agreement shall also provide that all the refuse (including street sweepings) from the Charlestown

District and from the Boston-Downtown District may be deposited on said land any time within a one-year period from April 1, 1963, to March 31, 1964, and that the M. DeMatteo Construction Company shall operate the dump, as specified under the agreement, for the amount of $250 per week for the Charlestown District and for the amount of $500 per week for the Boston District. The total cost shall not exceed $33,750.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES W. HALEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

REMOVAL OF GARBAGE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Our existing contracts for the removal of garbage at Victory road, Dorchester, and at Gardner street, West Roxbury, due to expire March 31, 1963, both contain an option clause, if the city so elects, for a second-and-a-third-year renewal.

Since 1954, it has become increasingly difficult to contract for hog raisers to dispose of garbage, principally due to the increase in costs of handling, caused by the enactment of legislation, requiring the cooking of garbage before feeding to hogs.

Prior to 1954, the city received $3,000 per month for garbage delivered to the hog farmers at Victory road. From 1954 to 1961, income progressively dropped to $417 per month, $385 per month, and in 1961, to $125 per month. The price paid to the city by the farmer at Gardner street for the period April 1, 1961, to March 31, 1962, was $208 per month. On February 10, 1962, we publicly advertised proposals for the purchase of garbage as delivered to Victory road and to Gardner street, and notified forty-two hog raisers of this advertisement, but received no bids. On February, 1962, we advertised for proposals for the removal of garbage from both stations. The three bids received were too high, and contracts were negotiated with the two low bidders to do the work for $250 per week at each station, which for a year's operation, represents a cost of $14,600 lower than the amounts bid. These negotiated contracts contain provisions for renewal at the city's option for a second-and-a-third-year at the same price.

The present contractors, Kristoff Brothers, at Victory road, and Kennedy Brothers, at Gardner street, both have provided excellent services under their contracts, and have proven reliable, which is a major factor in considering the award of garbage disposal contracts. I have investigated other means of disposing of the garbage, and find that the current contract is the best arrangement that can be made for the coming twelve-month period. Therefore, I respectfully request your authorization to dispense with public advertising and to enter into a contract with the Kristoff Brothers of Sterling Junction, Mass., for the removal of garbage at Victory road, Dorchester, for the period April 1, 1963, to March 31, 1964, for the sum of $250 per week; the total cost not to exceed $13,100, with provisions for a renewal contract, if the city so elects, for the period April 1, 1964, to March 31, 1965, at the same weekly price; and to dispense with public advertising and enter into a contract with Kennedy Brothers, Lincoln, Mass., for the removal of garbage at Gardner street, West Roxbury, for the period April 1, 1963, to March 31, 1964, for the sum of $250 per week; the total cost not to exceed $13,100, with provisions for a renewal contract, if the city so elects, for the period April 1, 1964, to March 31, 1965, at the same weekly price.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES W. HALEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

COLLECTION OF RUBBISH AND GARBAGE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On April 6, 1961, after public advertising, contracts were awarded for the collection of rubbish and garbage in various districts of the city for the period of April 1, 1961, to March 31, 1962. These contracts provided for renewal options under Article 17 for a second and third year subject to a price adjustment amounting to 75 per cent of any increase in labor cost.

A year ago you approved my recommendations for exercising the option clause and new contracts were awarded without public advertising for the period April 1, 1962 to March 31, 1963.

At that time our recommendation was based upon a wage proposal submitted to the contractors by Local 379, in which they reduced their original 25-cent per hour demand to 7 cents per hour, provided the same labor force continued on the work for the contractors then working. This year we are confronted with a similar situation. The Union contract calls for an 8-cent per hour increase if the jobs of the present labor force are protected by continuing the city contracts for a second year. Otherwise, the contract is terminated and the Union has proposed a new wage agreement including a 5-hour reduction in the workweek, a 53-cent per hour increase and 5 days additional sick leave per year. The total increase in labor costs on city contracts, if these demands were met, would amount to approximately $340,000 per year as compared to an estimated increase to the city of only $24,000 if the option is exercised. Of course, it is highly unlikely that all the Union's demands would be met by the contractors. However, it is reasonable to estimate that the new Union contract benefits would exceed in a substantial amount the 6-cent per hour cost to the city under the option and that it would be advantageous to renew the existing contracts.

Under the provisions of our existing contracts, renewal options may be executed only on the "same terms and conditions." The original contracts provided for an alternate dump at the Public Works Department disposal area at the Calf Pasture. Chapter 583 of 1962 caused the closing of this disposal area, and therefore, other arrangements for disposal must be negotiated between the city and the contractors. In resolving this problem new contracts have been prepared for all districts with revised specifications recognizing the closing of the Calf Pasture dump and also including a number of minor changes clarifying and improving the 1961 contract.

I therefore request your approval to dispense with public advertising and enter into contracts for collecting and removing garbage and refuse for the period April 1, 1963, to March 31, 1964, with the following listed contractors at the same weekly price as bid and being paid under the existing contracts, plus the city paying 75 per cent of the wage increases over the average wage rate per hour during the period April 1, 1961, to March 31, 1962, for each hour worked by each truck driver and helper employed by the contractors under these contracts, the total amount to be paid under each contract not to exceed the amounts listed below:

District 1A, Charlestown, Jeffries Disposal Corporation, 316 Marginal street, East Boston, $52,375.

District 1B, Boston-Downtown, James A. Freaney, Inc., 1 West street, Hyde Park, $172,953.

District 2, Jamaica Plain, Ryan, Coady Company, 453 Cummins Highway, Roslindale, $168,849.

District 3, Dorchester (North), Dooley Brothers, Inc., 39 George street, Roxbury, $299,282.

District 4, Brighton, J. F. Ryan, Inc., 11A Torrey street, Dorchester, $249,688.

District 5, South Boston, Joseph Amara & Sons, Inc., 706 Hyde Park avenue, Roslindale, $86,371.

District 6, West Roxbury, F. J. Cavaliere & Co., Inc., 213 Hanover street, Boston, $223,218.

District 7, Dorchester (South), Coleman Brothers Corporation, 85 Sprague street, Readville, $311,072.

District 8, Hyde Park, Howard Disposal Corporation, 1350 Columbus avenue, Boston, $104,051.

TRAFFIC AND PARKING DEPARTMENT

COUNT PARKING METER COLLECTIONS

DEAR SIR:

Late in 1958, the First National Bank of Boston was engaged to count the city parking meter collections which are made daily throughout the city by personnel from the Traffic and Parking Department. The collections as made are placed in locked containers and deposited each day at the bank, receipted for, counted, and then the bank sends the city a check each day in the amount of the prior day's total collection.

This arrangement has proven very satisfactory. It promotes efficiency, increases security, allowed us to cut personnel, and is otherwise financially advantageous to the City of Boston because hitherto some of our employees had to spend a number of hours each day counting the collections.

In 1960 this department asked for informal bids on this work and proposals were sent to the First National Bank of Boston, the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, and the Rockland-Atlas National Bank of Boston. The only company who returned the proposal was the First National Bank of Boston who offered to do the work for $294 per month. I feel that this banking institution's monthly charge is a fair one and that public advertising would not be of any avail to the city in the present case.

The First National Bank has agreed to continue the work at the same price as aforementioned and I therefore request your permission to award a contract to the First National Bank of Boston covering the daily counting by it of the city parking meter receipts during the period April 1, 1963, to March 31, 1964, at a monthly cost of $294 and without a public solicitation for proposals in the City Record for this service.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS F. CARTY,
Commissioner.

Personnel Order No. 88.

Patrolmen James M. Pitts and Joseph A. Conforti, District 6, are hereby commended for the performance of meritorious police duty and each granted three days' additional vacation.

About 6.05 P.M., Sunday, February 10, 1963, Patrolmen Pitts and Conforti, Sector 6-0 car, responded to a radio call to 58 Harvest street, South Boston, where on arrival, they were met by Miss Margaret Murphy, same address, who reported that sometime between 5 and 5.15 P.M., on February 10, her 1954 Oldsmobile sedan, Mass. Reg. 47-335, was stolen from in front of her home.

After taking the report the officers began to cruise the district on the lookout for this car. While in Andrew square they observed the car being operated on Dorchester avenue and immediately gave chase. After pursuing the car through various streets in the South Boston area, they forced it to the curb at Joyce-Hayes and Flaherty Ways. At the time there were six occupants in the car, three males and three females. The three males fled the scene, but were recognized by the officers.

Patrolmen Pitts and Conforti arrested at the scene for using a motor vehicle without authority three juvenile girls all residents of South Boston. After bringing the three girls to the station house, Patrolmen Pitts and Conforti began looking for the three males who had fled the scene. After a diligent search and questioning, the officers arrested Frederick Sampson, 18 years, of 322 Dorchester street, and Richard Augier, 17 years, same address, as suspicious persons, to wit: larceny of a motor vehicle. The third subject, a juvenile, also was taken into custody for using without authority.

Patrolmen Pitts and Conforti realizing a great number of Oldsmobile sedans had been stolen in South Boston in the preceding few weeks, began to interrogate, separately, the three male suspects with a view of solving other car thefts. After many hours of intensive questioning and working long after their tour of duty expired, Patrolmen Pitts and Conforti, after confronting each of the suspects with the other succeeded in securing admissions from all three youths that they had stolen nineteen (19) motor vehicles in South Boston, eight (8) vehicles in other police districts in Boston, and twenty-five (25) vehicles outside of Boston, for a total of fifty-two (52) car thefts.

Frederick Sampson and Richard Augier were arraigned in the South Boston District Court on nineteen charges of using without authority after suspension of license and both were held for the grand jury. The juvenile in the case was sent to the Youth Service Board for six months. The three juvenile girls were given six months suspended sentences to the Youth Service Board.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty and excellent investigative work performed in this case by the above-named officers which resulted in the clearance of fifty-two thefts of motor vehicles in this city and surrounding communities.

April 1.

Personnel Order No. 92.

Patrolman Haskell O. Kennedy of District 9 is hereby commended for the performance of outstanding police work and is granted three days' additional vacation.

In the early morning of Saturday, February 16, officers responding to a radio call, found an unidentified man lying on his back in the rear of a Warren street store about 50 feet from Waverly street on a downgrade with his feet toward Warren street. He had a large gash over his right eye and apparently was dead.

Later in the day the associate medical examiner stated that the man had died as the result of massive hemorrhages caused by a crushed pelvis probably due to the wheels of a vehicle passing over the pelvic area of his body.

After intensive investigation the deceased was identified, by his brother, as Edward F. Sullivan, of 28 Perrin street, Roxbury.

Upon learning of the incident Patrolman Haskell O. Kennedy, being familiar with the residents, the business people, and people who frequented the area where the body was found, asked the captain's permission to investigate the case on his off duty hours and days of relief. Because of the lack of substantial evidence permission was granted.

On Monday, February 18, Patrolman Kennedy, while on a day of relief, received information that the deceased had been struck by a gray Ford station wagon operated by a resident of Brockton. The Brockton Police Department was notified and one Antonio D. Silva, 20 years, of 34 Bay street, Brockton, was picked up for questioning by officers of District 9. The vehicle was impounded by the Brockton Police Department pending examination by officers of District 9 and the department chemist. Silva was returned to District 9 where statements were taken from him and he admitted he was the operator of the vehicle which struck Edward Sullivan. On February 19 in Roxbury Court Silva was charged with manslaughter, leaving the scene after knowingly causing bodily injury, and operating so as to endanger, and was held in $25,000 bail.

The brother of Edward Sullivan expressed admiration and satisfaction for the intelligent and speedy apprehension of the culprit because at the time of the incident the police had no tangible evidence upon which to proceed.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the avid interest in police work shown by Patrolman Kennedy in this case and his devotion to duty while on his own time and days of relief which brought about the speedy apprehension of a callous and inhuman person who had left his victim to die unnoticed and unattended. The department is justly proud of Patrolman Kennedy.

April 1.

Personnel Order No. 93.

Sergt. William P. MacDonald, Patrolmen Norman V. Noris, Edward J. Martin, and Matthew J. Cotugno of District 6 are hereby commended for the performance of outstanding police work and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

On Thursday, February 14, 1963, Sergeant MacDonald received information from the Brockton Police Department implicating one Thomas A. Childs, an escapee from the Plymouth House of Correction, with others in liquor store holdups in South Boston. As a result the above-named officers were granted permission to go to Brockton Police Headquarters where they arrested and returned to District 6, William J. Flaherty and William H. Cameron of Brockton who were booked on suspicion of the armed robbery of two liquor stores in South Boston.

As the result of questioning these men the officers received information that the building located at 116 West Broadway, South Boston, was being used as a hide-out by other members of the holdup gang. Donning bullet-proof vests the above-mentioned officers entered the building and arrested James A. Cran and Robert Shea of South Boston on suspicion of armed robbery of the liquor stores. In searching the building the officers found a .22 caliber revolver and a knife, which knife had been used in the commission of the holdups. Cran and Shea were brought to the station, booked and questioned.

Intensive questioning and investigation brought the officers to 28 West Seventh street, South Boston, where they arrested one Thomas E. Flaherty of South Boston as an accessory before the fact to armed robbery of the liquor stores. It was disclosed that he furnished the weapons used in the robberies. Further investigation disclosed that the escapee Thomas Childs was staying at 16 West Seventh street. The officers entered this apartment on February 14 and arrested him at gunpoint on suspicion of armed robbery of the liquor stores and for the holdup of a gas station in Dorchester.

The officers, working on their own time, questioned the suspects at great length, and as a result obtained admissions involving Childs, Cran, Cameron, and a defendant named Antonova in the robbery of one liquor store and William Flaherty in the robbery of the other liquor store.

The seven defendants were arraigned in South Boston Court on a total of thirteen complaints of armed robbery, seven complaints of conspiracy to commit armed robbery, one complaint of assault by means of a dangerous weapon, three complaints of accessory after the fact to armed robbery, and one complaint of accessory before the fact to armed robbery. After a hearing all defendants were held for the grand jury. Bail for Childs was set at $150,000 and for the others at $100,000.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the untiring efforts of these officers in effecting the arrests of these dangerous felons and the determined and persistent questioning which resulted in the solution of these armed robberies and the capture of an escapee long sought by every law enforcement agency in the Commonwealth.

A performance bond and also a labor and materials or payment bond, each of a surety company qualified to do business under the laws of the Commonwealth and satisfactory to the Awarding Authority and each in the sum of 100 per cent of the contract price, will be required of the successful general bidder.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to waive any informalities and to reject any or all general bids if it be in the public interest so to do. The Awarding Authority also reserves the right to reject any subbid on any subtrade if it determines that such subbid does not represent the subbid of a person competent to perform the work as specified or that less than three such subbids were received and that the prices are not reasonable for acceptance without further competition, in accordance with section 44D, chapter 149, of the General Laws, as amended.

Mayor Hails AFL-CIO's Sponsorship of 202-Unit Academy Housing Project

Boston's low-and middle-income housing program has been shifted into high gear by Mayor John F. Collins.

The long awaited action came with the Mayor's announcement that Local 254, Building Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO, will submit a proposal to be the nonprofit sponsor of a 202-dwelling unit complex on the Notre Dame site in the Washington Park Urban Renewal Area to be built under FHA Section 221 (d) (3).

The development will have apartments ranging from one to five bedrooms with kitchen, bathroom, living room, and dining room. Approximately 70 per cent of the apartments will have three or more bedrooms.

Rents, including heat, will be in the $75 to $105 class depending upon the number of bedrooms.

The developer-builder selected by the union will be the First Realty Company of Boston which is active in the 221 (d) (3) program. In addition, First Realty is currently developing the 25-story White Fund Building on Tremont street and the Riverview Apartment Complex now under construction on the Charles River in Cambridge.

Architect will be Carl Koch of Cambridge.

Complete details of the proposal were presented to the Boston Redevelopment Authority at its April 3 meeting.

In reviewing the proposal, Mayor Collins emphasized:

1. This will be the first middle-income housing complex in New England to be sponsored by a major union and we are delighted that Secretary-Treasurer Edward T. Sullivan of Local 254, and his union have come forward to take over this responsibility.

2. The Building Services International is currently sponsoring Marina City, a twin-towered circular apartment building that dominates the near north side of Chicago's loop. This building is a $30 million structure and is the largest single building in Chicago's renewal program.

3. The architectural design and site plan to be used were developed by Carl Koch, architect, and Mark Walch, special housing consultants to the BRA on middle-income housing.

4. Housing layouts will be varied to utilize the rolling site and will be garden type, two-story and four-story walk-up with landscaped entry courts. Housing will be of masonry construction and will be fireproof, soundproof, and well lighted as a result of modern construction methods.

5. Cost of the first phase will approximate $3 million and construction is scheduled to be completed in 12 months. One hundred per cent off-street parking will be provided. Where the city today receives no real estate taxes from Notre Dame Academy, this first phase will pay the city approximately $36,000 a year when completed.

Gov't Center to Emphasize Blend of Beauty, Quality, and Service

By Msgr. Francis J. Lally
(Chairman of the Boston Redevelopment Authority)

At Faneuil Hall, Cradle of Liberty, a brief ceremony marked the unveiling of a model of the new Government Center on April 2. Despite its brevity the function held for those attending an unmistakable sense of historic moment in keeping with the shrine's place in the heart of all true Bostonians.

Msgr. Francis J. Lally, chairman of the Boston Redevelopment Authority, appreciated the significance of the unveiling. He made his remarks brief but salient. He spoke as follows:

"We at the Redevelopment Authority have regarded the Government Center project as our first priority, realizing both how important it was for the city and how complex it would be to carry out. We decided to acquire nearly all of the properties required before the plan was completed. We were the first Redevelopment Authority in the United States to use this approach, and I think the progress to date has proven our judgment right.

"You all know the Scollay square of old. It had put quite a blight on a large area. However, the project area as a whole was also the home of many hundreds of concerns of all sizes and types. With the staff and financial help of the BRA, a vast majority of the 440 families who lived here, in substandard housing, have been relocated to decent dwellings. With similar aid, 437 businesses have found new quarters, almost all within our city.

"When relocation had gone along far enough, we were able to enter into demolition contracts, the results of which are available for all to see.

"Then the process of preparing the area for new uses began. First came engineering contracts and then the actual business of site preparation, best set before you in the New Sudbury street and the relocation and straightening of the MTA tunnel, which as can be easily seen, is now under way. This MTA relocation is, I might add, a national first and a precedent, a demonstration of our ability to relocate the Elevated out of Charlestown, if we have the support of the Legislature, as I am confident we shall have.

"We have concluded disposition agreements with all of the public developers and in addition have entered into a contract with the first of many private developers. Each has had sufficient confidence in the success of the project to engage architects and to complete either preliminary or final plans. In fact, only a few days ago the Authority sold the first piece of land to the national government for the federal office building; again a national precedent in that this land was sold before the final plan was approved.

"The next year should see a series of ground-breaking ceremonies unprecedented in the urban renewal program.

"For us at the Redevelopment Authority the Government Center project means many things. It has given us the opportunity to relocate families and business into better surroundings. It has given us an opportunity to make a most significant contribution to the creation of the New Boston. It is our feeling that when the buildings represented on this model are complete, the renaissance of the ancient part of this city will have been assured. We are proud to have had the opportunity to make this contribution to our lovely city.

"I think it is important to state to you all that with all the speed with which this project has moved we still have taken care to assure the quality, indeed the beauty, of the buildings which will be erected here. I know of no urban renewal project which has had a more distinguished group of architects doing both the design and planning work. Thanks to their combined creative talent Boston will have an architectural attraction which will rival anything which has been created in our time."

Pedestrian Arcades Novel Plaza Feature

A noteworthy innovation on the perimeters of the Government Center Plaza will be pedestrian arcades. These arcades will extend along the entire 800-foot Cambridge Street facade on One Center Plaza building, and along the entire facade of the office building-motel projected for New Congress street. In addition, the entire plaza will be "pedestrian country." Here shoppers will stroll at leisure, office workers enjoy their box lunches while tourists rubberneck.

President and Mayor at B.C.'s Convocation

President Kennedy and Mayor Collins will be among scores of dignitaries who will participate on April 20 in the great Boston College convocation honoring the 100th anniversary of the great Jesuit institution of learning. The college — now an internationally known university began its service in the educational field in a red brick structure on James street in Boston's South End.

Building Service Union Aiding Chicago's Loop

Building Service Employees International Union, Local 254, sponsor of the Academy Housing project on the Notre Dame site in Roxbury, represents 4,500 service and maintenance workers in the Greater Boston area.

Affiliated with the AFL-CIO, its International is the 12th largest International Union in that organization. Currently the national body is building Marina City, Chicago, a $30 million dollar project which will dominate Chicago's Loop. It will be the largest single structure in the Chicago renewal program.

Local 254 represents employees at MIT, Lincoln Laboratory, Boston University, Tufts and Jackson Colleges, Simmons, Radcliffe, Brandeis, Babson, and Suffolk University.

It also represents service employees in most of the important downtown office buildings, as well as Fenway Park, the Boston Garden, Boston Common Underground Garage, B & M produce yards, and Allied Vending Engineers. For many years, it has represented the employees at Jordan Marsh and R. H. Stearns as well as the Cuneo Press and the Riverside Press in Cambridge.

City Hall Closed Good Friday Noon to 3 P.M.

Mayor Collins issued the following circular letter to all department heads:

"There will be a skeleton force on Good Friday, April 12, from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. City Hall will be closed from 12 noon to 3 P.M."

Mayor Hails . . .

6. The development will be fully integrated and those who will be relocated in the Washington Park Urban Renewal Area will be given first preference.

7. Projected rents are as follows:

One bedroom, $75, including heat.

Two bedrooms, $85, including heat.

Three bedrooms, $95, including heat.

Four bedrooms, $105, including heat.

Some 5-bedroom apartments will also be available.

Mayor Collins said: "As we enter the most important aspect of our Urban Renewal Program, namely the development of decent lower rental housing for the people of Boston, I would like to give special thanks to the many government and city agencies, without whose active cooperation and support this announcement would not be made today. Local FHA officials in particular have cut through red tape and delay and worked closely with staff members of the Boston Redevelopment Authority."

Edward T. Sullivan who is Business Agent of Building Service Local No. 254 and President of the Massachusetts State Council Building Services Employees, AFL-CIO, Notre Dame sponsor, said: "We look forward to carrying on the fine record set by our International Union in the housing field and are delighted to participate in this program of providing housing for lower-income families."

All-America Award To Be Made April 22

The All-America award won by Boston in competition with the nation's top cities will be formally presented to Mayor Collins at a public banquet to be held at the Statler Hilton Hotel on April 22. Mayor Collins will receive the award from top officials of Look Magazine and the National Municipal League.

IT REALLY STARTED HERE—On the night of April 19, 1776, the man of this house was out on business. He happened to be Paul Revere and the business-at-hand happened to be a little trip through Middlesex County. Before he got back there was quite a bit of excitement in a couple of little towns called Lexington and Concord. The house today attracts thousands of visitors to Boston.

Fire Commissioner Pays Glowing Tribute to Police Work in Hotel Fire

Fire Commissioner Thomas J. Griffin, whose department won widespread praise for its rescue work in the Sherry Biltmore Hotel fire, paid high tribute to the work of the Boston Police Department in helping to prevent the fire from exacting a death toll of holocaust proportions.

In an extremely unusual interdepartmental communication, Commissioner Griffin in a letter to Police Commissioner Edmund L. McNamara wrote:

"We of the Fire Department are greatly indebted to you and your men for the simply terrific job they did at the Sherry Biltmore Hotel fire this past Friday morning.

"The spirit of camaraderie was evident everywhere between our men. Had this not been so, I know we would have had it much harder trying to fight the fire and at the same time save lives.

"In the latter effort, it was most unfortunate that we were not completely successful and that four persons perished. However, we can derive a little consolation in the fact that everyone else was saved from the same fate.

"By their actions and by the way in which they carried out their duties, your men deserve the highest praise. Will you kindly express our deep appreciation to all of your men who helped us out in this dire emergency."

Previously, Fire Chief John C. Martin had commended eight fire fighters for their work in the early stages of the fire. They were Robert Tierney, Thomas Ryan, William Joyce, Edward Madden, Richard Stanton, John Tanous, Robert Tonsberg, and Robert Harvey.

This was in addition to Patrolmen Robert Bush and Robert Kelly, who, in a cruising car, sensed the magnitude of the rescue operation ahead and radioed for all help possible.

All Downtown to Get Lift from Govt. Center

The building of the New Boston Government Center will stabilize and upgrade property values in the downtown area, will bring in millions of new tax dollars over the years, and will spur the rejuvenation of Boston as a thriving business center.

From a physical standpoint, the project will represent the highest standards of urban design and architectural quality. When completed, the Government Center will be one of the show places of Boston, and will set a standard for civic design throughout the country for many years to come.

USS "Tirante" Visits Boston Shipyard

The USS "Tirante," the guppy-type attack submarine, aboard which Governor Peabody was serving when he won a Silver Medal for gallantry in the Pacific in World War II, paid a three-day visit to Boston last week. While she was berthed at the Navy Shipyard in South Boston, the craft was visited by the Governor. The "Tirante" was here for a check before heading out for North Atlantic training exercises.

Home Improvement Office in Charlestown

The Boston Redevelopment Authority, on April 3, granted Administrator Edward J. Logue permission to institute a voluntary pilot rehabilitation program for a section of Charlestown surrounding Monument square.

An office will be established in the neighborhood and will be manned by specialists in all fields of home improvements. Mr. Logue hopes to get quarters which will be large enough for community group meetings for discussion of common rehabilitation problems. FHA authorities have indicated a willingness to make interim financing available to interested home owners.

SINAI HOSPITAL WORKERS—Greeting Mayor Collins at City Hall are these five women who are planning the annual donor luncheons of the New England Sinai Hospital April 29-30 at the Statler Hilton (left to right): Mrs. Benjamin Daniels, Miss Regina Brooks, Mrs. Leon Wolk, Mrs. Myron Levein, Mrs. David Giller.

About $200 Million In Center Investment

The new Government Center will involve a total financial investment, when completed, of about $200 million. The private construction cost of $70 million will equal the total of all private office construction in Boston from 1900 to 1960.

The public construction cost of $90 million is almost three times the total of all such construction in Boston since 1900.

In terms of tax yield, yearly taxes on the new construction in Government Center will exceed annual taxes derived from properties in the Old Scollay square by more than half a million dollars.

The net public cost of the Government Center project will be approximately $38 million. Under federal law, the city's share is one third of this cost or approximately $13.5 million. However, under State law, the city will receive back over a 20-year period one half of this cost. In addition, the city will receive $7 million federal credit for the parking garage and a $5 million federal credit for streets, utilities, and parks.

VETERAN'S RETIREMENT

The Boston Retirement Board has approved the following veteran's application for retirement:

Maurice Lugitch, 308 Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester, school physician (part time), School Department.

New City Hall to Offer Dominating Focal Point

Rising 130 feet above the plaza will be the ruggedly modern nine-level City Hall. The winning design in a national competition, the striking new structure has been praised by noteworthy critics both here and abroad as a brilliant contribution to Boston architecture.

Dominating the plaza, the City Hall will be the stellar attraction in a carefully composed design ensemble of great visual drama and beauty. The City Hall and the new plaza together will be comparable in function and relationship to the town meeting-house and common in an old-time New England village, but they will be suitable in scale for a great American city.

Center Will Provide Spectacular Skyline

Boston's Government Center will appear from a distance as a cluster of towers scattered over a section of the downtown peninsula midway between Charles River and the harbor. These towers will include the 27-story State Service Center, the 26-story Federal Office Building, and a 35-story Private Office Building on State street at New Congress street. Immediately adjacent to the project area will be the 22-story State Office Building now under construction.

City Hospital B-S Club Banquet-Dance April 18

The annual banquet and dance of the Boston City Hospital Benefit and Social Club will be held April 18 at Whiton Hall, 38 Centre street, Dorchester. The usual fine roast beef dinner will be the pièce de résistance. Music will be supplied by Carl Frank's Recording Orchestra. A portable TV set will be the door prize. Tickets may be obtained at the Engineers' Office, line 562; the Mechanic Shop, line 104, and the Maintenance Shop, line 103. Tickets are $4.75.

SEA GULL'S VIEW—This is how the $200 million investment in Boston's great future will appear from the air. It's the area between the Central Artery and Beacon Hill, a civic show place which will draw some 50,000 people daily in a revitalized Boston. They'll Be Coming Off Blueprints, Very Soon

Here is a rundown on the structures that will make up the Government Center, their cost and construction schedules.

CITY HALL: The new City Hall will be located at the site of old Adams square. It will occupy the dominant position in the Government Center Plaza and will be the focal point of the Government Center. It will be linked by pedestrian passageways to the Old State House and Faneuil Hall. Cost—$20 million. Construction—1963-1965.

STATE SERVICE CENTER: The State Service Center will be built on an eight-acre parcel bounded by Cambridge, Staniford, Merrimac, and New Chardon streets. It will consist of Employment Security Building, a Health, Welfare and Education Building, and a Mental Health Center as well as a garage. It will be conveniently located to the new State Office Building and the State House. Cost—$34 million. Construction—1963-1965.

FEDERAL OFFICE BUILDING: The Federal Office Building is situated at the northern boundary of the new Government Center Plaza. It will provide about 25 acres of office space for 12 federal agencies previously scattered throughout the Boston area. The building will consist of a 26-story tower and an adjoining 4-story annex. Cost—$30 million. Construction—1963-1965.

$2,000-CAR PARKING GARAGE: The parking garage will be built adjacent to the Central Artery on the site of the old Haymarket square. The garage will serve an anticipated 10,000 motorists daily. It will be served by special ramps connecting directly with the Central Artery and will be conveniently located to the major buildings in the Government Center. Cost—$7 million. Construction—1964-1965.

PRIVATE OFFICE BUILDING: A private office building will be erected along the Beacon Hill side of Cambridge street, from Somerset to Tremont street. The eight-story building, known as "One Center Plaza," will have a continuous pedestrian arcade the length of its 800-foot façade. Cost—$20 million. Construction—(1st stage) 1963-1964.

PRIVATE OFFICE BUILDING: A 35-story private office building will be erected on State street at New Congress street. It will be the second highest private office building in Boston after the Prudential Tower, and can be expected to spur the rejuvenation of State street and lower Washington street. Cost—$20 million. Construction—1964-1966.

MOTEL AND/OR OFFICE BUILDING: A motel or transient housing site is provided close to the Central Artery and fronting on the Government Center Plaza. It has access to two subway lines within the building. Cost—$14 million. Construction—1964-1966.

SEARS CRESCENT: Sears Crescent is an existing building of architectural and historical significance. It will be rehabilitated to contemporary standards as an office building but will retain its historic architectural character. It may be developed in conjunction with a new office building in its rear. Cost—$2.5 million. Construction—1964-1965.

Plenty of Trees for Center's Landscaping

Almost 300 trees will be planted within the project area. Cambridge street, from the Charles Street rotary, as the principal vehicular approach, will also be planted with a double row of trees along its West End boundary. At intervals along Cambridge street and throughout Government Center, groupings of trees with benches provide pedestrians with pleasant places to sit and relax.

Dock square will be appropriately landscaped, as will the area between the Old State House and the new private office building at State and New Congress streets.

Fr. Maxwell in Visit to His Favorite City

The Rev. Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S.J., former president of Boston College, who had confident ideas of Boston's future several years back, was principal speaker at the 4th annual Jesuit Mission benefit dinner at the Statler Hilton.

Father Maxwell, now pastor of St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Kingston, Jamaica, answered a strong move to abolish football during his presidency at the Heights by giving his approval to B. C.'s present fine stadium.

Atty. O'Connell New Trustee of Library

Lenahan O'Connell, Jamaica Plain, was sworn recently as a member of the Boston Public Library Board of Trustees by Mayor Collins. He succeeds Patrick McDonald. Long active in Boston civic and public affairs, Mr. O'Connell is the son of the late Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell.

He is secretary of the Civil War Centennial Commission, former trustee of the Social Law Library and former president of the Eire Society. He is a graduate of Boston College and Boston University and is a veteran of World War II, having served in the Judge Advocate General's Corps of the Army in the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre. He's a member of the law firm of O'Connell & O'Connell established by his father in 1898.

TRUSTEE - Lenahan O'Connell, named by Mayor to Boston Public Library Board of Trustees.

GOVERNMENT CENTER

Appointment

It'll Be Easy to Reach Government Center

The Government Center is linked to the metropolitan expressway system through the Central Artery and will include a 2,000-car parking garage immediately adjacent to the artery.

Three rapid transit lines service the area and the major MTA station at Scollay square is now being improved and modernized to handle the anticipated increased traffic. A series of carefully developed pedestrian paths will link all parts of the Center with rapid transit and other public facilities, and with nearby areas.

City Hospital Workers Ready Softball Team

City Hospital is coming up with a softball team which figures to make things interesting in their Park League division this year. Coach Eddie Devitt is rounding up an interesting squad of experienced vets and recruits and several positions, now wide open, are rapidly being filled.

The club will practice at Eustis Field, Roxbury, or Randolph Park in the South End. Candidates are invited to get in touch with Al Perry, line 505, at the hospital, or Eddie Devitt in Children's Two. Seeking to nail down positions on the team are Dan Haggerty, second base; Larry Mahoney, shortstop; Bill Larsen, left field, and Jesse Armstrong, first base. Al Perry will be one of the starting pitchers.

Federal Transit Bill Wins OK in Senate

President Kennedy's $375 million mass transit program, which received enthusiastic backing from Mayor Collins, both as head of the Hub government and as a delegated spokesman for most of the other major cities of the country, was passed by the U. S. Senate, April 4, by a vote of 52-41.

Senate majority leaders expressed belief that the bill had an excellent chance for passage in the House.

The program would make $45 million in capital grants available to Massachusetts and probably result in restoration of South Shore rail service, rapid transit service to Quincy, and Budd car service to Cape Cod.

Within 60 days of final passage Massachusetts would be able to qualify for capital grants — one of the first states in a position to do so.

What's Just Ahead? Time for Good Look

Readers of this issue of the City Record will find that a considerable proportion of its editorial content is devoted to stories and pictures of the new Government Center. It has been planned that way.

We are now nearing the end of the demolition phase of the tremendous $200 million project. In coming weeks the area which two years ago was seemingly blighted beyond all chance of reclamation will be witnessing evidence of the initial building phases of the tremendous task ahead. It is the hope of the editors that Bostonians generally and readers of the City Record, particularly, obtain at this time an accurate idea of the entire Government Center picture.

Each Business Day to Bring 50,000 to Center

An estimated 50,000 people will come into the Center on daily business or as office workers. This concentration of purchasing power drawn into the area should give a major economic boost, to the city's major shopping and retail area centered on Washington and Tremont streets. Boston's prestige financial and commercial center on State street will also be revitalized by the new construction on that street and in the adjacent area.

A secretary, whose boss is dozing in chair after one too many during lunch hour, to caller: "Sorry, he's still out from lunch."

Personnel Order No. 89.

Sergt. Howard G. Kelly and Detective Daniel F. Flood of District 9, and Detective Joseph Pirrello, Criminal Investigation Division and now detailed to the Office of the Mayor, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 4.30 P.M., on Monday, February 25, 1963, two men wearing black hats and silk stockings covering their faces and both carrying knives in their hands entered the Soo Chinese Laundry, 130 Harold street, Roxbury, where Mei Fan Soo was in charge. One of the men stepped behind Mrs. Soo, placed a knife against her back and demanded money, whereupon she gave the man $56 in bills from her pocket and $5.35 in change from under the counter. The men assaulted her, knocked her to the floor, and then proceeded to tie her up with twine.

About this time as the result of information received by telephone at Police Headquarters from an anonymous caller, Sergt. Howard G. Kelly and Detectives Paul L. Snow, Daniel F. Flood, and George J. Holmes of District 9 were dispatched to 135 Harold street to investigate a report of three men acting suspiciously. This was an incorrect address.

As these officers were checking the vicinity, Detective Joseph Pirrello, now detailed to the Office of the Mayor, who was in the vicinity at the time and hearing the radio dispatch, proceeded to the location and ascertained the correct address to be the laundry at 130 Harold street. He immediately informed the above officers and returned with Sergeant Kelly and Detective Flood to the scene of the robbery, entered the front door while Detectives Snow and Holmes attempted to gain access to the rear.

Upon entering the front door, the officers with revolvers in hand observed Richard Pina, 18 years, of 74 Dale street, Roxbury, with a silk stocking over his face, standing at the entrance to the back room, and John Spencer, 19 years, of 934 Parker street, Roxbury, in the rear of the store, while Mrs. Soo was lying tied on the floor. The officers immediately identified themselves and ordered the two robbers to stand still. Both culprits attempted to escape, at which time both Sergeant Kelly and Detective Flood fired their revolvers to prevent the escape and effect the arrest of the robbers. Richard Pina was struck in the right leg and was placed under arrest. John Spencer escaped through the rear door.

At the scene were found two black hats, two silk stockings, and two knives identified by the victim as the property of said Pina and Spencer. Also found at the scene was the money taken from the victim.

On February 27, 1963, in Roxbury Municipal Court, before Judge Charles Taylor, Pina was charged with armed robbery (knife) and held in $5,000 bail for the grand jury. At the same time, two warrants were issued, one for Pina's accomplice, John L. Spencer, for armed robbery (knife) and one for Leroy Marsh, 19 years, of 141 Harold street, Roxbury, for armed robbery, having been identified as the "lookout" man in the aforementioned robbery.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the prompt action, devotion to duty, and courage displayed by Sergeant Kelly and Detectives Flood and Pirrello in this case, which resulted in the apprehension of one of the robbers while in the commission of the crime, as well as the identification of two accomplices. This type of police work is commendable.

March 29.

Personnel Order No. 90.

Detective Third Grade Michael A. Ingemi, Criminal Investigation Division and detailed to District 15, and Patrolman William B. Ahern, Juvenile Aid Bureau and detailed to District 15, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

During the months of October, November, and December of 1962 and in the early part of January, 1963, an unusual number of breaks occurred on District 15, with entrance in each case being gained by means of forcing windows leading from fire escapes. Vending machines of different types were broken into and contents stolen. Some of the breaks were not reported to the police by the owners since nothing of great value had been taken.

After careful observation and questioning of several juveniles known to have committed this type of crime on previous occasions, Detective Ingemi and Juvenile Officer William B. Ahern, working as a team, obtained information which led to the apprehension and arrests on January 4, 1963, of Joseph Allwood, 18 years, single, of 439 Main street, Charlestown, and John B. Deming, 17 years, single, of Dexter Row, Charlestown. After intensive questioning, statements were obtained from these subjects implicating them in fifteen breaks in that area during the last three months of 1962.

Applying their knowledge of the habits of juveniles in that district, Detective Ingemi and Juvenile Officer Ahern obtained information which resulted in the arrest of a 15-year-old boy on January 23 and he implicated the above-named John B. Deming with him in a series of nine breaks committed during the early part of January, 1963.

The solution of these crimes resulted in the recovery of stolen property, including 36,700 Top Value Stamps, business machines, and various articles of merchandise stolen from railroad freight cars.

In Charlestown Court on January 4, 1963, Allwood and Deming were arraigned before Judge Frank J. Cavanagh charged with 15 separate counts of breaking and entering in the nighttime and larceny and after hearing the evidence, probable cause was found and both were ordered held for the grand jury in bail of $3,000.

On February 7, 1963, Deming was again arraigned before Judge Cavanagh with the juvenile offender previously mentioned, both being charged with 9 counts of breaking and entering in the nighttime and larceny. After hearing the evidence, Deming was held for the grand jury in bail of $5,000 and the juvenile was adjudicated a delinquent child and, being a parolee from the Youth Service Board, he was returned to Shirley Industrial School.

On January 30, 1963, it was reported that considerable damage had been done to the newly-constructed three and one-half-million dollar elementary school owned by the City of Boston located at High and School streets which consisted of red, green, and yellow paint being thrown on portions of the exterior and interior walls of the building. Once again, applying his knowledge and experience in working with juveniles and exercising the confidence existing between him, the juvenile element and their parents and teachers, Juvenile Officer Ahern was able to bring to justice the persons responsible for the damage to the new school, yet unnamed, and which had, within a few days, been formally accepted by the School Department. The two juveniles concerned were arraigned in the Charlestown Court before Judge Cavanagh who adjudicated them as delinquents and ordered restitution for payment of the damage be made by their parents.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the excellent work performed by Detective Ingemi and Patrolman Ahern in these cases, as well as their devotion to duty which was demonstrated by the many hours beyond their regular tours of duty given to the investigation of these crimes. Their persistence and knowledge of the habits of juveniles in their district resulted in the apprehension of the guilty parties, thereby reflecting credit on the department as a whole.

VI. HIGH COMMENDATION.

At 9.22 P.M., March 1, 1963, the department responded to an alarm from Box 7424 for a fire in the dwelling house at 19 Burrill place, South Boston. Upon arrival of the apparatus, heavy smoke was issuing from the upper portion of the building. Members of Engine Company 2 advanced a line to the second-floor apartment involved in fire, while the members of Engine Company 1 advanced a line to the third floor which was also involved in fire and heavily charged with heat, smoke and gases.

Fire Fighter John J. Feeney of Engine Company 1 went into the building in advance of hose lines, and before roof ventilation could be effected, proceeded over the stairway to the third floor, and while groping through the heavy smoke came upon an unconscious man. He removed him from the third-floor landing to the stairway where members of Engine Company 1 assisted in removing the victim from the building.

Inasmuch as Fire Fighter Feeney performed this rescue work under most trying conditions, without regard for his own safety, and at considerable risk to himself, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly, and his case is referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

NAMING OF TOT PLAYGROUND IN HONOR OF MARY CORWIN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, March 15, 1963.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Park Commissioner concerning your order of March 4, 1963, relative to naming the Tot Playground on Haverhill street, Charlestown, in honor of the late Mary Corwin.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Parks and Recreation Department,

March 8, 1963.

Mr. Albert Kramer,

Administrative Assistant, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir:

This is in reply to your memo of March 6 to which you have attached an order of Councilor Kerrigan asking that the Tot Playground on Haverhill street, Charlestown, be named in honor of the late Mary Corwin.

Before presenting this matter to the Parks and Recreation Commission, we would have to have a background of Mary Corwin—her birthplace, particular interest in the community, her civic accomplishments, any veteran's status, etc. In other words, the commission would require a complete history of Mary Corwin before consideration could be given to this request.

You may be assured that after the information has been forwarded to me, I will be happy to follow the request further.

Very truly yours,

MARTIN F. WALSH, Commissioner.

Referred to the Committee on Public Services and Recreation.

CLEANUP CAMPAIGN IN ROXBURY-DORCHESTER AREA.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, March 15, 1963.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Commissioner of Public Works concerning your order of February 11, 1963, relative to undertaking a special cleanup campaign in the Roxbury-Dorchester area and more especially the Washington Park area.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Public Works Department,

March 7, 1963.

Albert I. Kramer,

Administrative Assistant, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to the following City Council order dated February 11, 1963:

"Ordered, That the Public Works Department be, and is hereby, requested to undertake a special cleanup campaign in the Roxbury-Dorchester area and more especially the Washington Park area and to that end his Honor the Mayor is hereby requested to authorize the hiring or assigning of such additional personnel and equipment as may be necessary."

February and March are notoriously difficult months to maintain the appearance of our streets because of the accumulation of snow and ice along the gutters.

I sincerely believe that the streets in the Roxbury and Dorchester areas are, if anything, less littered than usual at this time of the year.

We have three (3) mechanical street sweepers and six (6) four-man street cleaning crews covering the area bounded by Washington street, Seaver street, Columbia road, and Dudley street. This year, for the first time, we are using much larger quantities of salt and as little sand as possible for ice control in a further effort to solve the street cleaning problem.

Until a way is found to get the parked automobiles out of the way in these highly congested residential areas and until residents develop some awareness of their own responsibilities, street cleaning will continue to be a difficult task. The Public Works Department is making a constant effort for cleaner streets. Despite reductions in over-all personnel, more men and equipment are now assigned to this work than at any time in recent years.

We are not optimistic about our street cleaning forces' ability to keep this area clean. As a fresh approach to the problem, for the first time, uniformed Public Works sanitation inspectors will be assigned to this and other problem areas to conduct an educational program and, where necessary, to bring in Health Department inspectors and police for enforcement of existing laws and ordinances relating to sanitation. We also intend that our highway maintenance supervisors will visit every shop owner in the area about the bad habits of sweeping stores out on to the streets daily.

I feel confident that our program of education and enforcement, together with a continuous effort by our street cleaning forces, will bring about some improvements in this area.

Respectfully,
JAMES W. HALEY, Commissioner.

POLICY STATEMENT OF BOSTON REDEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY RE CALF PASTURE DUMP AREA.

The following was received:

Boston Redevelopment Authority,
March 13, 1963.

Boston City Council,
City Hall.

Dear Sirs:

The City Council order dated March 4, 1963, concerning the Calf Pasture dump asks the Boston Redevelopment Authority "to make a firm policy statement as to its future activity in this area of the City of Boston."

I should like to call to your attention that at its meeting of February 13, 1963, the Boston Redevelopment Authority voted to apply to the Federal Urban Renewal Administration for a loan to conduct a Feasibility Survey of Columbia Point. This Feasibility Survey is intended to investigate certain engineering and market questions about future development of the Point and to indicate whether it would be feasible to undertake an urban renewal project in the area.

Approval for the Feasibility Survey is still pending with the U.R.A., but we expect to obtain it in the near future. When the results of the Survey are available, probably late in the summer, the Authority will be in a position to make a firm statement about its future activity on Columbia Point.

Sincerely,

(Rt. Rev. Msgr.) FRANCIS J. LALLY, Chairman.

PROPOSED SALE OF OLD POLICE WAGON HOUSE AT 84 JOY STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Welfare Department, March 15, 1963.
Hon. Peter F. Hines, President,
Boston City Council.

Dear Mr. Hines:

The Overseers of the Public Welfare in the City of Boston are the custodians of the old police wagon house property at 84 Joy street, Boston, which is the last remnant of real estate in the so-called Lucy Bullman Trust. The Board of Overseers feel that this real estate should now be sold because it is no longer suitable for the purpose for which it was left by the testatrix, namely, "for the benefit of the poor," and that the proceeds of the sale should be added to other money and investments, so that said proceeds may be invested according to the wishes of the decedent, "for the benefit of the poor."

The will of Lucy Bullman was proved and allowed January 9, 1832, Suffolk County Probate Docket No. 29741. The thirteenth clause of said will provides as follows:

"My two estates, one on Cambridge street, and one on Belknap street (now Joy street) are to go to the three sisters equally (the three nieces of the testatrix); and if either of them die, then to the surviving two; and if two die, then to the single survivor; but if all three die, without heirs, then the income is to go to John W. Haley, son of John B. Haley; and in case John W. Haley should die without issue, then my real estate is to go to the City of Boston for the benefit of the poor. It is never to be sold; but the income is to go for the purposes set forth as above"

The contingencies having occurred, the City of Boston became the owner of the property, Elizabeth S. Haley v. City of Boston, 108 Mass. 576.

By an order of the City Council approved by the Mayor January 4, 1873, the premises were placed in the custody of the Overseers of the Public Welfare.

At the time the Overseers of the Public Welfare came into possession of the Lucy Bullman real estate, the property consisted of approximately 3,158 square feet of land with income-producing buildings thereon. Two thousand two hundred and thirty-one square feet fronted on Cambridge street and 927 square feet fronted on Joy street.

In 1924 the City of Boston took 522 square feet of land abutting on Cambridge street for the purpose of widening and relocating said street. This destroyed the buildings thereon and they had to be demolished. The $8,322 paid to the Overseers of the Public Welfare in damages was invested and since that time has been producing income for the benefit of the poor. It is known as the "Lucy Bullman Fund."

In 1962 the City of Boston took the remaining 1,709 square feet of land facing Cambridge street for Fire Department purposes, and the award of $6,700 will be added to the "Lucy Bullman Fund," and wisely invested so that the income will be used for the benefit of Boston's poor.

In 1923 the Boston Police Department entered into an arrangement with the Overseers of the Public Welfare whereby said Police Department rented the parcel at 84 Joy street, demolished the aging structure thereon and erected a wagon and signal house thereon. This arrangement continued until January of this year, at which time the Joy Street Police Station was discontinued and the old "wagon house" so called, was abandoned. The Fire Department has no use for this parcel. It also appears that no other city department wants or needs it.

The only purpose for which the structure is suitable is that of a garage.

The Overseers have received offers from residents of Beacon Hill, who are willing to pay $75 per month for the use of the building (the same rent paid by the Police Department), but attention of the proposed tenants had to be directed to G. L. (Ter. Ed.), chapter 59, section 3A, which requires the city to assess the real estate tax on the lessee. This would increase the cost of occupancy approximately another $75 per month, and there are no takers at the combined expense of rent plus taxes.

Although the will of Lucy Bullman provides that the property is never to be sold, the character of the property has so changed over the years that it is no longer suitable for the purpose for which it was left, and is of no benefit to the poor of Boston in its present depleted state. In all probability the Probate Court would approve a petition for sale of this remnant of a once productive piece of real estate in order to carry out the purposes of the trust.

The Board of Overseers of the Public Welfare in the City of Boston respectfully request that you read this letter to the members of the Boston City Council in session and recommend that an order be made by the Boston City Council for the sale at public auction of the remaining parcel of land in the Lucy Bullman Trust, namely, approximately 907 square feet of land with the buildings thereon now known as and numbered 84 Joy street, Boston, Massachusetts.

Respectfully yours,

The Overseers of the Public Welfare in the City of Boston,

By WILLIAM F. LALLY, Secretary.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

HARVARD LAW RECORD PUBLICATION RE URBAN RENEWAL.

Coun. FOLEY offered the following:

Resolved, That the attention of his Honor the Mayor and the five Board members of the BRA be most respectfully invited to an article published in the "Harvard Law Record," student newspaper of the Harvard Law School, in the issue of March 7, 1963, reading as follows:

LITTLE PROGRESS SEEN FOR RENEWAL by Donald W. Kramer

Two young urban renewal workers painted a bleak picture of Boston's redevelopment progress at a Law-Graduate Democratic Club luncheon in Harkness, Friday.

Langley Keyes, a 1960 Harvard graduate and Rhodes Scholar who works for Action for Boston Community Development, and William Strickland, a 1958 Harvard graduate who is the Boston Redevelopment Authority's associate director for South End rehabilitation, sharply criticized the program in both its general and specific aspects.

"The ideology has not caught up with the realities," Strickland said. "There are too many grandiose schemes. But the real problems are not talked about."

The question most often asked by the people in the South End, he said, is: "What is going to happen to us?" He said he had no answer. The plans are too often made without facing the problems of the people's needs, he charged.

BUILDINGS ARE NOT PEOPLE

"Some people think that if you build better buildings and move people into them, the people will become copies of the handsome structures," Strickland said. "I doubt that this will ever occur."

Together Strickland and Keyes painted a picture of an area inhabited by "tenants without dignity, without hope or future, who exist the best they can." The South End, Keyes said, looks on garbage day "like Rome after the sacking."

He said community association meetings always consider the same topics—removing garbage, abandoned automobiles, purse snatching and controlling prostitution.

They both attacked the involvement of politics in the program. Keyes pointed out how the "City Hall types" are suspicious of the professional planners brought from other cities and other countries to work for the BRA. Strickland said things were accomplished only through nepotism, favor, or status.

The only way to make any progress, Keyes said, was to get centralized planning and execution. He said the program could be advanced with stricter enforcement of the building and health codes, which he said were among the toughest in the country. But when he talked about enforcement, he just laughed, saying the politicians don't want it.

He told the story of a woman who called the Health Department about an unsanitary condition in a building across the street. Inspectors okayed the building the first day. When a public health nurse suggested another call the second day, the health inspector cleared the building again. After the third complaint, Keyes said, the health inspectors came to look for violations in the woman's own house.

Even with centralized planning, however, the program still faces insurmountable obstacles, the pair contended, because it has to operate in the free market place.

They said average renovation costs in the area were about $2,500 for each floor, or about $12,500 for each building. They said it was almost impossible to get banks to give such loans, even with a federal guarantee, to a family earning less than $4,000 a year.

They pointed out that most elderly citizens do not want to take on any long-term debts to rehabilitate their homes. And even responsible tenement owners do not want to invest substantially in rehabilitation if there is a brothel next door or a flop house down the block.

As far as public housing is concerned, they pointed out that many tenants would rather live in a filthy, four-room apartment at $40 a month than in a clean two-room apartment at $90 a month. "We just can't build new buildings at prices these people can afford to pay," Strickland said.

Keyes made several suggestions, however, to alleviate the situation. He said that the public housing authority could buy existing units, rehabilitate them and then rent apartments. He suggested that cooperatives could be legalized in the Commonwealth, and also that the BRA could buy units and lease them back to private operators. "But nobody is thinking along these lines," he added.

"There is no way to make the program work with the current legislation, practice and policy," he concluded.

The resolution was adopted under suspension of the rules.

CONSTRUCTION OF MIDDLE- AND LOW-INCOME HOUSING IN WEST END PROJECT AREA.

Coun. PIEMONTE offered the following:

Whereas, It appears that the developers of the West End project are once again in default of their contract; and

Whereas, The original study called for the construction of middle- and low-income housing in at least 4.8 acres of the project area; and

Whereas, The development of the area has lagged for an unreasonable length of time resulting in a financial loss of revenue to the city and a deprivation of housing facilities; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, request his Honor the Mayor to suggest that in the renegotiation of the contract provision be made for the immediate construction of middle-income or low-income housing in the West End project area; or that the contract be reopened for development of the entire project area simultaneously.

The resolution was adopted under suspension of the rules.

Adjourned at 7.20 P.M., on motion of Councillor Iannella, to meet on Monday, April 1, 1963, at 2 P.M.

OF MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

PRESIDENT CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 55

SATURDAY, APRIL 20, 1963

NO. 16

City Treasury Has First Surplus in 13 Years

Boston's readiness to take over its proud place as an All-America City was reflected this week when Mayor Collins made public a brief outline of its financial status.

For the first time in the last 13 years the city—which many gloomy observers were certain was headed for bankruptcy obliging the State to take over direction of its affairs not so long back—has its financial house in good order.

As of Jan 1, 1963, the city stood in the enviable position of having surplus revenue.

It's a situation not many major cities can better in a day of static municipal economies.

The amount of surplus revenue is $6,150,670.40 which has been certified today by the director of the bureau of accounts of the Department of Corporations and Taxation.

Mayor Collins said these available funds will be used to supplement the amount normally raised by taxes.

This money, he said, was obtained by more efficient collections of delinquent and current taxes and increased departmental revenues.

The sound fiscal practices of this administration, the mayor said, are underscored by the disclosure that as of January 1, 1960, the city showed a deficit of more than $10,000,000. Thus, in three years, Boston's financial picture has been improved by some $16,000,000, the Mayor said.

Old World Drama In Appeal of Plaza

The strong focal point of the Government Center will be the new City Hall and the Government Center Plaza. Comparable as a monumental public open space to the most famous squares in Europe and unique in this country in scale and setting, the plaza will be landscaped in its perimeters and will be paved in red brick.

It will extend from Cambridge street in a fanlike series of wide, granite-edged steps down to the west facade of City Hall and to New Congress Street beyond. At night there will be dramatic special lighting effects.

N.U. Breaks Ground For New Dorms

Ground was broken recently for the $2.6 million women's dormitory at Northeastern University to be named in honor of the university's founding president, Dr. Frank Palmer Speare. Completion is scheduled for 1964.

Plans call for two five-story wings connected with a one and one-half story structure that will include lounges, offices and dining room facilities.

THEY'LL BE CRUISING, SOON—The famous swan boats of the Public Garden which have gained world fame are being readied for another great season in the Garden's attractive lagoon.

Mayor Collins to Receive City's All-America Award

Official presentation of the coveted All-America Award made to Boston after sharp competition with her sister cities throughout the nation will feature a luncheon at Sheraton Plaza Hotel at 12.15 P.M., April 22.

Attending the affair will be representatives of the city, state and federal governments, the greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, and many city groups. Official presentation will be made to Mayor Collins who led the winning battle for the award.

It will be made by officers of the National Municipal League and Look magazine.

Tickets for the luncheon are available at $5 each, or $50 for a table of 10, at the office of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

General chairman for the luncheon is Thomas J. Galligan, Jr., executive vice president of the Boston Edison Company.

Mr. Galligan is being assisted by an All-America Steering Committee named by Mayor Collins.

The committee includes: James M. Connolly, board chairman of the Advertising Club of Boston; Sydney Gross, marketing director for John Donnelly & Sons; Walter Knight of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce; John J. O'Neill, administrative assistant to the Mayor; and William Smith of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Commenting on the award to the city, Mr. Galligan said:

"The award made by the National Municipal League and Look magazine is competed for by cities throughout the nation. At long last Boston has been recognized for what she is and what she will be in this space age.

"While our city has been labelled at times as a decadent throwback to colonial times, those who have so berated Boston have forgotten that the spirit and zeal that prevailed in revolutionary days have never died here," Mr. Galligan said.

"Boston has shown the world again that she is the 'Hub of the Universe' and one need look only at the electronics research going on; our fine colleges and schools; our medical centers; and our cultural offerings such as the Symphony Orchestra and theaters; our financial institutions; and last—but certainly not least—the spectacular growth and rejuvenation of the core city itself where the changing sky line heralds the New Boston.

"Clipper ships from our Boston wharves once carried ice to far-off China, and this was world-shaking then. Boston will play a major role in taking man to other planets. The spirit of adventure and fortitude to fight for her place in the world has brought Boston this coveted honor of All-America City and this is merely a forerunner to greater days that lie ahead."

These designs have been reviewed by a Design Advisory Committee consisting of Architect Hugh Stubbins, Chairman; Dean Pietro Belluschi of the School of Architecture at MIT; Dean José Luis Sert of the School of Design at Harvard; Architect Nelson Aldrich, and MIT Professor of Architecture Lawrence Anderson. The late Henry Shepley, eminent Boston architect, was also a member of the Design Advisory Committee.

Mayor's Golden Age Club Open to Bostonians at 60

The Mayor's Golden Age Club is an organization composed of Boston citizens who, having reached the age of 60, have outlived many friends and relatives. Still feeling the need of companionship and of making new friends, they find in the Mayor's Golden Age Club, a happy answer.

The group meets on an average of once a month in the various Municipal Centers of the City.

The meetings usually take the form of a party or get-together at which there is entertainment, dancing, movies and all sorts of wholesome fun.

This affords the group an opportunity to meet old acquaintances and to make new ones. Many other activities are available as the seasons move along. Outings, sailing trips, picnics—all as the guests of the Mayor, and the Parks and Recreation Department. There are Red Sox ball games as the guests of Mr. Tom Yawkey, owner of the Red Sox Ball Club.

Though a membership card for purposes of identification at many parties is necessary, there is never a ticket needed at our affairs. All who are over 60 and citizens of Boston are welcome.

Any further information that you may wish can be obtained by a call to Ja-4-6400. Billy Day, who conducts the Golden Age activities for the City, will have the answers to most of your recreational problems.

Under the law, motorboat registrations expire on the owners' birthdays. He also said that the Coast Guard and State Officers will enforce State and Federal Law relative for the proper regulation and numbering of motorboats in this, the fourth year, of the new boating law.

The numbers must consist of block letters and digits and must at least be 3 inches high. The color of the numbers must be in contrast to the color of the boat and the letters must be separated from the digits by a normal space like this: MS 1234 ZZ.

Chuck Roche Shows 'Em How It's Done

Charles (Chuck) Roche, well known to many at City Hall and the State House during his reportorial days on the Boston Post, was one of the glittering stars of the Democratic National Committee's softball team in a game with boys from the White House. Chuck tripled and stole home as he turned in a stellar performance at third.

Chuck, before coming to the Post was the big star of three of Dick Harlow's best elevens at Harvard, while he was considered one of the best Eastern Intercollegiate pitchers while serving Harvard on the mound. He's now public relations man for the Demos' National Committee.

St. Peter's Aids BHA's Community Services

Initial steps have been taken to develop a program of community services at the Broadway housing development, it was announced by Chairman Edward D. Hassan of the Boston Housing Authority.

The offer of the use of the Community Hall of St. Peter's Church, South Boston, has resolved the initial problem of providing a suitable meeting place for large groups of people, he noted.

The offer was made by Father Joseph Svirskis of St. Peter's Church. Sister Superior Mary Helen and Sister Agnes of the Labour Center in South Boston, who have worked closely with many of the families in the Broadway housing development, also met with the management to discuss the proposed programs.

Historic Spots Linked With New City Hall

Historic shrines from colonial days — though outside the Government Center project area — are essential parts of the over-all design scheme. Thus, City Hall Plaza will bridge a part of New Congress street so that pedestrians can readily view and visit the newly-landscaped Dock square and Faneuil Hall-Quincy Market beyond.

The Old State House will be linked to the Center visually by the creation of a pleasant pedestrian mall complete with landscaped fountain area. Cornhill's old Sears Crescent will be preserved to give a sense of historical continuity.

The new project it is certain will promote increased tourism and other public uses of such important national shrines as the Old State House and Faneuil Hall-Quincy Market.

Boston's Symphony in Big Westward Trek

Carrying far more class and box office appeal than the tawdry "Biography of a Bookie Joint," Boston's great Symphony Orchestra headed West during the past week for concerts in Chicago and Pacific Coast cities. According to advance notices it was assured SRO bookings in Chicago, Seattle, Portland, and Los Angeles.

Conductor Erich Leinsdorf has a company of 101 men and three women. The company must carry eight tons of equipment. It's an expensive trip but if the expected red ink runs even as high as $75,000, it is anticipated that the stimulation of the orchestra's recordings sales will overbalance the deficit.

March 7, 1963.

HON. JOHN F. COLLINS, Office of the Mayor, City Hall, Boston, Mass.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

At 10 A.M., Wednesday, January 9, 1963, Chief John A. Martin, District Fire Chief Joseph Dolan, Fire Fighters James Ford and William H. McClellan left Fire Headquarters for New York City to confer with Commissioner Edward Thompson regarding the latest models in rescue wagons and fireboats.

We first visited the office of the Fire Commissioner and the Acting Chief of Department and explained to them that the City of Boston was interested in obtaining a new rescue wagon and had been giving some thought to the purchase of a fireboat in the near future. The commissioner assigned a department car and chauffeurs while we were in the city.

The commissioner requested that we visit their Training Division in Welfare Island where a group of two hundred new men were being trained for fire fighting. The Acting Chief of Department called the Deputy Chief in charge of Maintenance and instructed him to make available to us blueprints of the rescue wagon and the costs.

We first visited the shop and the chief there spent about an hour with us explaining all about the equipment and of small problems which arose during the construction of the wagon. He showed us one that we were interested in.

We went from there to Welfare Island and spent about two hours with the drillmaster and the new men being trained and spoke to the officers on their drilling procedures.

The second day we spent visiting the new fireboat stationed at the Battery. We were shown all the latest devices used in waterfront fire fighting. We met the Chief in Charge of the Marine Division and were shown plans of their newest boat and a new crash boat which will be used for airplane crashes and can be used in shallow water of 2 to 3 inches.

We visited the fire station where the Rescue was stationed and the officer in charge and all the members took out all the appliances, explained them to us and showed us where they were stored in the wagon. We talked to the men who drive the apparatus and used the equipment, and they were all high in their praise of the wagon and the service it rendered. Their only additional recommendation was that the windshield should be bigger and give them a better view while responding to alarms.

We were fortunate in that while we were there we were permitted to watch a half-hour drill on their closed television circuit. This drill is presented to the department each week for all members on duty. The drill is repeated on the apparatus floor after the television showing.

We left the quarters of the Rescue Company with many pictures of same and all information that we were seeking for the type of truck most suited to rescue work.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN A. MARTIN,
Chief of Department.

The commander of a unit in Tokyo, a crusty colonel, came into his adjutant's office with a letter in his hand and asked curtly, "Haven't these people got the word on the proper form for requests of this kind?"

The adjutant replied that the unit probably had not had the necessary instructions at the time of the request, but he was sure they had them by now.

"Okay. Send this back and have them re-submit in the proper form," the colonel barked. Then he added, "And when it gets back here the answer is 'No.'"

Boston Firemen Offer N. Y. Aid in Sabbath Fire Crisis 300 Win Praise of New York Fire Department

Some 300 Boston fire fighters—wearing their Sunday best—offered their unlimited aid last week end when New York City found itself confronted with one of the toughest fire problems in its history.

Driven by winds which reached up to 70 miles an hour, a fire was racing on a 15-mile front across Staten Island. From 6 A.M. to 6 P.M. on Sunday, April 21, more than 1,800 fire alarms were sounded across the metropolitan city. All but a small percentage of the New York Fire Department were on active duty.

On Staten Island a state of emergency had been declared by Acting Mayor Paul R. Screvane. He asked for stand-by orders for 4,500 National Guardsmen to prevent looting in Staten Island homes in the path of the flames.

The Boston delegation of fire fighters was headed by Commissioner Thomas J. Griffin and Chief John A. Martin. They were in New York to attend the 16th annual communion breakfast of the New York fire fighters at Hotel Manhattan.

Griffin and Martin, on learning of the catastrophic proportions to which the situation appeared to be reaching at noon, conferred with Boston Fire Fighters Union officials and these individuals agreed to volunteer their services to the New York Department.

However, a New York City Fire official, John Coffey, told the Boston delegation that the fire was under control and their services would not be necessary.

Acting Mayor Screvane was so impressed with the Bostonians' concern for the safety of New Yorkers he sent the following message to Richard J. Sinnott, Mayor Collins' press secretary, who was with the Boston group:

"On behalf of 3 million New Yorkers, I want to thank Commissioner Griffin, Chief Martin, and 300 Boston Fire Fighters for their sincere concern and fine offer of help to assist us in our moment of need. Cooperation like this typifies the brotherhood that exists between the New York and Boston Departments. We salute you!"

Later, Deputy Coffey told Sinnott that the Boston offer had so impressed the interest of New York that the story was told by the world-wide wires of United Press International and the Associated Press.

Health Department Nurse Painting Wins Art Show Acclaim

An oil painting by James Mitchell of Roxbury, portraying Mrs. Lillie Hayes, public health nurse with the Boston Health Department, was placed on display at the Hotel Touraine in a two-day exhibit of works of New England Negro artists.

Mrs. Hayes is assigned to the Savin Street Health Unit in Roxbury.

"The painting, a street scene," says Mr. Mitchell, "is sort of a thank you to all public health nurses for what they do." It is an attempt to portray what the public health nurse means to those with whom she comes in contact in her daily round of Health Department activities. She is more than "a nurse" who appears in connection with illness. "She is a person," says Mitchell, "concerned with many problems." In the course of her work she comes to know and be part of the area in which her Health Unit is located.

Artist Mitchell lives with his family at 9 Wyoming street, Roxbury. He became interested in the Boston Health Department when a member of his family became seriously ill. Ever since he can remember, he has painted. Most of his works are still lifes or portraits. More recently he has become interested in painting scenes which have a historical background or portray life. The painting of Mrs. Hayes was exhibited at Freedom House in February. Mitchell has had other works exhibited at Atlanta University and Tuskegee Institute.

The exhibit at the Hotel Touraine was held in conjunction with the celebration of the Centennial of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. On display were the works by about 30 New England artists. Judges will select paintings from this exhibit to go on to the national exhibit in Chicago. For its Centennial, the National Association also is publishing a souvenir booklet with a single painting by each of 20 artists.

SERVICE WITH A HEART—On a canvas of James Mitchell of Roxbury, Mrs. Lillie Hayes, public health nurse of the Boston Health Department, is portrayed in oils as she discusses the problems of two Roxbury girls.

City Hospital Granted $1.7 Million For 7-Year Child Disease Study

Boston City Hospital has been awarded a grant of $1.7 million by the National Institutes of Health for the intensive care and study of child victims of diseases which have long resisted effective "breakthroughs" by medical science.

Announcement of the huge grant, which provides for a dramatic seven-year program, was made yesterday by Dr. John F. Conlin, superintendent of the hospital, at a meeting of executives called by Dr. Leon R. Lezer, deputy superintendent for medicine.

Administration of the care-study program will be under direction of Dr. Sydney S. Gellis, director of pediatrics at City Hospital and dean of the Boston University Medical School. He will be assisted by Dr. Robert Klein of Newton, pediatrics research director and professor of pediatrics at Boston University Medical.

The National Institutes of Health is an agency of the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Under terms of the grant $500,000 will be made available next month for the first year of the program. In the next succeeding six years $200,000 will be provided annually.

Hailing the confidence expressed in Boston City Hospital and its wide and long record of achievement in the field of medical research, Dr. Conlin said the hospital was ready to start the program in May.

Targets of the program will be a wide variety of baffling, often obscure and often chronic diseases of childhood. Under its administration child patients will be accorded intense bedside care.

While its operation will be primarily in the hands of the hospital's Pediatric Service, all the major medical and surgical services of the hospital will participate.

An outstanding feature of the provisions of the grant is that all cost billings for the patients will be defrayed by the funds.

Deputy Superintendent C. J. D'Amato, in charge of hospital maintenance and construction, said yesterday that $100,000 from the initial funds will be used for extensive alterations and remodeling of the first floor of the hospital's nine-story Children's building.

Plans are already under way with the view of adapting the entire first floor of the structure to the needs of the highly geared program.

The program will be apart from the present Bill Cunningham Births Defects Center, the creation and maintenance of which has been made possible by the National Foundation and seven eastern Massachusetts' chapters of that voluntary health organization through the annual March of Dimes.

Today the hospital's Pediatric Services have an in-patient load of nearly 5,000 children a year. Under Dr. Gellis's administration in the last five years many advances have been made and a number of highly valued research programs have been undertaken.

Dr. Gellis, a native of Claremont, New Hampshire, graduated from Harvard in 1934 and from Harvard Medical School in 1938. He pursued his studies in the field of pediatrics at Yale, University of Cincinnati, and Johns Hopkins University. Previous to coming to City Hospital he served as chief of the Children's Hospital's Out-Patient Department and then as pediatrics chief at Beth Israel Hospital.

Dr. Klein, a resident of Newton, is a graduate of Harvard Medical School. He was a member of the medical faculty at University of Pittsburgh before joining the faculty of the Boston University Medical School. He has been associated with the pediatrics service at City Hospital since last July.

surgery at Boston University School of Medicine, will preside at the day-long session sponsored by the Hospital's Boston University service to present new knowledge to hospital staff, house officers, and medical students.

THAT'S MY DAD—James F. Leonard, Jr., son of the late editor of the City Record tells George R. O'Connell, dinner chairman for the "Salute to a Champion" dinner of the Poland Spring Caddy Camp Alumni, as he points to his father's memorial plaque.

The Jim Leonard Memorial is one of three unveiled April 21, at Furnace Brook Golf Club, when the ex-Poland Spring caddies meet for their annual dinner.

Mrs. Eleanor Leonard, widow of the late newsman, made the presentation in Jim's memory, to the Very Rev. William J. Healy, S.J., former president of Holy Cross College.

Boston Hailed As Mayor Accepts Flag

Official presentation of Boston's newly won All-America Flag was made April 22 at a luncheon attended by 1,000 persons at Hotel Sheraton. Representatives of business, political, financial, labor, and various neighborhood groups watched as Mayor Collins accepted the flag.

The award was made by Vernon C. Myers, publisher of Look magazine, and Dr. George H. Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion and former president of the National Municipal League, which with Look cosponsors the annual awards competition.

Dr. Gallup cited the tremendous problems facing older urban areas.

"But you in Boston are doing something about it," he said, "not just on the front of urban renewal for downtown, but in a whole series of business, governmental, and private citizen actions that attack the wide range of economic and human problems that must be corrected if you are to breath vigor back into one of America's truly great cities."

He listed the Prudential Center, waterfront planning, neighborhood councils, study work by Action for Boston Community Development, Teenage Organization for Urban Renewal and "the many merchant and citizen organizations in every section of the city that are bringing about improvements in recreational, business, and housing facilities."

Dr. Gallup was chairman of the jury which chose Boston for the honor.

Mayor Collins said, "For the first time, every segment of Boston's citizenry is actively involved and working together. The people of Boston have rolled up their sleeves and have gone to work."

Myers said, "You have more traditions, and more holidays to celebrate those traditions, than any city in the Western Hemisphere.

"We are meeting today to establish another tradition, the tradition of a new and revitalized Boston."

C. of C. Endorses Gov't. Center Re-use Plan

The formal re-use plan for the Government Center Project was endorsed by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce at a hearing before the Boston Redevelopment Authority at Faneuil Hall.

In testimony submitted to the BRA, William J. Furlong, vice president of the Allied Research and Service Corporation and chairman of the Chamber's metropolitan affairs committee, stated that the development of the Scollay Square-Bowdoin Square-Haymarket Square area will "truly provide a setting of governmental activity worthy of our historical tradition. Moreover, the center will provide the facilities for efficient and economic government."

Furlong pointed out the economic benefits which will accrue to Boston through the new Government Center. The adjacent and convenient retail area, he said, will be given a "tremendous boost" because of the influx of additional business, office traffic and visitors to nearby historic shrines.

"The pleasing blend of modern and historic architecture in the Government Center, its accessibility to and from all parts of Boston and its inclusion of pedestrian arcades insures that this part of the city will be commercially more attractive. The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce strongly urges approval of the plan in the light that it is a bold and dramatic step forward," Furlong stated.

Blue-Gray "Wagons" For Boston's Police

Anticipating the "New Boston Look," Boston's Police Department has decided to toss out the black color scheme of another era for its combination ambulette-patrol cars and to discard also the pallid white-cream of more recent years. New colors for the wagons which will bring patients to hospitals as well as deliver lawbreakers to the booking desks will be gray and blue.

Senior Citizens Show At Horticultural Hall

Greater Boston's senior citizens will have their "place in the sun" on Friday, May 10, at the 13th annual "Senior Citizens Activities Show," sponsored by United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston, at Horticultural Hall.

Men and women over 60 years old will exhibit and demonstrate their hobbies during the day-long show, which is held to recognize the contribution of Greater Boston's older citizens.

Named as chairman of the show was Henry J. Blake, former president of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Blake announced that a new feature of this year's show would be a morning seminar on "Problems of the Aging," which will focus on basic problems for elderly persons, including housing, transportation, medical care, and food.

N.Y.U. Honors Three Boston Police Officers

Three members of the Boston Police Department were honored April 23 by the New York University Law School in ceremonies held in Mayor Collins' office.

Receiving the Judge Jerome Frank Awards were Deputy Superintendent William A. Bradley, administrative assistant to Police Commissioner Edmund L. McNamara, and Detectives Robert H. Costello and Robert E. Hayden. The awards were presented by Professor Robert McKay, associate dean of the law school.

The officers were chosen for their efforts in clearing a murder suspect, who originally said he and his friend, the victim, were beaten up in a South End alley by six youths.

The officers later obtained a confession from one of the six youths involved.

Detours Forced By Turnpike Extension

Commissioner of Traffic and Parking Thomas F. Carty directed that beginning Sunday, April 21, for a period estimated to be approximately one year, two major detours will go into effect. These detours are necessitated by the reconstruction of two bridges over the right of way of the Massachusetts Turnpike Extension.

Boylston street, between Massachusetts avenue and Hereford street, has been closed to all traffic. In cooperation with the Metropolitan District Commission a rotary traffic pattern has been set up in the Fenway area bounded by Boylston street, Park Drive, Agassiz road, and the Fenway in order to reroute traffic more easily to other alternate routes.

The Washington Street Bridge, between Broadway and Herald street, will be closed to all traffic. Inbound traffic will be rerouted via Herald street, Harrison Avenue Bridge, and Broadway. Outbound Harrison avenue traffic will be rerouted via a right turn into Broadway and a left turn into Shawmut avenue.

Common Face Lift Planned by Mayor

A $100,000 program for the beautification of Boston Common is outlined in a request to the City Council by Mayor Collins seeking authorization for funds from the Parkman Trust Fund. The program would make the famed Common one of the city's show places night and day.

Dr. Ritvo Memorial Unveiled in Randolph

A memorial to the late Dr. Max Ritvo, head of X-Ray Services at Boston City Hospital, who died a year ago, will be unveiled Sunday, April 28, at Temple Emanuel of Newton Memorial Park, Randolph. Many former associates of Dr. Ritvo at City Hospital are expected to attend.

All City Employees To Get Conflict Booklet

The following directive to all department heads was issued April 22 by Director Henry A. Scagnoli of the Administrative Services Department:

"A booklet has been prepared for all municipal personnel on the Conflict of Interest Law which will become effective May 1, and a copy of this message must be placed in the hands of every officer and employee of the city. Also new employees, permanent, provisional, or emergency, should be given a copy when entering your department. Printed copies of this message are available at the City Printing plant from which you immediately should requisition the supply needed for your department.

"Because of the importance of this matter, it is requested that you take the necessary steps to see that each employee within your jurisdiction is given a copy immediately.

"This is a matter of extreme importance and should be given immediate, personal attention.

Nigerian in Study of Hub Welfare System

Robert Olajide of Ibadan, Nigeria spent a day with the Boston Welfare Department last week and had a first-hand look at how Boston aids welfare recipients.

Mr. Olajide, who has been a student at the Boston College School of Social Work, is headed back to Nigeria where he will establish the first school of social work for employees working in social services and related fields. He is hopeful that this demonstration project will prompt establishment of more advanced social service courses at Nigerian universities. He is the second foreign visitor to the department in recent months.

"Kindly advise this office when you have made 100 per cent distribution."

Predicts Boston To Be Top Convention City

New Boston's potential as the "convention capital of the country" was hailed by Joseph McCarthy, director of sales for Boston's new Hotel America, at the April meeting of the Hotel Accountants Association of Boston.

Hotel America, scheduled to open in the early spring of 1965 will have about 1,025 rooms, banquet accommodations for 2,000, and a direct connection with the Hub's new War Memorial Auditorium with its 150,000 square feet of exhibit space and a seating capacity of 6,000.

Although the average occupancy rate in the city is in the low 70's, Mr. McCarthy said, the new hotel's objective is better than 80 per cent. To reach this level, he emphasized, it must succeed in "merchandising the many advantages of Boston" to people across the country, and, in so doing, it will certainly stimulate business throughout the city.

Eleanor D. Westfall

Mrs. Eleanor D. Westfall, 61, of 96 Morton street, Jamaica Plain, and Bass River on Cape Cod, died recently at the Phillips House, Massachusetts General Hospital.

She was the first director of the Boston Public School lunch program, and had held that post for the past 20 years.

BPL One of Nation's Outstanding Libraries

Founded in 1852 as the first of all public city libraries, the Boston Public Library remains as one of the world's outstanding. It shares with the New York Public Library the distinction of being the only two public libraries which are qualified for membership in the National Association of Research Libraries.

The BPL circulates about 3.5 million volumes a year. It stocks 5,500 current periodicals and 188 current newspapers, including 54 from other countries.

U. S. Approval Gained On Roxbury Project

The Urban Renewal Administration in Washington granted final approval, April 22, for plans for the 502-acre Washington Park, Roxbury project.

The $17 million made available by the grant will enable the Boston Redevelopment Authority to launch on a fairly large scale this spring or summer a massive rehabilitation program.

Already the authority is relocating 500 families from a 35-acre tract under a loan approved several months ago.

Ground is expected to be broken in early July for 202 units of moderate-income housing on the site of the Notre Dame Academy, off Columbus avenue near Dimock street.

Seventy per cent of the renewal area bounded by Dudley street,

Warren street, Blue Hill avenue, Seaver street, Columbus avenue, and Washington street is slated for rehabilitation work.

A site office has been opened in the Washington Park area, where a pilot rehabilitation program is under way.

Residents in the area will be eligible to receive FHA backed rehabilitation loans.

The approval is the first to be given for the city's residential project areas and is one of the largest to be approved by federal officials.

The estimated cost of the project is $27 million.

A hundred twenty-five families have been relocated. The project will require relocation of 1,689 families and 563 single householders. Relocation will take four years.

The plan calls for construction of 500 new housing units.

Prudential Tower To Flash Nightly Salute

The old one-four-three light flashes of Minot's Light which romantics declared was Morse code for "I-Love-You" have gone into discard in this era of Loran and Radar but now the Prudential Tower will have a continual nightly message in action.

Four signal towers will spell out "N-E-W B-O-S-T-O-N" in flashes from all four sides of the building.

Senior Vice President Thomas Allsopp of Prudential said the "New Boston Lights" are Prudential's way of paying tribute "to the great effort, time, and energy of all the people who won this award for Boston."

The four white lights, fixed in place on the 52d floor, will flash a continuing message. They will be visible from almost any ground point within the Greater Boston area.

Dr. J. Laurence Golden

Funeral services for Dr. J. Laurence Golden, 57, of Robinson Park, Winchester, visiting entgenologist at Boston City Hospital, and instructor in radiology at Harvard Medical School, were held April 16 at St. Joseph's Church, Medford.

He died April 12 at Lawrence Memorial Hospital, Medford. A native of Woburn he received his medical degree cum laude at Tufts University in 1928 and was engaged in private practice in Medford for 32 years. He was chief roentologist at Lawrence Memorial Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital Lowell.

Mayor Cites Unity at Dedication of Chapel

The increasing cooperation of worshippers of all faiths, as evidenced in Boston today, was hailed by Mayor Collins at services marking the dedication of the new street-level chapel of the Tremont Temple Baptist Church. The colonial-style chapel is the gift of Deacon and Mrs. J. B. Currie of Cambridge.

Council OK's Mayor's Pay Raise Schedule

Mayor Collins' request for $3.5 million for pay raises for City and Suffolk County workers received approval of the City Council at its meeting April 22. About 10,000 employees will be affected. The increases will be retroactive to March 6.

Administrative Services Director Henry A. Scagnoli said it would be four to six weeks before the fire and police raises are distributed because of administrative procedures. Other city workers will have to wait a minimum of 60 days for the money, he said, while new pay rules are worked out.

Personnel Order No. 104.

Patrolmen Remi C. Kennedy, Louis W. DesRoche, and Stephen P. Gaffney of District 14 are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

At about 4:05 A.M., on Wednesday, March 13, 1963, Patrolman Kennedy, on foot patrol, and in the vicinity of Brighton avenue and Commonwealth avenue, observed three men riding in a 1958 Chevrolet sedan on Malvern street acting in a suspicious manner. Almost immediately, Patrolmen Gaffney and DesRoche in Section 14-R car were at the scene and observed the actions of the occupants of this car. They were hailed by Patrolman Kennedy and proceeded after the car. The suspects failed to stop and were not apprehended until they were forced to the side of the street in front of the Food Fair at 525 Harvard street, Brookline.

The three officers approached the car with guns drawn, Patrolman Kennedy at the observer's side and Patrolman Gaffney and DesRoche at the driver's side. As Patrolman DesRoche spoke with the operator of the vehicle, Patrolmen Gaffney and Kennedy flashed their lights into the car and observed a number of burglarious tools in the back seat, including a Saber saw, a crowbar, and several boxes of latex rubber gloves. The three suspects were then taken into custody as suspicious persons—possession of burglarious tools. An immediate search of the car was made and two loaded guns, one a .45 caliber and the other a .38 caliber, a bag of money, and a valuable ring were found.

At the station house, the suspects were identified as James Lennon, 20 years, single, of 742A Neponset avenue, Norwood; William Stone, 21 years, married,

During the same tour of duty, a break was discovered at the Commonwealth Chevrolet Building, 1065 Commonwealth avenue in which two safes had been broken into. The valuable ring, referred to above was identified as having been taken from one of these safes. The three suspects were interrogated at length and they finally admitted this crime as well as other similar breaks throughout Greater Boston.

These officers continued to work on their own time to obtain additional information and after many hours of investigation, they arrested a fourth man, one George Knecht, as the man who allegedly sold the guns to the culprits.

Lennon, Stone, and Brink were arraigned before Judge Charles Artesani in Brighton District Court on March 15, 1963, on three counts of breaking and entering in the nighttime, possession of burglarious tools, and possession of firearms. Probable cause was found and they were held for the grand jury in bail of $20,000, $25,000, and $30,000 respectively.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the alertness, courage, and devotion to duty displayed by Patrolmen Kennedy, DesRoche, and Gaffney in this case which resulted in the apprehension of three individuals who, in all probability, would have continued their safebreaking activities if not taken into custody.

The following-named officer is hereby classified in accordance with the provisions of chapter 735, Acts of 1950, with change in salary as designated, effective Wednesday, April 17, 1963, at 7:45 o'clock A.M.:

April 17.

Personnel Order No. 106.

Patrolman John C. Collins of District 10 is hereby commended for meritorious police duty and is granted three days' additional vacation.

At about 3 P.M., on Saturday, April 6, 1963, Patrolman Collins, while on a day of relief, and in the company of his brother, Patrolman Jeremiah J. Collins of District 11, observed a young boy, later identified as Paul L. Nadeau, 11 years of age, of 3 Conrad street, Dorchester, fully clothed, fall off a pier into the frigid waters of the South Boston lagoon.

The boy was quickly caught up in the strong undercurrent which was pulling him into the bay when Patrolman Collins, fully clothed, and without thought of his own life and safety, plunged off the pier, swam to the side of the boy and managed with difficulty to swim back to the pier with him where both were assisted from the water by several onlookers.

The Nadeau boy was driven to his home by a witness to this accident, one Ann Karass, 24 years, of 196 N street, South Boston, and placed in the care of his parents.

In the course of the rescue, Patrolman Collins suffered a severe injury to his right lower leg which required medical attention and having swallowed considerable sea water, became ill. This officer was removed to the Boston City Hospital by his brother where his leg injury required three stitches to close the laceration. Dr. Rudolph Vollman, the attending physician, released him after treatment and instructed the officer to report to the Out-Patient Department on Friday, April 12.

However, on Monday, April 8, Patrolman Collins suffering from a high temperature was removed, again, to the Boston City Hospital. On examination by Dr. Charles Meader and Dr. Lawrence Wilde, it was found that his lacerated leg had become infected, requiring the removal of the stitches and re-treatment of the injury. He was directed to obtain immediate bed rest with frequent hot applications to his leg to reduce the infection.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the courage, heroism, and devotion to duty displayed by Patrolman Collins, in this case who, without thought of his own safety, successfully saved the life of a young boy thereby reflecting great credit not only upon himself, but upon the entire personnel of the department as well.

Building Inspectors' School Report

February 25, 1963.

HON. JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor,
City Hall, Boston, Mass.

Subject: Fourteenth Annual Building Inspectors School Sponsored by Eastern States Building Officials Federation February 21 and 22, 1963, Hotel New Yorker, New York City.

DEAR SIR:

I left City Hall at 11.30 A.M. on February 20, for Logan Airport and the twelve o'clock flight via Eastern Air Lines for New York. Arrived at La Guardia Airport at 1.15 P.M., then took a cab to the Victoria Hotel. That night I attended a meeting of the Executive Board with President William H. Lindsay, Jr., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, presiding. We discussed the program and expenses incurred conducting the school. This meeting adjourned at 10 P.M.

February 21, 9 A.M., registration at the Hotel New Yorker. President William H. Lindsay, Jr., opened the meeting and welcomed the delegates to the school. Mr. Slenker, Immediate Past President, Allentown, Pennsylvania, announced that Rt. Rev. Msgr. Ronald B. MacDonald, Resident Engineer for the Archdiocese of the City of New York, who usually gives the invocation had undergone a serious operation, but was on the road to recovery and extended his greetings and blessings to the assembly.

President Lindsay then introduced the chairman, Arthur J. Benline, Commissioner, Department of Air Pollution Control, New York City, who in turn introduced Harold Birns, Commissioner of Buildings, New York City, who extended to the members the greetings of the city. His remarks were concerned with the building boom now going on in New York and the vast amount of work being done in the vicinity of La Guardia Airport; that is, the extension of the airport and the preparation and erection of buildings which will be a part of the World's Fair site in June of 1964-65.

I was appointed to serve on the Planning Committee. Arthur Benline announced that the 1964 Convention of the Building Officials Conference of America would be held in New York City. He next introduced Eugene M. Quinlan from Boston, Massachusetts. The subject of his discussion was "Zoning Developments for the Building Official." He cited many interesting cases that had been tried in the various courts in the country stressing the fact that Board of Appeal decisions in many instances nullify zoning regulations. In a number of cases, hardship was not the issue, but a decision granting a variance would be rendered because it might attract new business. He further stated that zoning varies in every city and town in the country. It is based on local needs and specific conditions. In a great many cases, the lack of foresight and long-range viewing shows up because of hasty and unwise zoning regulations. Mr. Quinlan's talk was very well received as it was most enlightening and informative.

"Public Relations for the Public Official" was the topic discussed by Kenneth Kowald, Esq. Good public relations are attained by keeping the public informed of what is going on in the various departments and treating everybody with courtesy and fairness. In general, to be honest and sincere with the public will result in good public relations. Mr. Kowald cited a number of instances that explained how good and bad public relations were attained.

The next speaker was Ralph P. Dupont, Esq., from New London, Connecticut. He discussed "Legal Enforcement Aspects and Right of Entry." In his talk he stressed the proper enforcement of the Building and Zoning Codes in the various courts: No. 1, make sure of your facts; No. 2, make sure you are operating within boundaries of the codes and are citing the particulars of the violations. The right of entry should only be exercised in serious cases where the protection of life in dangerous structures is concerned. The courts as a rule take a dim view of forceful entry, especially entry into a person's, home.

S. J. Schulman, Director of Planning, Westchester County, New York, spoke on "County and Municipal Cooperation." Thank goodness, we don't have this problem to contend with in the Building Department.

Adjourned for lunch.

The luncheon speaker was Dr. William W. Wall, Head of Department of English, Lafayette College, Easton, Pennsylvania. He has published books of humorous prose and verses, also articles in the New Yorker and Esquire magazines. He was an excellent luncheon speaker, amusing and intelligent. He quoted from his book and, particularly, verses and prose that were in some way connected with buildings; that is, electrical, plumbing, and other aspects of the construction industry. The delegation really enjoyed Dr. Wall. His book is entitled "One Man's Meter." Of course, he made it quite clear that he was not talking about electrical, gas, or water meters.

The afternoon session was conducted by Edmund J. Mautte, first Vice President and Building Inspector from Pleasantville, New York. He introduced W. N. Lawton, Fire Protection Consultant from Providence, Rhode Island. The important feature of his discourse concerned buildings equipped with sprinklers. In case of fire, of course, the sprinkler system should operate automatically. Valves and sprinkler heads should be installed in such a manner that they will be easily accessible and will perform efficiently when needed.

The next speaker was David Schoenber, Esq., Legal Consultant for the Department of Urban Renewal and Economic Development, Rochester, New York. His topic was "The Building Official's Role in the Housing Field."

The next event was a Round Table discussion which was informative and interesting. It was followed by the reports of the Nominating Committee, other committees and the election of officers for the coming year.

School adjourned at 5 P.M.

Friday, February 22, school reconvened at 9.15 A.M. William H. Poneleit, second Vice President and Building Commissioner from Bridgeport, Connecticut, presided. The first speaker was David Rogan of the Berko Electric Manufacturing Corporation. His topic was "Electric Panel Heating—Products and Installation." He emphasized the strides that have been made in electric heating for homes, especially, and the benefits that electrical heat provides; mainly cleanliness, individual room thermostats, simplicity of installation and replacement of parts plus the safety factors that have been put into modern electric heating. However, a favorable electricity rate is certainly desirable and whether or not the electric companies' source of supply is adequate.

The next speaker was Walter E. Gray, Superintendent of Public Buildings, Waltham, Massachusetts. He discussed "Fire Stopping and Prevention Methods." He had a series of slides that showed where fire stopping was necessary in a building and discussed the different methods and materials used to provide proper fire stopping. The showing of his slides and his talk was of value to all building inspectors.

"Vibratory Pile Driving" was the subject discussed by Professor Gregory P. Tschoboroff, Princeton University, Princeton, New Jersey, who was born in Russia. He had a series of slides showing the different types of vibratory pile driving equipment. We saw slides of pile driving in Russia, France, and the United States. I was surprised to learn that vibratory pile driving has been in existence since about 1945. However, it is only recently that this system of pile driving is proving itself feasible and economically sound.

At 11.30 A.M. we were addressed by the presidents of the different building officials organizations: BOCA, ESBOF, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, and New England. Of course, they all expounded on their individual organizations.

We adjourned for lunch and our luncheon speaker was Brigadier General William Whipple, Jr., Chief Engineer. He spoke on the Code and Construction problems connected with the erection of structures for the World's Fair which will be held in New York in 1964-65. The World's Fair location is close by La Guardia Airport. The soil problems are many because of peat, silt, and water conditions, plus the difficulties of working around new roadways and new construction going on at the La Guardia Airport. However, General Whipple feels that this World's Fair is really going to be an outstanding event and of great benefit to New York City and the country as a whole.

At 2.30 I attended a Board of Directors' Meeting at which time we met with the new officers and had a recapitulation of the School Program and made memoranda for next year's school.

Saturday, February 23, at 10 A.M., we had a Board of Directors' Meeting at which time we approved the bills and took care of the expenses of the school.

I left for Boston on the 7 P.M. flight via Eastern Air Lines and then to my home by cab.

It was an informative school which was well attended.

Respectfully yours,

EDMUND J. MORGAN.

The navy prides itself on assigning most of the graduates of Basic Submarine School to the home port of their choice. At the formal inspection just before our graduation, the inspecting officer asked the chief petty officer next to me, "Where are you going for a home port, chief?"

"Norfolk, sir," was the reply.

"Did you ask for Norfolk?"

"No, sir."

The inspecting officer's smile faded. But before he could say anything, the chief added, "My wife did!"

Both copies shall be filed before the time stated above for the opening of the general bids.

No general bid may be withdrawn after the time limit for filing general bids and for five (5) days (Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays excluded), from the opening of the general bids. In addition, no general bid filed by the three lowest responsible and eligible general bidders may be withdrawn prior to execution and delivery of the general contract, unless no award has been made upon expiration of the prescribed time thereof.

The rate per hour of the wages to be paid to mechanics, teamsters, chauffeurs, and laborers in the work to be performed shall not be less than the rate of wages determined for this work by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts under the provisions of General Laws (Ter. Ed.), chapter 149, sections 26-27D, inclusive, as amended, a schedule of which rates appears in the specifications.

The successful general bidder will be required to provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Law, General Laws (Ter. Ed.), chapter 152, to all persons to be employed under the contract, and sufficient proof of compliance with the foregoing stipulation will be required before commencing performance of the contract.

The general bids will be deemed to relate to that signed set of plans and specifications for the project on file at the office of the Awarding Authority designated above and bidders will act at their own risk if any variance exists between the aforesaid plans and specifications and the plans and specifications furnished to the bidder by the Awarding Authority. In short, each bidder has the burden of checking to make certain that the plans and specifications furnished to the bidder is a true and complete copy of the plans and specifications on file as aforesaid.

Plans and specifications and other contract documents may be obtained at the office of the Awarding Authority upon deposit of a certified check for $5 payable to the City of Boston. The full amount of the deposit will be refunded upon return of all documents in good condition within thirty (30) days after the opening of general bids.

A performance bond and also a labor and materials or payment bond, each of a surety company qualified to do business under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and satisfactory to the Awarding Authority and each in the sum of 100 per cent of the contract price, will be required of the successful general bidder.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to waive any informalities and to reject any or all general bids if it be in the public interest so to do, in accordance with section 44D, chapter 149, of the General Laws, as amended.

The Right Reverend Christopher P. Griffin, chaplain of the City Council, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY THE RIGHT REVEREND CHRISTOPHER P. GRIFFIN.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Almighty God, may we begin this new work week with the assurance of Thy presence and Thy Guidance. There are no crises we cannot face, no temptations we cannot master, no problems we cannot solve, no wrongs we cannot right, no victories for justice we cannot win, when Thou art our companion and counselor. Our task is to share in the government, guidance, and protection of this great city, so that its citizens may achieve the highest and happiest life within its borders. We are not disheartened, nor discouraged with the problems but neither can we doubt nor deny that with this God-given vocation to public office there came also the God-given energies and powers to achieve the beneficent goals before us.

Hear us, bless us, O Lord, our Divine Redeemer.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

CLASSIFICATION OF MUNICIPAL EMPLOYEES UNDER CONFLICTS OF INTEREST STATUTE.

The following was received:

MEMORANDUM.

To: Town Counsel, City Solicitors, Selectmen, City Councillors, Town and City Clerks.

From: Edward W. Brooke, Attorney General.

Re: Classification under Chapter 779 of the Acts of 1962.

My office has received many inquiries from municipal officials and employees concerning their responsibilities and duties under the new conflicts of interest legislation. These inquiries have been concerned with the classification of municipal employees under the conflicts of interest statute. The purpose of this memorandum is to help those on the local level with the problem of classification.

This bulletin will not serve as a substitute for careful reference to and study of Chapter 779 of the Acts of 1962.

The basic principles exemplified by the statute are simple to state. Generally, the conflicts portion of the statute attempts to regulate the conduct of public employees so that their private interests will not conflict with their public duties. The statute does nothing more or less than reiterate a rule long adhered to by many employees, both public and private; namely, a person who is entrusted with the business of others should not be allowed to make such business the object of profit to himself.

Before entering into a discussion of classification as such, it should be pointed out that the statute provides that any municipal employee shall be entitled to the opinion of his corporation counsel, city solicitor or town counsel upon any question under the statute pertaining to the duties, responsibilities and interests of such employee. Such requests for opinions must be reduced to writing and channeled through the chief officer of the municipal agency which employs the party requesting an opinion. The law does not authorize the Attorney General's office to give official opinions on the local level, but only authorizes the Attorney General's office to render such opinions to state employees and officers. Local municipal counsel should make every effort to expeditiously assist every municipal employee, upon a proper request, to obtain a clear understanding of his responsibilities and disabilities under the Act.

In essence, the so-called conflicts of interest portion of the statute under discussion sets up a dichotomy between so-called "special municipal employees" and "municipal employees." When considering a "conflicts" problem under this statute, initially, it must be determined whether the local public official or employee has been categorized as a "special." His classification often determines whether the local official or employee can have certain private interests or private employment. Obviously, the process of classification is of key importance and it will be discussed in what follows.

Section 1(n) provides for classification of municipal employees as "special municipal employees" by the boards of selectmen, city councils and boards of aldermen of the municipalities. In the absence of such a classification, the statute provides that all employees are to be treated as full-time or regular municipal employees. It should be noted that by definition the terms of the statute are not applicable to town meeting members (section 1(g)). The statute provides the classification shall be made by employing standards reasonably related to "the stated purpose and terms and provisions of this chapter." The reference to the "stated purpose" refers to the section entitled "Declaration of Intent" in section 1 of a draft version of this chapter. This section was deleted in the General Court before the bill was enacted and the reference has become meaningless. Thus, standards of classification are required to be "reasonably related" only "to the terms and provisions of this chapter." An unreasonable or dishonest classification would be the proper subject of judicial review. Further, it seems clear that a dishonest or corrupt classification would be void.

Reasonable relation to "the terms and provisions of this chapter" has primary reference to two types of provision: First, the analogous definitions of "special state employee" in section 1(o) and "special county employee" in section 1(n); second, the substantive prohibitions and exemptions of sections 17-22, in which the term "special municipal employee" appears.

Referring to these sections then, it can be seen that there are several standards for classification that can be employed by the selectmen, aldermen and city councillors in their deliberations. Some of these standards are as follows:

First. It would be proper to classify a municipal employee as "special," even though he is an elected official for whom compensation is provided. The statute precludes, by definition, elected state and county officials being classified as special. The omission of any similar limitation indicates that no similar general prohibition was intended on the municipal level.

Second. Since the statute provides for "special" classification of state and county employees if they occupy a position "for which no compensation is provided," municipal employees may properly be classified as "special" under similar circumstances. Again, referring to the preceding paragraph, it is clear that if no compensation is provided, the principle expressed would apply regardless of the fact that the employee is an "elected official."

Third. State and county employees, other than elected officials, are "special" if the position permits personal or private employment during normal working hours. This same standard could likewise be utilized on the local level and would provide yet another standard for classifying municipal employees.

Fourth. The statute provides that a state or county employee, other than an elected official, is "special" if, in fact, he "does not earn compensation (as a state or county employee) for an aggregate of more than eight hundred hours during the preceding three hundred sixty-five days." The 800-hour standard was intended to cover those public employees who work full, daily schedules but on a temporary basis.

This standard may or may not have utility for selectmen and city councillors in making their classifications; but it is available for their use.

Fifth. Another standard which should be considered by the appropriate local officials when classifying is the amount of compensation being paid to the official or employee. It would seem that a rate of pay comparable to that of a full-time town employee would justify denial of "special" status to a town or city official. Obviously, it would be difficult to justify "special" status for a superintendent of schools or a chief of police earning a full-time salary, even if there were a vote which permitted private employment during normal working hours.

Sixth. Breadth and scope of authority and responsibility should be considered by the appropriate local officials when making their classifications. Thus, where the classifiers are considering a position which by its nature involves official responsibility for virtually all town functions, it would only be in rare circumstances that such a position or job would warrant "special" categorization.

Differences in structure and size of the many cities and towns throughout the Commonwealth is a valid reason for leaving classification to city and town authorities. It is apparent that the classifiers may take the above-mentioned factors into account in their deliberations concerning classification. Another aspect of classification, about which this office has received many inquiries, concerns the question of who classifies selectmen. It is my opinion that selectmen have the power and discretion under section 1(n) to classify themselves. There is obvious legal risk in this process of self-classification and it should be pointed out that selectmen before classifying themselves as "special municipal employees" should go through a process of painstaking and careful deliberation to decide whether their status in the town is such as would warrant "special" status.

If in particular circumstances a selectman is properly categorized as a "special municipal employee," certain sections of the statute become applicable as a consequence of this status. I will briefly refer to some of the more important of these sections at this point.

Section 18, second paragraph, apparently would allow his law firm to set up a separate firm, in which the selectman took no part, and which would be free to prosecute a claim against the town. Under section 20 (c) the selectman, for example, might be able to make a contract with the School Department if he filed the required statement of disclosure and he did not participate in or have official responsibility for any school activities. In addition, consider also in this regard section 20 (d). Under the latter section he would be able to apply to the Board of Selectmen for an exemption. Note that by virtue of section 19 (1) he would not under section 20 (d) be able to pass on his own application, but would have to disqualify himself from this deliberation. However, his colleagues under the statute could clearly grant the exemption sought. It should be cautioned that selectmen should avoid, if possible, granting each other reciprocal exemptions under section 20 (d). Such action might give rise to the suspicion that the selectmen have abused their discretion and might violate the code of ethics portion of the statute (sections 23 (d) and (f)).

The original classification is not irrevocable and municipal employees can be reclassified by the selectmen at any time. It is to be expected that some necessary adjustments concerning classification will be made in the light of the experience and knowledge gained from the operation of the statute. In the event of such a reclassification, it would operate prospectively.

It is important and significant that the drafters of this statute left the ultimate responsibility for making the all-important classification to the most responsible officials on the local level. Each town of necessity will have to study itself in order to arrive at a proper categorization of its employees. It cannot be expected that complete uniformity will be achieved by the various towns when applying the terms of this statute to their own organizational framework. It can be expected, however, that the appropriate body in each town and city will conscientiously and reasonably make their classifications. I am confident that the towns are going to respond to the huge challenge presented by this statute with measurable success. There has always been some understandable reluctance on the part of some towns to accept new legislation. However, it is clear that reasoned change is essential if local government is to continue to play an important and viable role in promoting the general welfare of the people.

The passage of this statute by the Legislature represented a milestone in the Commonwealth's attempt to root out corruption, favoritism and inefficiency in government. With the passage of this legislation, Massachusetts leads the nation in an excellent and far-reaching attempt to solve conflict of interest problems which have long plagued the citizens and public employees.

As Attorney General I have given the problem of conflicts of interest the highest priority. Obviously, any law enforcement agency is no stronger than the law itself. The conflicts statute will go a long way in giving the law enforcement arms of the Commonwealth the tool they need for ensuring the public welfare.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD W. BROOKE,
Attorney General.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS AND FINANCE.

Coun. SULLIVAN, for the Committee on Appropriations and Finance, submitted the following:

1. On the message of the Mayor and Appropriation and Tax Order for the year 1963, submitted by the Mayor on February 4, 1963, your committee submits the following:

Public hearings were scheduled before the full committee on every City and County Department for which funds were requested. Your committee conducted thirty of these hearings at which department heads and others responsible for the administration of City and County Departments presented their programs and budgetary needs for the year 1963.

At the conclusion of the public hearings your committee met with the Budget Director and his staff of budget analysts and reviewed the budgets of all departments. During this review the budget analysts were requested to submit recommendations for budget reductions based upon information now available, which they did not have at the time the budget was prepared, including an up-to-date estimate of personnel quotas and requirements reflecting the experience of the first three months of this year.

It is quite generally known, but may bear repeating, that the City Council cannot increase the budget as submitted by the Mayor but can only adopt, reduce, or reject the same.

After full discussion and careful consideration, your committee recommends that the Appropriation and Tax Order for the year 1963, submitted by the Mayor on February 4, 1963, be passed with reduced items as shown on the attached schedule:

THOMAS A. SULLIVAN, Chairman.

MINORITY REPORT OF THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE ON URBAN REDEVELOPMENT, REHABILITATION AND RENEWAL.

Coun. McDONOUGH, Chairman of the Committee on Urban Redevelopment, Rehabilitation and Renewal, submitted the following minority report:

Mr. President, I would like to submit an interim report of the Committee on Urban Redevelopment, Rehabilitation and Renewal on the question of the South Cove Urban Renewal Project which came in to this Body on December 17 and has since been pending before the Committee on Urban Redevelopment. As you undoubtedly remember, Mr. President, a hearing was held on this matter, I think it was December 19, two days after the matter came before the Body. At that time the officials from the Tufts New England Medical Center testified they were strongly in favor, and we had a representative of the Chinese community Mr. Lee, who also testified in favor of the project.

Generally, there was, as I remember it, no opposition except for a gentleman who entered the chamber in the course of the hearing, Mr. Robert Lee, and it was my understanding he is president of the Chinese Merchants Association. Though he did not testify, I was led to believe that he as president of the Chinese Merchants Association was not consulted on the South Cove Project and he wanted to be consulted. Since that time I have not heard a word from the Chinese Merchants Association.

Mr. Logue of the Redevelopment Authority has sent a letter to me which I would like to make part of this committee's report. Actually, there are two letters, Mr. President, and I would ask the Clerk to read them.

Boston Redevelopment Authority.

Hon. Patrick F. McDonough, Chairman, Urban Redevelopment, Rehabilitation and Renewal Committee, City Council, City Hall, Boston, Mass.

Dear Councillor McDonough:

You will recall that we agreed to try to get a more complete report on the situation in the Chinese community with respect to the South Cove Project. Attached is a report on our efforts. If you have any questions about it that I could be helpful with, please give me a call.

Sincerely,

EDWARD J. LOGUE.

Boston Redevelopment Authority.

March 15, 1963.

Hon. Patrick F. McDonough, Chairman, Committee for Redevelopment Rehabilitation and Renewal, City Council, Boston, Mass.

Dear Councillor McDonough:

I am writing you concerning the proposed South Cove Survey and Planning Application and the Tufts New England Medical Center Development Plan, which are now before your Honorable Committee.

At the Council meeting on December 27, 1962, you indicated that the Council wished to receive some further clarification of the situation in the South Cove with respect to the Chinese community.

You will recall that at the committee's public hearing held on December 19, 1962, I indicated that we would continue to hold consultations with leaders and representatives of the Chinese community in an effort to determine whether there was a clear-cut consensus of opinion within the community concerning the South Cove Urban Renewal Project.

Since that time, we have held a number of meetings with representatives of the Chinese community, including the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association, the Chinese Merchants Association, and other community groups from the area. In all our meetings we have stressed that our objective in the South Cove Project is to preserve and enhance the Chinese residential community and to protect it against future demolition.

An initial meeting was held in late December with leaders of the various family associations. Another open meeting was held with the Chinese Merchants Association in early January, at which time many questions and concerns were raised. We also found at those and subsequent meetings that there are many people who wish to work with us in an attempt to prepare a sound plan.

Those who have objected to survey and planning activities acknowledge that Chinatown has serious problems. However, they feel that all of the specific details of a plan must be spelled out before they could give a definite judgment.

As a practical matter, this is not possible. A specific plan can be made only if survey and planning funds are made available. We are now simply requesting the Authority to obtain such planning funds. I would, therefore, urge favorable action by the Council.

We have continued to meet with all of the various groups to answer questions and explain our policies. Mr. Robert Hazen, Project Director, and Mr. Tunney Lee, Project Planning Officer, will keep in close contact with the community in the months ahead to try to work out this situation.

I would again like to state very clearly for the record the policies and procedures which would be our guides in preparing a plan for the Chinese community:

First, our policy would be to create a plan that can expand the supply of housing and provide for the rehabilitation of existing dwelling units. Our initial studies have shown that a substantial number of new low-cost housing units could be provided in the area without necessitating any prior family dislocations.

Second, we would continue to consult with the members of the Chinese community concerning all the elements that should be in the plan.

Third, we would review at each step of the way various alternate plans with the Chinese community in order to have a plan which, in the final analysis, will truly reflect the needs and desires of the community itself.

Finally, we would consult the Chinese community on the final proposed plan before submitting it for legal adoption.

I would also take this opportunity to urge the Honorable Council to proceed with the necessary approval of the Tufts New England Medical Center Development Plan in order that we may obtain the approximately $930,000 in Section 112 credits that can be attached to the New York Streets Project. Under the law, Council approval is a prerequisite to our obtaining these credits for the Boston Development Program. The Federal Urban Renewal Administration has indicated it desires that we move as quickly as possible to proceed with closing out the books on the New York Streets Project, and therefore, we need to have actions completed on the Development Plan so that the credits can be included in the final accounting.

I would again emphasize that the Development Plan of the Medical Center does not provide for any further encroachment into the Chinese community. Beyond that, the record is very clear that this Development Plan is of a preliminary nature and will be supplanted by the proposed Urban Renewal Plan for the South Cove area as a whole. As such, it does not bind the Authority or the Council to any specific actions to carry out the Development Plan at this time. Therefore, it is my judgment that the city has everything to gain and nothing to lose by taking prompt action on its approval.

Sincerely,
EDWARD J. LOGUE.

As the letter of Mr. Logue points out, the question before us is one of whether or not we should provide money for surveys and plans for the South Cove area. After that, as everyone in Boston knows, there will be additional opportunities to study the matter before we give final approval to any plan.

In addition to the hearing held here, I, probably along with other members of the committee, have taken upon myself to try to evaluate the project and went down in the area and talked to the people down there, and my personal feeling, Mr. President, is that we have the makings of a good project area, and I came in today with that feeling, and I was prepared to put this matter to a vote, but in the course of preparing to do so, I polled the members of the Council and I get the impression from that poll that there are probably sufficient votes here to vote this thing out favorably, and I was about to go ahead to do that, but in the course of conducting the poll, Mr. President, I found that there is some very strong feeling about whether or not we should proceed with this matter, with approving this matter without giving another opportunity for the Chinese community to be heard.

I have upon reflection of those feelings and the concern shown by the other individuals in the Council come to believe that it might be better for us to put this matter over for at least another week, and arrange for another public hearing and invite the Chinese Merchants Association in here and anybody else who might wish to be heard to go over it again.

As I say, in the course of my polling the membership I find that there are strong feelings that this should be done, and that being the case, I would prefer to put the matter over and hold another hearing, to give the Chinese Merchants an opportunity to come in, although I would like to emphasize, since the last hearing, I have not heard from any member of the Chinese Merchants Association. Perhaps they are expecting I would invite them, and if that is the case, I would be happy to do so.

Chairman of Committee on Urban Redevelopment, Rehabilitation and Renewal.

MINORITY REPORT OF COUNCILLOR FOLEY, MEMBER OF COMMITTEE ON URBAN REDEVELOPMENT, RE- HABILITATION AND RENEWAL.

Coun. FOLEY, member of the Committee on Urban Redevelopment, Rehabilitation and Renewal, submitted the following minority report:

The previous minority report states that the president of the Chinese Merchants Association wanted to be consulted and had not been consulted concerning the South Cove Urban Renewal Project.

My memory of what transpired at the hearing is quite different. As I remember it, Mr. Robert Hazen and particularly Mr. Tunney Lee were shown to have made a mistake in identifying the president of the Chinese Merchants Association. The staff for this project had been in consultation with a gentleman of the Chinese community named Lee who at one time in the past had been president of the Chinese Merchants Association, laboring under the mistaken impression that he was presently the president of the Chinese Merchants Association.

This was developed after a protracted hearing in which there was at one time a characteristic profusion of histrionics on Mr. Logue's part in what later was quite obviously an attempt to divert the Council from a line of questioning which ultimately led to the fact that the staff assigned to the project had made a glaring mistake.

Listening carefully and reading closely the Development Administrator's letter, one appears to meet the argument that when his staff has consulted, discussed, and explained a matter to people in the area over a long period of time, that should be enough to satisfy this Body and, further, so cause this Body to overlook the fact that nowhere in this communication does the Development Administrator represent that anybody has been persuaded.

I suggest also that the Development Administrator's slandering chickens have come home to roost, and I suggest that the "Planning with people" catchphrase upon which foundation the Development Administrator's bloated schemes have been built. (See Strickland-Keyes Reports in the Minutes of March 25, 1963, Meeting) is now being revealed for the hypocrisy it really is.

Redevelopment, Rehabilitation

Blood Donor Volunteers at BCH Have Sterling Record of Service

By Kathleen O'Donnell, R.N.

Just to the right of the main entrance of the Administration Building of the Boston City Hospital there's a small alcove. Just big enough to accommodate a flat-topped desk, it is identified by a modest black-and-white sign which reads "Blood Donors."

From 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. each day, from Monday through Friday, a small, green-shaded lamp beams its light on the desk's working top. At the desk sits a member of the "Blood Donor Volunteer Group" of the hospital.

She may be a housewife or an office worker. She may be a high school girl or a graduate college student. She may be a member of almost any profession you can name. You can tell from her uniform that she's a volunteer worker.

She presides at one of the most important desks in the vast hospital.

This year the desk and the service it represents is entering its 13th year of highly-valued service. From 1950 to 1962 the girl and women volunteers who've worked at that desk have been the means of obtaining 43,957 replacements of blood.

They have interviewed 70,029 potential donors of blood.

It would be impossible to tell exactly how many lives have been saved by the work of that desk over a 12-year period. Recently a hospital official declared it could very well run into the thousands.

The volunteers are highly trained in the work. No one could measure the contribution they make each day, each week, each month to the patients of the hospital. No dollar-and-cents yardstick could be adequate—for this is work in behalf of human beings—in behalf, indeed, of human life.

In one of his more philosophical moments Napoleon Bonaparte said, "There is no genius like the genius of labor, and there is no reward like that which comes with energy, system, and perseverance."

To the volunteers who have worked and continue to work in this great cause we are most humbly grateful.

Sherry Biltmore Guest Found BCH Staff Tops

She was among the guests of the Sherry Biltmore Hotel brought to City Hospital on the morning of March 29 as the Boston Fire Department carried out one of the most successful rescue operations in its history. She suffered no burns or injuries. There was no question of smoke inhalation. After she rested a bit and received the attention of members of the hospital staff she was able to go to another hotel.

The other day she wrote out a check for $10. With it she appended a little note. She said she wanted to express in some manner the "wonderful treatment" she received at City Hospital the morning of "that fire."

Plywood Panel Tests In Hotel Fire Probe

Following is a report made by Assistant Fire Chief John E. Clougherty, in charge of fire prevention work in Boston Department, to Mayor Collins considering one phase of the city's investigation of the recent Sherry Biltmore Hotel fire:

"It is reported that with your permission I attended the test conducted by Underwriters Laboratories at 2550 Dundee road, Chicago, Wednesday and Thursday, April 10 and 11. This test was to determine the flame spread rating, fuel contribution and smoke development of the plywood paneling installed in the corridor of the Sherry Biltmore Hotel, 150 Massachusetts avenue.

"A serious fire occurred in this hotel at 4 A.M. on March 29, and it was felt by this department that the factor contributing to the spread of this fire was the plywood paneling installed on both sides of the corridor. As a result of this test it was determined that using asbestos as zero and red oak wood as 100 on the scale, the flame spread of the plywood paneling was 190, or in other words the fire spread approximately twice as fast on the plywood paneling, as it would over red oak, and while it would take flame $5\frac{1}{2}$ minutes to travel the 25 feet in the tunnel test with a red oak sample, it only took two minutes and 54 seconds for the flame to travel the same distance with the plywood. The fuel contribution was 120, again using the scale of zero for asbestos, and 100 for red oak.

"The smoke developed was 100 equal to the same quantity of smoke as would be developed from a red oak sample."

5 Firemen Injured In South Boston Fire

Five Boston fire fighters were injured on the night of April 29 while fighting a three-alarm fire in the Edison storage warehouse on the Eastern Avenue waterfront. It required two hours to bring the fire under control, with two fireboats joining in the battle.

Injured were Bernard O'Rourke, 42, and George Comfrey, 49, both taken to Massachusetts General Hospital with cut hands, James Mahoney and Lewis Harrington, taken to City Hospital, and an unidentified fireman who was taken to the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary for eye injuries.

REPORT OF OIL BURNER INSPECTOR

HON. J. F. COLLINS,
Mayor's Office.

YOUR HONOR:

I attended the Factory Oil Burner School, Gilbert & Barker Factory, Springfield, Mass., authorized by you March 29, 1963.

The purpose of this school was to train me in the basic principles of oil burner installation and service, which is in conjunction with my duties as oil burner inspector, with the Fire Prevention Division.

This course began the week of April 15, and was terminated Friday, April 19. It ran from 8 A.M. to 4.30 P.M. daily.

The school program was comprised of classroom lectures and practical work on live burners in which the students learn to solve problems they might encounter in the field.

The following is a brief outline of the training program we received:

- Discussion of burner types.
- Basic principles of high pressure burners.
- Basic electricity.
- Basic control systems.
- Basic internal wiring.
- Testing equipment.
- Electronic controls.
- Ignition systems.
- Pumps.

Use of various instruments used in the industry.

These were covered by lectures and three days of practical workshop, during which actual service and installation problems were solved by the students.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS E. LAVERNE, Fire Fighter.

Mayor Collins Breaks Ground for North End Library

Following ground-breaking ceremonies on April 24, construction of a new branch of the Boston Public Library got under way on Parmenter street, North End. The construction start was hailed by Mayor Collins, Msgr. Edward G. Murray of the BPL Board of Trustees, and Library Director Milton E. Lord as one of the most satisfying of the local observances of National Library Week.

The new building will replace the old North End Branch Library on North Bennet street, rendered safe for occupancy a few years ago only by construction of a heavy supporting brace for the streetside wall and which has long been inadequate for modern library needs. To cost approximately $200,000, the new building was designed by Carl Koch and Associates, Inc., of Cambridge. Construction contractor is the Peabody Construction Company of South Boston.

The building will be a rectangular shaped one-story structure facing Parmenter street, with service access from Wesley place. The design is imaginative but simple, the public reading areas—separate sections for children, young adults, and adults plus a multipurpose room adjacent to the children's room—will be clustered around a central courtyard which will be given natural lighting by means of clerestory windows.

The exterior walls, up to door height, will be of brick; above, they will be of glass, except at the entrance court where a glass wall will invite passersby to look into the courtyard and toward the reading areas around and beyond it. The most unusual feature of the new library building will be the structure of the roof, which will create the effect of a ceiling of varying contour. The building will contain 6,000 square feet of space and will accommodate 15,000 books. It will be ready for occupancy by May, 1964.

Welfare Assistance Down in March

Public Assistance expenditures amounted to $3.7 million for 28,699 cases in Boston during March, 1963. Reduced payments to hospitals and other vendors for medical care were mainly responsible for a decrease in costs of $110,555 compared to the previous month. In March, there were 1,666 requests for assistance processed of which 1,284 were approved and 382 denied. At the same time, 1,262 cases were closed, resulting in an increase of 23 cases. The average cost was $130.06 during the month exclusive of personal deductible resources, Welfare Director William F. Lally reported.

Ex-Patient's Gratitude Makes BCH Volunteer

Andrew Moore of 8 Union park, South End, is one of the most valued members of the constantly-growing force of volunteers at City Hospital. Two years ago he was a patient at the hospital. He suffered a severe lung disease from respiratory failures.

Hospitalized at about the same time was his twin brother, who was similarly stricken. Death took his brother. Andrew survived.

The day of his discharge he made a vow. He knew that whatever wealth he could command couldn't repay the hospital in dollars and cents in the measure of his gratitude.

Soon after his recuperation was complete. He presented himself to Mrs. Jean Blake, director of volunteers at the hospital. He wanted to donate as many of his free hours as possible to work at the hospital. He'd like, he told Mrs. Blake, to give his time to work in the famed City Hospital Inhalation Therapy Department directed by Dr. Maurice S. Segal.

Mrs. Blake obliged with the assignment he desired. Now, he's a weekend volunteer worker. A former marine engineer he is appreciative of the great advances made not alone for better everyday equipment for industry but he's cognizant of the great advances medical science has made in wondrous life-preserving equipment. He believes he owes his life to the staff of City Hospital and the modern equipment at its command.

IMPROVEMENT VOTED

The Mayor and Public Improvement Commission have approved the following:

That this commission, having passed the order of notice relating to the public improvement hereinafter described, and having caused a copy of said order to be published February 23 and February 25, 1963, in the Boston American and the Boston Herald, two daily newspapers published in the City of Boston, and having given the public hearing, notice of which was given in said order, and being of the opinion that public necessity and convenience require, does hereby order that specific repairs be made in Orange street, West Roxbury district, at the northwesterly and southwesterly corners of Walworth street, consisting of increasing the curb radius, as shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Public Works Department, Engineering Division, Specific Repair Plan, Orange Street, West Roxbury, March 15, 1963, John J. McCall, Division Engineer," and on file in the office of said department.

POLICE CITATION—Here's a copy of the citation received by three Boston police officers for their work in clearing an innocent man. The above was awarded to William A. Bradley, now a deputy superintendent. Others honored were Robert H. Costello and Robert E. Hayden, now detectives.

Bradley and Patrolmen Costello and Hayden won honorable mention for their work in the case of Maurice Berry, whose friend was found injured in an alley and later died. At first Berry said six youths assaulted his friend but failed to identify any of six juveniles picked up by police. The youths admitted being in the area but denied the assault.

Berry then confessed that he had struck his friend during an argument, knocking him down. While Berry was held for the grand jury, the trio continued their investigation and discovered that the youths were in fear of one of their number. When the latter was hospitalized for an operation, the other boys confessed that Berry's original story had been true.

SATURDAY, MAY 11, 1963

NO. 19

Mayor Seeks July 4th Celebration With Peal of Bells Churches, Colleges, Schools to Participate

Mayor John F. Collins has given his hearty approval to the nationwide drive now under way to make July 4 one of the most joyous Independence Days in history—through the ringing of bells.

The Mayor plans to enlist the cooperation of all churches, schools, colleges, and other places having bell installations in Boston to peal for four minutes starting at 2 P.M., July 4.

Pointing out that the tolling of the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, at two o'clock on the afternoon of July 4, 1776, proclaimed the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the Mayor said that the sounding of bells on the holiday would serve as a real stimulus to the patriotic and spiritual observation of the day.

Bills in Congress, introduced by Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut and Representative Francis E. Walter of Pennsylvania, call for the bell ringing as a gesture across the country.

Efforts are being made to use the bells to hail American Independence not only across the country but in the armed services installations throughout the world.

The idea is accredited to Eric Hatch, a writer, and Eric Sloane, an artist. Every effort will be made to enlist state and local governments as well as the commands of the Army, Navy, and Air Corps.

"Years ago," said Mayor Collins, "we were obliged to outlaw the firecrackers and the indiscriminate use of explosives which sent large numbers of maimed children and adults to the hospital.

"Yet, looking back in nostalgic fashion many of us will confess that nothing ever took the place of those firecrackers as an outward symbol of joy.

"However, the actual use of fireworks on a big scale didn't actually begin until around Civil War time.

"The pealing of bells on the coming Fourth of July and the Independence Days that will follow it for our beloved country is an excellent idea."

Mayor Seeks Funds for New BFD Station

Mayor Collins, on May 6, asked the City Council to authorize another $100,000 toward building a new West End fire station on Cambridge street to take the place of the Bowdoin Square facility slated for demolition.

Last July the Council authorized $145,000, but Fire Commissioner Thomas J. Griffin, on May 6, notified that bids opened last month showed a minimum $325,000 cost of construction.

American Municipal Association Congress Coming Here in 1967

Mayor John F. Collins announced this week that the 44th annual American Municipal Association, by the unanimous action of its executive committee, has chosen Boston as the site of its 44th Congress in 1967.

The Congress is the largest annual municipal gathering of its kind in the world. It will bring to Boston the Mayors and other heads of 13,000 American municipalities along with members of their families and guests.

In the past its deliberations have attracted world-wide attention and have been particularly effective in placing before Congress and state legislative bodies the viewpoint of government at the local level.

For years it has been the most sought of all national conventions.

At the 1962 Congress in Houston, Texas, Mayor Collins was elected AMA vice president. Next August he will be elected president.

A month ago he extended a formal invitation to the AMA to bring the 44th Congress to Boston at a time when practically all of the city's tremendous renaissance program will be completed.

Notifying Mayor Collins of the unanimous action of the AMA Executive Committee, the organization's president, Lewis Cutrer, Mayor of Houston, Texas, wrote to Mayor Collins, "The selection of Boston was not only because of its appeal as one of America's truly great cities, but also in recognition of your most capable leadership and participation in AMA activities. We all look forward to being in the City of Boston in 1967."

At the 1962 Congress the Boston Mayor headed some of the most important AMA committees and was instrumental in placing the sentiment of the Congress before the United States Senate and House of Representatives—the sentiment of local governments on matters affecting their welfare and progress.

Mayor Collins said he was informed by Mayor Cutrer that the exact date of the Boston Congress would be fixed soon.

Like to Fly? Join The Boston Red Sox

Hundreds of thousands of miles, literally, are flown by the 20 major league baseball teams during a single season.

During the 1963 season United Air Lines, which contracts for 80 per cent of the travel, will fly them a total of 378,721 air miles. The Boston Red Sox paces both leagues in the number of flights—40, two more than their nearest competitor.

The San Francisco Giants will fly most miles in the senior league, 34,759, while the New York Yankees are top travelers in the American league with 26,028 miles, according to present schedules.

The total travel on 458 charter and 57 regular scheduled flights is up 21 per cent over 1962. The American league total of 177,039 miles is about the same as last year, but the National league increased its air travel almost 50 per cent, to 201,682 miles.

Dr. Foley Reappointed

Dr. John T. Foley, temporary head of the City Health Department, was reappointed to the same post by Mayor Collins on May 6.

Sprucing for J.P.H.S. Ordered by Mayor

Mayor John F. Collins has ordered a complete exterior repainting of Jamaica Plain High School on Elm street. The work, soon to be undertaken by T. Mickle & Son, Inc., is in line with the Mayor's insistence that school properties of the city be brought up to every possible standard of attractive appearance inside and out.

T. Mickle & Son, an Allston firm, was the low bidder for the contract at $5,635. Other bidders were: Avondale Painting Company, Inc., $6,240; John H. Kennedy & Company, Inc., $7,300; Field & Sons, Inc., $11,450.

Chamber Committee For Commuting Study

Chairman Robert M. Jenney of the Commuter Transportation Committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce has sent the following communication to members of the Joint Legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs:

"Experts in the field of mass transportation have maintained that the major solution to the Greater Boston area's transportation impasse rests in granting the MTA ability to extend its rapid transit lines into areas not presently being served.

"In order that this area might understand the benefits to be derived from extensions and the cost therefor the MTA has filed legislation for authorization and funds to undertake detailed engineering and feasibility studies for two possible extensions.

"This request is contained in two bills, S. 372 and S. 381, which call for a study of a possible extension through Revere and another to the Dedham line area over the rail bed of the Boston & Providence Railroad tracks of the New Haven Railroad.

"Both of these measures have been reported favorably by the Joint Committee on Metropolitan Affairs. They merit your attention and consideration."

Mayor OK's $850,000 for "New" Courthouse Repairs

Mayor John F. Collins has given approval for the expenditure of $845,600 for badly needed roof and window repairs and installations for the so-called "new" Suffolk County Courthouse building in Pemberton square.

The "new" building, constructed as a Public Works Administration project in the 1930's, has paid for its place as one of the taller landmarks in the Boston skyline. The battering it has taken from hurricanes and storms has levied a heavy toll on its exterior.

In recent years its windows have been loosened and broken by heavy weather assaults and it has been necessary to move some court sessions from one courtroom to another during bad weather. Main source of the structure's difficulties, however, stems from a big and leaky roof.

Work is expected to get under way within a few weeks, Maintenance Superintendent William C. Albrecht said, and will require about two years.

The building is 23 stories high and while it will lose its skyscraper status when other buildings in the Government Center and elsewhere in the city will be completed it will fit in with its neighboring structures easily.

The interior is regarded in excellent shape save near windows where considerable damage has been done. This damage has caused a high maintenance cost.

It has been necessary at times during stormy weather and because the volume of court business was running so high to maintain sessions in some of the courtrooms during heavy storms.

For the comfort of jurors and others, however, it has been necessary to move seats and benches away from the leaky windows.

Better Cooperation for Printing Dept. Sought

The following directive, dated May 2, was sent to all department heads and county officers by Administrative Services Director Henry A. Scagnoli:

The Printing Department has called to my attention that some departments are lax in planning and submitting orders for printing which has resulted in unnecessary delays and the resultant increased production costs. In order to conduct the Printing Plant in an efficient and businesslike manner it is necessary that we secure the cooperation of all. Your assistance is requested in the following manner:

1. In the ordering of supplies, do not wait until your supplies are exhausted before reordering. Systematic planning is a requisite for efficient plant operation, thereby eliminating duplication of effort in typesetting, press work, and billing.

2. Your Annual Reports are due in and should be submitted as soon as possible.

3. Recheck your copy before sending to the Printing Plant. All copy should be submitted on one side of an 8½-inch x 11-inch page, typewritten, double-spaced and edited. Poor copy will result in delay.

4. Proofs should be returned to the Printing Plant as soon as possible and certainly no later than one week after submission.

Strict adherence to the above will result in more efficient operation and utilization of our Printing Plant.

Fitton Senior Honored For 4th Straight Year

For the fourth successive year, Doris Bent, 17, a senior at the Fitton Central High School in East Boston, has been selected for membership in the National Honor Society.

Scholastic ability, personality, character, and service to the school are the qualifications upon which the award is made.

Doris, who has been president of Student Government this past year, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bent who live at 26 Grady court in the East Boston housing development. She is planning a secretarial career following graduation on May 26.

BHA Concludes Annual Tenants' Income Check

The annual review of incomes of families residing in the housing developments under the management of the Boston Housing Authority, for the purpose of establishing adjusted monthly rentals beginning June 1, has been substantially completed, it was announced by Chairman Edward D. Hassan.

The study, conducted in accordance with federal and state housing laws, involved 13,833 families with an estimated population of 50,000 residing in 15 federally-aided and ten state-aided developments.

Since there has been no change in rental schedules, any changes in rent reflect an upward or downward revision in income of the families assessed.

A tabulation of 12,026 of the total number of tenant families re-examined on a city-wide basis, indicated no change in rental for 7,711 families or 64.1 per cent. Downward rent adjustments were given to 7.4 per cent or 892 families because of decreased family incomes. Rental adjustments upwards, resulting from aggregate family income increases, affected 28.5 per cent or 3,423 families.

The incomes of all members of the families are used in determining the rents to be paid. The incomes of minors are excluded in determining the eligibility of a family to remain in residence.

The city-wide change in rents for tenants averages an upward revision of 93 cents a month in the federally-aided developments and $1.17 a month in the state-aided developments.

Adjusted rentals are expected to average about $57.73 per month in the federally-aided developments and $69.80 per month in the state-aided developments.

Monthly rental charges are gross rent and include the cost of all utilities such as heat, hot water, gas, and electricity with the exception of the Galivan Boulevard housing development. Each of the single and duplex houses in this development has its own individual heating plant. Tenants pay for all of their own utilities and a different schedule is used to reflect the charges paid by the tenants.

Roslindale Girl, 12, Hailed as May Queen

The City of Boston's own "Queen of the May," 12-year-old Deborah Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Stuart of 279 Poplar street, Roslindale, was crowned amid gala May Day festivities, including the traditional Maypole dance on the Tremont Street Mall, Boston Common, on Saturday, May 4.

The ceremony is conducted annually by the Boston Parks and Recreation Department under the supervision of Commissioner Martin F. Walsh and Recreation Director Pat J. Ryan.

Deborah, a member of the girls' afternoon class at the Roslindale Recreation Center, was selected in competition with hundreds of entries from Boston's thirteen municipal Recreation Centers. She was crowned by 12-year-old Carol Breen of Charlestown who reigned as "Queen" last year.

Her honor maids, runners-up in the contest, were 11-year-old Denise Manifor from the Williams Building Center, South End, and 10-year-old Debbie Carroll from the Curtis Hall Center in Jamaica Plain. Little Paula McGillis of Roslindale was crown bearer.

L. I. Land Sought for New Police Academy

Mayor Collins has asked the City Council to approve the transfer of 31.7 acres of land on Long Island from the Hospital Department to the Police Department.

The sector of land was recently designated by the hospital Board of Trustees as unnecessary for the operation of the hospital. The acreage is beyond the limits of operation of the Long Island Hospital and its transfer would in no way interfere with its operation. In recent years it had been used by the U. S. government as an Army Niki site. That project has been abandoned.

If the land is transferred to the Police Department it will be used as a site for a Police Academy and the training of recruits for the Boston Police Department. It would also provide a target practice range for all members of the Police Department.

FIRE

General Order No. 14.

April 26.

I. BOARD OF MERIT.

The Board of Merit, consisting of the Chief of Department, the Chief of Staff, the Assistant Fire Chiefs, and the Deputy Fire Chiefs, has considered all meritorious acts referred to it for the year 1962. After careful consideration and study, the Board submitted the following recommendations which are hereby approved by the Fire Commissioner:

CASE OF FIRE LIEUTENANT RICHARD P. MCCORMICK OF ENGINE COMPANY 21.

At 12.40 A.M., January 15, 1962, the department responded to an alarm from Box 1821 for a fire in a tenement house at 90 Mt. Vernon street, Dorchester.

Upon arrival of Engine Company 21 at the fire, the members laid a 1½-inch and a 2½-inch line into the first-floor hallway. At this time a faint groaning could be heard emanating from the rear of a long hallway on the first floor. Fire Lieutenant Richard P. McCormick of Engine Company 21 crawled along the hallway which was heavily charged with smoke, gases, and fire in the ceiling, to a room at the rear of the hallway and found a man badly burned and in a semi-conscious condition. He carried the victim out of the room and back along the hallway to the front entrance where he was assisted in placing the victim in a police ambulance for transportation to the hospital.

Due to the fact that the rescue was performed under very difficult conditions and with great risk to his own safety because of the fire, smoke, and heat, and without the covering of a water stream, the Fire Commissioner commended him highly in General Order No. 4 of 1962.

The Board recommends that Fire Lieutenant Richard P. McCormick of Engine Company 21 be awarded the Patrick J. Kennedy Medal of Honor.

CASE OF FIRE FIGHTER MARTIN R. O'TOOLE OF LADDER COMPANY 23.

At 9.52 A.M., February 28, 1962, the department responded to an alarm from Box 1764 for a fire in a three-story wooden frame building at 52 Judson street, Roxbury.

While en route to the fire, Ladder Company 23 was informed, via radio, that there were children trapped on the first floor of the building; and, upon arrival of that company at the scene, fire was showing from the first and second floors and access to the building by stairway was impossible.

Fire Fighter Martin R. O'Toole of Ladder 23 immediately entered the building through a window on the first floor into a room which was heavily charged with heat and smoke. He made a search of the area and located a child in an unconscious condition in a crib. He removed the child to the street where first aid was administered. Fire Fighter O'Toole then re-entered the building and continued his search until he was informed that all other persons had been accounted for.

Because of the fact that Fire Fighter O'Toole performed this rescue work before ventilation was accomplished, or hose lines were in position, and without regard for his own safety, the Fire Commissioner commended him highly in General Order No. 10 of 1962.

The Board recommends that Fire Fighter Martin R. O'Toole of Ladder Company 23 be awarded the Walter Scott Medal for Valor.

CASE OF FIRE FIGHTER KRISTO A. APOSTOL OF ENGINE COMPANY 13.

At 2.41 A.M., April 20, 1962, the department responded to an alarm from Box 3358 for a fire in a two and one-half story dwelling house at 20 Ellington street, Dorchester.

Upon arrival of Engine Company 13 at the scene, heavy smoke and overlapping fire were visible at the front of the building and the front rooms of the building were completely involved in fire, the remainder of the house being heavily charged with heat and smoke.

Fire Fighter Kristo A. Apostol, 6 Estey street, Roxbury, of Engine Company 13, entered the first floor of the unventilated building and after a search located a woman in a rear room and removed her to the street.

The foregoing rescue work was performed under very difficult conditions and because of the fact that Fire Fighter Apostol completely disregarded his own safety and succeeded in rescuing the woman, the Fire Commissioner, commended him highly in General Order No. 19 of 1962.

The Board recommends that the name of Fire Fighter Kristo A. Apostol of Engine Company 13 be placed on the Roll of Merit.

CASE OF FIRE FIGHTER JOHN D. SHEEHAN OF ENGINE COMPANY 22.

At 5.33 P.M., April 12, 1962, the department responded to Box 2221 for a fire in the dwelling house at 1117 Tremont street, Roxbury. Upon arrival at the scene, fire was showing on the third floor. A woman, being assisted by a police officer on Tremont street, was screaming that her baby was in the burning apartment.

The members of Engine Company 22 ran their booster line to the third floor, and at the same time members of Engine Company 37 were bringing a big line to the floor. Upon arrival at the third-floor landing, they found three civilians trying desperately to enter the burning apartment, but they were deterred because of intense heat and heavy smoke.

Fire Fighter John D. Sheehan of Engine Company 22 entered the burning apartment and, after groping around in the heavy smoke and intense heat, located the infant in a crib. He brought the baby to safety.

Because of the fact that the rescue work was performed under very difficult conditions and with great risk, the Fire Commissioner commended him highly in General Order No. 20 of 1962.

The Board recommends that the name of Fire Fighter John D. Sheehan of Engine Company 22 be placed on the Roll of Merit.

der Company 23 made forcible entry into the premises, dropped to the hall floor and crawled past the fire area, which was on his right, to a rear bedroom and removed a woman whom he found there in an unconscious condition. The woman was then taken to the Boston City Hospital by the police.

Inasmuch as Fire Fighter Campbell entered the building before ventilation had been accomplished or hose lines were in position and performed the rescue work under intense heat and smoke and without thought to his own safety, the Fire Commissioner commended him highly in General Order No. 41 of 1962.

The Board recommends that the name of Fire Fighter John L. Campbell of Ladder Company 23 be placed on the Roll of Merit.

CASE OF FIRE FIGHTER JOHN J. GADDIS OF LADDER COMPANY 4.

At 1.18 A.M., December 27, 1962, the department responded to a fire at 20 Magnolia street, Dorchester. Upon arrival of Ladder Company 4, a man was seen at a third-floor front window from which heavy smoke and fire was issuing.

Ladder Company 4 raised a ladder to the window and Fire Fighter John J. Gaddis ascended to the third-floor window and without any protection for his face and hands, he reached into the room and lifted a man out of the window and passed him to other members of the department who were on the ladder. During this action Fire Fighter Gaddis sustained burns to his face, nose, throat, and hands.

After removing the man from the window, Fire Fighter Gaddis descended the ladder and entered the building where he made his way to the second floor through a hallway which was charged with heat and smoke. He entered a front bedroom where he found another man in bed in a semi-conscious condition and, without any assistance, he carried the man, who was very heavy, out of the bedroom, down the stairs to the street. After performing the second rescue, Fire Fighter Gaddis who was in an exhausted condition and suffering from burns and smoke inhalation was taken to the Boston City Hospital for treatment.

Fire Fighter Gaddis performed the rescue work without benefit of a gas mask, while lines were being placed in operation, and with only limited ventilation. Because of the great risk to which he exposed himself, without regard for his own safety, in rescuing the two men, the Fire Commissioner commended him highly in General Order No. 2 of 1963.

The Board recommends that Fire Fighter John J. Gaddis of Ladder Company 4 be awarded the John E. Fitzgerald Medal for Most Meritorious Act.

Status Change

Helen C. Brady, 20 Powell street, West Roxbury, telephone operator, $73.75 a week.

April 26.

Personnel Order No. 118.

Patrolmen Arthur Linsky, Richard Hudson, and Willis D. Saunders, Vice Control Section of the Bureau of Field Operations, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

On Thursday, March 28, 1963, as a result of information received that one, Andrew O. Dean, 23 years, a known drug addict, was wanted for the shooting of one Norman Swan in Washington, D.C., on March 28, 1963, Patrolmen Arthur Linsky, Richard Hudson, and Willis D. Saunders, were immediately assigned to the investigation because of their knowledge of this subject whom they had arrested in the past.

Diligent questioning by the above officers of known drug addicts and their associates, and checking residences where Andrew O. Dean was known to have lived, or had friends, failed to disclose his whereabouts. However, the officers learned that the suspect was definitely in Boston, under the influence of narcotic drugs, and that he had informed his friends that he would not be taken alive. The officers concentrated their search in the South End.

About 12.15 A.M., March 29, 1963, the officers observed the suspect emerging from a cafe at the corner of West Springfield street and Tremont street, Boston. The officers called to him to surrender but he fled down West Springfield street and was pursued by the officers. He was seized by the officers and a fierce struggle ensued, the suspect kept yelling "shoot me," "shoot me." He was finally subdued, placed under arrest and brought to District 4 for booking.

Andrew Dean was then taken to Police Headquarters where after a lengthy interrogation, he admitted to the shooting in Washington, D.C.

The Massachusetts State police and Washington, D.C., police were notified of the arrest and admission by the subject, Dean, to his part in the crime.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the fine police work, alertness and devotion to duty displayed by Patrolmen Linsky, Hudson, and Saunders in this case which resulted, within a period of a few hours, in the arrest of the individual wanted by the Washington, D.C., police for a near-fatal shooting. This type of action reflects credit on every member of the department.

April 26.

Personnel Order No. 119.

The following officers assigned to District 16 are hereby commended for meritorious police duty:

Patrolmen Robert T. Bush, William I. Joyce, Robert W. Kelly, Thomas D. Ryan, Richard T. Stanton, and Robert F. Tierney.

About 4 A.M., Friday, March 29, 1963, the 16-L car with Patrolmen Robert W. Kelly and Robert T. Bush, while cruising their assigned sector, observed smoke coming from the windows of the upper floors of the Sherry Biltmore Hotel, 150 Massachusetts avenue, where a fire was in progress. The radio dispatcher was immediately notified by the officers and they then called to persons who were on the ledges of the windows on the upper floors of the hotel to remain where they were, that help was on the way.

Officers Kelly and Bush then requested bystanders to go to the rear and sides of the hotel to reassure the guests of immediate assistance. The conduct of the officers was later credited with saving the lives or preventing injuries to many occupants of the building.

Patrolmen Kelly and Bush then entered the burning building and went to the fifth floor which was filled with smoke and, without regard for their own safety, assisted hysterical guests to the safety of the street floor. The officers forced the doors of one of the rooms upon hearing cries and found an 80-year old blind and infirm woman calling for help. Using a chair, the officers carried her to the street floor where she was placed in an ambulance.

Upon hearing the call for assistance from the 16-L car at 4 A.M., Patrolmen Thomas Ryan and Robert Tierney immediately went to the scene and viewing the magnitude of the situation informed the dispatcher to send all available ambulances to the scene at once. These officers, without hesitation, entered the burning building and by using a stairway, attempted to gain entrance to the sixth floor, but were driven back by the flames. They then went to the fifth floor which was filled with smoke and found an unattended elevator. With cries for help ringing in their ears, with great risk to their own safety, they again attempted to enter the sixth floor using the elevator but were driven back by the intense heat.

Patrolmen Ryan and Tierney then went to the seventh floor to determine if this approach could be used to the sixth floor. Upon arrival, they found numerous persons in a state of panic running about the smoke-filled corridors looking for exits. Patrolman Tierney directed some to the elevator while Patrolman Ryan struggled to keep them from taking the elevator. After taking this group to safety another successful return trip was made. On the third effort the elevator failed forcing the officers to climb from it. Patrolmen praisal of the situation and decided on a course of action that would help persons trapped on the fifth floor in the rear of the hotel. The officers entered the hotel by climbing a fire escape on an adjoining building, climbing to a roof which led to a window of the hotel on the fourth floor. They forced the window, entered the corridor and found a group of persons in a hysterical condition. They were led onto the roof and assisted onto ladders by the officers. They again returned to the smoke-filled corridors and on the opposite side of the building, assembled another group of persons who were in a state of panic. Finding the escape, by way of the corridor to the window, blocked with dense smoke, the officers led this group of persons down a circular rear stairway to awaiting ambulances.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the heroism and devotion to duty displayed by these officers who by their prompt action, without regard for their own safety, in all probability saved many lives and prevented serious injuries to many persons by leading them to safety.

CITY OF BOSTON

Proceedings of City Council

Monday, April 8, 1963.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., Senior Member COFFEY in the chair. Absent, Councillor Hines.

The Right Reverend Christopher P. Griffin, chaplain of the City Council, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY THE RIGHT REVEREND CHRISTOPHER P. GRIFFIN.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Eternal God our father, as our beloved Jewish citizens in their Passover recall the deliverance of Israel from the Egyptian bondage, we beg Thy blessings upon them. We also begin the sacred solemn hours of Holy Week commemorating our deliverance from the bondage of sin through the suffering and death of Thy son, the captain of our salvation. We beg for ourselves Thy infinite mercy for our transgressions; for our disobedience of Thy law; revolt against Thine authority; denial of Thy wisdom; ingratitude for Thy goodness; treachery against Thy friendship. Our iniquities are multiplied above the sands of the sea. Let the full free tide of Thy tender mercy pour its pure glad waters over our souls washing them as white as snow. For Jew and Christian these are days of special prayer. Mine is for mercy and forgiveness. Amen.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

Coun. TIERNEY in the chair.

ADDITIONAL POLICE PERSONNEL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 1, 1963.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Police Commissioner concerning your order of March 11, 1963.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Police Department, April 1, 1963.
Albert Kramer,
Administrative Assistant, Mayor's Office.
Dear Sir:

Forwarded herewith is my report as concerns the Council order of March 11, 1963, wherein it is ordered:

"That the Police Commissioner is hereby requested to take the necessary steps to bring the Boston Police Department to its full complement of personnel and to engage such additional temporary police officers as may be necessary to stem the current crime wave."

Respectfully submitted,
EDMUND L. MCNAMARA,
Police Commissioner.

An analysis of Crime Index figures clearly shows that there is no crime wave in the City of Boston.

The attached charts show that Boston did experience a serious increase in homicides. However, the general crime increase of 6.9 per cent compares favorably with the national average. The attached charts also show that the Crime Index for January and February of 1963 is 2,445 as against 2,640 for the same period of 1962, a decrease of 7.6 per cent.

The Police Commissioner is responsible for the administration of the department's affairs in an effective, efficient, and harmonious manner at the minimum cost to the citizenry.

The number of men on the patrol force as of March 21, 1962, as against the force on March 21, 1963, is not the primary concern in developing the desired efficient and effective force.

More important is sound practical police administration that will result in improved recruitment, training, utilization, and supervision of the present force.

As the department progresses in these areas, and with the acquisition of the required equipment it can be reasonably assured that the present strength of the department will be sufficient to meet the requirement of "Adequate Police Service."

Adequate has been interpreted as that which is lawful and reasonable. Of course if we could double the department's man power and properly train, equip, and supervise them, they would be better able to accomplish the police purpose. However, the costs to the citizens of Boston could hardly be termed lawful or reasonable.

In the department's program to develop an "Adequate Force" it must of necessity be cognizant of criticisms directed at the department, especially those criticisms intended to be constructive.

The following is information prepared by the Boston Municipal Research Bureau in December of 1962 and published under the title "Comparative Police Data-Cities over 500,000 population:

	BOSTON	MEDIAN

One Per.....	41,012	104,588
One Per Square Mile.....	2.811	10.7

Also, the department has been criticized because: Although twelfth ranking city in population it is sixth in expenditures; and the per capita cost of $26.19 is the highest and $5.51 higher than the next city. (Bureau Blotter of May 1, 1962.)

Cognizant of these criticisms and in consideration of the fact that Boston's crime index is well below the average, I believe the Boston Police Department has sufficient officers to provide adequate police protection for our citizens in all sections of the city.

If the city can afford to expend additional funds for police service I believe a pay increase for our present personnel would be more beneficial than in increasing the force. It would increase morale and also attract a higher calibre recruit and retain present qualified personnel.

I am most pleased that his Honor, the Mayor, has announced a proposed salary increase for department members, and I feel sure that further salary consideration will be given the police as our effectiveness and the city's ability to pay increases. All the above should be considered in view of the department's plans to appoint 30 recruits in June of this year and at least another 30 later on in the year.

COMPARISONS OF PAY SCHEDULES
AMONG CERTAIN DEPARTMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 5, 1963.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Director of Administrative Services concerning your order of March 4, 1963, relative to the proposed pay schedule for various classifications of employees in the Boston Redevelopment Authority as compared with the proposed pay schedule under the Jacobs Survey for the same or similar classification in the County of Suffolk, Library, Hospital, Police, Welfare, and School Departments.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Administrative Services Department,
March 13, 1963.

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.
Dear Mr. Mayor:

In reference to the City Council order passed March 4, 1963, stating as follows:

"Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested under the provisions of section 17F of chapter 376 of the Acts of 1951, and under any amendment pursuant thereto, and under any authority vested in the City Council, at the meeting of the Council, next ensuing after one week from receipt of this order, answer in writing to the question set forth in the following:

1. The proposed pay schedule for the various classification of employees in the Boston Redevelopment Authority as compared with the proposed pay schedule under the Jacobs Survey for the same or similar classifications in the County of Suffolk, Library Department, Hospital Department, Police Department, Welfare Department, and School Department."

The order, as written, calls for the "proposed" pay schedule for the Boston Redevelopment Authority and I have been advised by the Authority that there is no proposed pay schedule and for purposes of comparison we have adopted salary rates as shown in their 1963 budget.

The order also requests that we compare these with the proposed pay schedule under the Jacobs Survey for many departments, but of the departments listed only the County of Suffolk and the Hospital Department were surveyed by the above-named group.

Enclosed are the salary rates for certain positions that are in name comparable to like positions in the County and Hospital. It should be noted here, however, that the job descriptions should be examined before any comparison of positions can be made.

If there is any further information requested on the above I shall be glad to furnish it.

Yours very truly,
HENRY A. SCAGNOLI.

APPROPRIATION OF $50,000 FROM "PARKING METER FEES."

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 1, 1963.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I submit herewith an appropriation order for the sum of fifty thousand ($50,000) dollars from "Parking Meter Fees" and a communication from the Commissioner of Traffic and Parking explaining the reasons therefor.

I respectfully recommend adoption of the accompanying order by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Traffic and Parking Department,
March 27, 1963.

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir:

At a meeting of representatives of this department and the Administrative Services Department it was decided to eliminate from our budget estimates for parking meter repairs and maintenance items inasmuch as it is proper to charge these items against the item "Parking Meter Fees."

It is respectfully requested that the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) be appropriated from the item "Parking Meter Fees" to this department for the above-mentioned purposes.

The reason for the increase in the amount over last year is because the vandalizing of meters has tremendously increased.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS F. CARTY, Commissioner.

Ordered, That the sum of fifty thousand ($50,000) dollars be, and the same hereby is appropriated from the revenue received from Parking Meter Fees, to be expended by the Commissioner of Traffic and Parking, for repair and servicing of parking meters and for the purchase of supplies and materials.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations and Finance.

SALE OF DISCONTINUED PORTION OF
MT. WASHINGTON AVENUE TO GILLETTE COMPANY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 8, 1963.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit communication received from James W. Haley, Chairman, Public Improvement Commission, recommending the sale of approximately 12,032 square feet of land, being the discontinued portion of Mt. Washington avenue, to the Gillette Company for the sum of $14,400.

The Gillette Company is the owner of the real estate on either side of the discontinued portion of Mt. Washington avenue. At the present time, it desires to acquire the land solely for the purposes of parking and has no present plans for construction on this site. Because of the possibility that Mt. Washington avenue might, after the filling of Fort Point Channel, be extended to Dorchester avenue, the order provides that no buildings will be constructed by the Gillette Company prior to December 31, 1970, and that if the land is required for public purposes during that period, that the Gillette Company will reconvey the land for the sum of $14,400.

I recommend the adoption of this order by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Improvement Commission,
March 19, 1963.

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

By letter dated January 8, 1963, the Gillette Company petitioned the Public Improvement Commission for the discontinuance of a portion of Mt. Washington avenue, South Boston, from a point approximately 112 feet northwest of Granite street approximately 200 feet northwesterly to the bulkhead line of Fort Point Channel, for the purpose of utilizing the discontinued area of approximately 12,032 square feet for parking in connection with its building program in the area.

A public hearing on the proposal was held on Tuesday, January 22, 1963. The Fire and Traffic Departments reported that the elimination of subject street within the aforesaid limits would not affect the movement of vehicles to and through the area. The Gillette Company owns all the property on both sides abutting the proposed discontinued area.

The portion of Mt. Washington avenue referred to is a dead-end street and seldom used since the elimination in 1909 of the bridge over Fort Point Channel. The Boston Wharf Company, owner of property abutting other portions of Mt. Washington avenue and numerous and substantial parcels and buildings in the area, was represented at the hearing and while indicating it had no serious objection to the discontinuance, wished to protect its interests in the event, at some future time, after the channel is filled in, Mt. Washington avenue is extended to Dorchester avenue. It was agreed by Gillette that the discontinued portion would be used only for parking and not built upon with structures. It was further agreed that as a condition of the conveyance, Gillette, its successors or assigns, would reconvey the discontinued area to the City of Boston, for the same amount it paid, if the land was required at any time prior to December 31, 1970, for public purposes.

After a review of the proposal, the Public Improvement Commission at its meeting of March 19, 1963, voted to discontinue the portion of Mt. Washington avenue as petitioned and its order is transmitted herewith for your approval.

It is the determination of this commission that the land of the City of Boston lying within the discontinued area of Mt. Washington avenue, containing approximately 12,032 square feet, is no longer required for public purposes and it is the recommendation of this commission that the land be sold to the Gillette Company for $14,400 subject to the City of Boston's easements for existing sewer and water facilities and to the conditions set forth in Paragraph 3.

Respectfully,
JAMES W. HALEY, Chairman,
Public Improvement Commission.

Whereas, The City of Boston is the owner in fee of approximately twelve thousand thirty-two (12,032) square feet of land, being a discontinued portion of Mt. Washington avenue, South Boston district of the City of Boston; and

Whereas, The Public Improvement Commission has determined that the said parcel of land is no longer required for public purposes; and

Whereas, The Gillette Company is the owner of land abutting the discontinued portion of Mt. Washington avenue and has offered to purchase the land for the sum of fourteen thousand, four hundred (14,400) dollars; now therefore

It is hereby ordered that the Mayor of the City of Boston be, and he hereby is, authorized to sell at private sale to the Gillette Company for the minimum price of fourteen thousand, four hundred (14,400) dollars, and to execute and deliver to the purchaser an instrument in writing conveying all the City of Boston's right, title, and interest in and to the following-described parcel of land:

A certain parcel of land being a portion of Mt. Washington avenue discontinued by order of the Public Improvement Commission of the City of Boston by order dated March 19, 1963, bounded and described as follows:

Southeasterly by another portion of Mt. Washington avenue, sixty-two and 00-100 (62.00) feet; southwesterly by the southwesterly line of discontinuance of Mt. Washington avenue, one hundred eighty-eight and 14-100 (188.14) feet; northwesterly by the former northwesterly line of Mt. Washington avenue, sixty-three and 12-100 (63.12) feet; and northeasterly by the northeasterly line of discontinuance of Mt. Washington avenue, two hundred and 00-100 (200.00) feet, containing twelve thousand, thirty-two (12,032) square feet, more or less.

The above-described parcel of land is shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Public Works Department, Engineering Division, Discontinuance Plan, Mt. Washington Avenue, South Boston, March 19, 1963, Frederick L. Garvin, Acting Division Engineer," on file with the Public Works Department of the City of Boston.

Any deed conveying the City of Boston's interest in and to the above-described parcel of land shall provide that the City of Boston shall have the right and easement to lease, construct, maintain, repair and renew water and sewer works in existing locations as shown on the plan hereinbefore referred to, and further that the purchaser shall reconvey to the City of Boston for the sum of fourteen thousand, four hundred (14,400) dollars said land with all structures and improvements, if any, constructed or made prior to such reconveyance if at any time on or before December 31, 1970, it is determined by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the City of Boston or the Boston Redevelopment Authority, or by any other public authority that said land is required for public purposes.

And further, that the purchaser shall not erect buildings or structures on the above-described parcel of land prior to December 31, 1970.

MASSACHUSETTS ART COMMISSION RECOMMENDATIONS RE HEIGHT RESTRICTIONS ON COMMONWEALTH AVENUE.

The following was received:

REPORT OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS ART COMMISSION ON COMMONWEALTH AVENUE.

To His Honor Mayor John F. Collins and the Honorable Members of the City Council.

On March 13, 1963, the chairman of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Art Commission received a resolve, adopted March 4, 1963, by the City Council and attested by the City Clerk Joseph Dunlea. This resolve requested the Art Commission to forward to his Honor the Mayor and the City Council their observations and recommendations regarding the removal of the height limits on Commonwealth avenue.

The State of Massachusetts Art Commission is highly honored to be asked to give their observations and recommendations on this very important question and has given it their serious study and consideration.

They have reviewed with great care the Report of the Committee for Commonwealth Avenue which Committee was composed of distinguished members in the fields of architecture, business, history, and city planning. It further made field studies of the area in question in order to determine what effect the raising of the height limit would have on the homogeneous quality the avenue now reflects, and also to project in their minds the effect the changing of the facade line as proposed in House Bill 1821 would have on its present harmonious aspect.

After due deliberation regarding all these questions, the Art Commission arrived at a consensus which it herein respectfully submits. Commonwealth Avenue: Its History, Character, and Architectural Importance.

History. Its name derives from the area given to the Commonwealth by the Resolves of 1856, chapter 76, that succeeded in achieving a tripartite indenture of 11 December of the same year. This gave to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts the area roughly between Beacon and Boylston streets from Arlington street on the east to an irregular line between Exeter and Fairfield streets on the west.

The Legislature confirmed the tripartite indenture in May of 1857, and authorized the Commissioners of the Back Bay to fill and sell the Commonwealth's lands there. Their plan called for a two hundred feet wide avenue with a park between the roadways, and the lots were restricted so that all houses had to set back twenty feet from the property line.¹

This imposing and well conceived plan with the generous central park area bisecting the two roads and its long vista has been retained since it was conceived by the architect, Arthur Gilman, over a century ago, and has achieved wide approbation as one of the beautiful avenues of the world.

Its magnificent breadth sweeps naturally into the Public Garden and the Common to the east, and to the west into the Fenway and Jamaica way, thus creating an unbroken entity for a long distance.

Architecture. Architecturally speaking Commonwealth avenue possesses buildings that are both good in scale and harmonious in character. While the buildings vary in style and are mostly of the latter half of the 19th century they achieve a unity of feeling principally because they had to be built within the existing limits of the building restrictions. However, these building restrictions did not stifle individual expressions of design, but rather created a variety of styles that add charm and dignity to the whole area with one exception. This exception is Haddon Hall at 29 Commonwealth avenue and it was a mistake that this building, which rises to a height of 116 feet, was ever allowed to be built.

There are a few other buildings that rise higher than the normal 70-foot height and these range between 80 to 87½ feet. However, these slope inward and have mansard roofs and thus do not give offense to the eye as does Haddon Hall. Outside of this exception, Commonwealth avenue taken as a whole is one of the beautiful avenues of the world. Indeed, it ranks with the Champs Elysees of Paris, the charming "Ramblas" in Barcelona, the Via Nomentana in Rome, and several other avenues of Europe. Moreover, it is one of the handsomest residential districts in the United States for urban living. And although the architecture is not as old as that of Beacon Hill, it shows the development of architecture from the Bulfinch front of the State House down to the Victorian period in an almost contiguous topographical area. It is seldom in the history of American architecture that such a sequence is found.

In European countries such an area would be cherished and protected. Venice quite judiciously forbade some years ago the erection of a Frank Lloyd Wright designed house on the Grand Canal in order to protect the character and beauty of its architecture.

It is quite likely that we will not see such architecture as exists on Commonwealth avenue built again for two quite practical reasons. One is the enormous expense that it would involve particularly with respect to the houses that used such materials as stone and granite. Secondly, we no longer possess the artisans and craftsmen of that era to build in these styles.

Boston which has played an important historical role in the cultural development of the United States possesses in Commonwealth avenue an eloquent symbol of that development. Moreover, its artistic beauty is undeniable and is greatly admired by all people who visit Boston. It has, in our opinion, achieved the status of a classic which may be defined as the victory of a work of art over time.

To tamper with this area from Arlington street to Charlesgate East by abandoning the existing building restrictions would be a misfortune for Boston, the Commonwealth, and the nation as a whole. Therefore, we offer the following suggestions and recommendations as solutions to the question.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. That the city retain the old height and facade restrictions now applicable to Commonwealth avenue, but permit penthouse space up to 90 feet high provided such building springs inward on an angle of 45 degrees from the top of the 70-foot facade.

2. That the 20-foot front yard setback be retained. We make this recommendation because Commonwealth avenue runs east and west. If the setback is not retained and buildings are allowed to come that distance forward they would create projections which would put their adjacent buildings in complete shadow on the north side of the avenue in the morning and likewise on the south side in the afternoon. Moreover, the removal of the setback requirement would create ugly projections which would do harm to the now clear vista between buildings.

3. Although the Committee for Commonwealth avenue recommended high-rise buildings at both corners of Arlington street and Commonwealth avenue and at Charlesgate East plus the north side of Beacon street, it is the opinion of the Art Commission that such buildings would do harm to the character, sky line, and good scale of the existing buildings of this area. 330 Beacon while a handsome building is none the less too conspicuous in height.

4. We recommend the enactment of a Back Bay Control Zone which would be administered by a legally constituted Board with power of control over any architectural changes within this zone. Further, that this Board be made up of an architect, a landscape architect, a historian, a business executive, and a representative of the Allied Arts.

5. That the city encourage the development of other areas for high-rise buildings that would do justice to this type of architecture and would enhance the locale in which they are built.

6. That such areas among others are the following: Charles River Park; Huntington avenue; Boylston street, including especially the Fens section; Newbury street, Tremont street section fronting the Common, and St. Botolph street.

CONCLUSION.

The Art Commission wishes to express its deep interest in artistic matters which affect our City and Commonwealth in general. And is appreciative of the request for their observations and recommendations requested by the City Council from a body whose function is to advise the Governor of the Commonwealth and any other duly constituted agency that seeks their advice on matters of art.

Our opinions as herein expressed are, therefore, that of a body whose main concern is that of rendering judgments which in their opinion is for the long range welfare of this community and for the preservation of our artistic heritage.

In preserving our heritage we are, however, quite conscious of the fact that we must forge new horizons and build contemporaneously. We therefore applaud the projected revitalization of our city. But we wish to issue a caveat that progress must also respect that which merits our approbation and admiration.

MINORITY REPORT OF THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE ON URBAN RE-DEVELOPMENT, REHABILITATION AND RENEWAL.

Coun. McDONOUGH, Chairman of the Committee on Urban Redevelopment, Rehabilitation and Renewal submitted the following minority report:

Mr. President, as you no doubt are aware after attendance at the last Thursday's hearing of the Committee of Redevelopment, Rehabilitation and Renewal, on that day it held another additional hearing on the question of the resolution which is pending before the Committee on Urban Redevelopment, Rehabilitation and Renewal regarding the South Cove Project. At that time we heard from witnesses.

Probably the principal witness was Mr. Robert Lee, who, by his own testimony, is president of the Chinese Merchants Association. Mr. Robert Lee then introduced Dr. Stanley Chin who spoke as advocate for the Chinese Merchants Association.

Dr. Chin, as I recall, said that he was not at the time prepared to state affirmatively that he was in favor or against the South Cove Project, and wished to have further assurances and to learn something more about it before he made up his mind. He had a list of prepared requests that he would like to be assured of by the Redevelopment Authority before he made up his mind, and at that hearing he read them from a piece of paper he had prepared, and Mr. Logue of the Redevelopment Authority attempted at that time to assure him with regard to those points.

Mr. Chin stated that he wanted those points covered in writing, and today I am in receipt of a letter from Edward J. Logue, the Development Administrator, of the Redevelopment Authority which I would like to make a part of this interim report.

PATRICK F. McDONOUGH,
Chairman, Committee on Urban Redevelopment, Rehabilitation and Renewal.

Boston Redevelopment Authority,

April 8, 1963.

Councillor Patrick F. McDonough, Chairman, Committee for Redevelopment, Rehabilitation, and Renewal, City Hall, Boston.

Dear Councillor McDonough:

The last Thursday's South Cove hearing was a very useful step in clarifying the intentions of the Authority and the concerns of the Chinese community. At least so it seemed to me. We plan to follow up in some detail on the points that were raised by Dr. Stanley Chin on behalf of the Chinese community. Specifically, I believe we can assure them that there will be no changes in the project boundaries, certainly none that would in any way affect the Chinese community. Second, certainly in the development of any new housing in the Chinese community we would give every preference and priority to the developers from within the community rather than outsiders. In particular the way in which the 221 (d) 3 program is organized and functions, there should be absolutely no need to call in outside developers.

Third, we share their concern about achieving low rents because of the relatively low income of many of the Chinese people in Boston. The 221 (d) 3 program will make the cost as low as possible in new private construction. In addition, we would be able to make mortgage insurance and rehabilitation assistance available. Finally, if it would prove necessary, we would support the development of a small number of public housing units which would achieve still lower rents.

At this early stage in the planning, I see no need for the displacement of any Chinese families prior to the construction of new housing. Our regret is that so much displacement has occurred over the last several years as a result of the takings for the Central Artery and the Massachusetts Turnpike Extension.

It would be our hope in conformity to the desires of the Chinese community that many of these families can once again live in the Chinese community if an adequate supply of new housing can be built. Questions were also raised about the timetable for project planning and execution. The experience here and elsewhere indicates that it is impossible to have precise timetables. Our best estimate is that it would take approximately 15 months from the date of federal approval of the request of planning funds. The carrying out of the project I estimate would take about three (3) to five (5) years. First priority in new construction would be for the low cost housing.

The desirability of consultation, and perhaps more than that for what was termed a veto, was also sought.

I think the hearing itself demonstrated that in the time that has elapsed since the December hearing there has been consultation which has helped to clear up past misunderstandings. We have given the Chinese community, and we would like to give you and the Council, specific assurances that we will continue to consult with the Chinese community with the objective of arriving at an urban renewal plan which will benefit Chinatown and the Chinese community now living there in every possible way. Finally, we have specifically stated that we would ask the support of the Chinese community before submitting any final legal plan for the area.

Some of the assurances sought on many of the details of the plan cannot be given until the funds available for making surveys and plans have been received. I think the important point is rather the spirit in which we approach the Chinese community. From my own point of view and that of the staff working on this project, we want to preserve and protect the Chinese community against the kind of depredation which it has suffered through in major public improvements in the last decade. I am fully aware that the assurances that we have given them we are also giving the Council, and I would expect that we would be held to account on them whenever a final urban renewal plan for the South Cove should be presented to the Council.

At the hearing Mrs. Gottlieb, of the Apparel Industry organization, spoke of the concern of that organization that urban renewal would not be harmful to that very important industry. At the hearing I stated that we wanted to help and not harm the industry in any way. Since then, I have spoken with Mrs. Gottlieb and restated my position. I said that Mr. Hazen, Project Director, would be in touch with her to go over the situation in detail.

Again, may I say that I think the hearing was very helpful in both clarifying misunderstandings which may have existed in the past and the setting forth of some of the basic guide lines that will be used in preparing the urban renewal plan.

My very best wishes.

Sincerely,

EDWARD J. LOGUE.

MINORITY REPORT OF WILLIAM J. FOLEY, JR., MEMBER OF THE COMMITTEE ON URBAN REDEVELOPMENT, REHABILITATION AND RENEWAL.

Coun. FOLEY, member of the Committee on Urban Redevelopment, Rehabilitation and Renewal, submitted the following minority report:

I

In this communication of April 8, 1963, the Development Administrator recites and reports that the hearing last Thursday was very helpful. It is a most rewarding comment to those of us in the Body who insisted such a hearing be held.

In the course of the hearing, it was brought out that certain so-called 112 credits available as a result of the New York Streets Urban Renewal Project were available to the City of Boston to associate with the South Cove Project should that same become a reality. Interestingly enough, it was explained that the consultant, Mr. Levy ($13,500), whom the Boston Redevelopment Authority hired to study the problem, did, in fact, overestimate the credits available by the amount of $1 million, because he credited certain properties acquired by the New England Medical Center which, in reality, were to remain in the taxable category even though owned by the Medical Center.

In reply, Mr. Logue suggested that the Redevelopment Authority had searched hither and yon, and by applying a rule which Mr. Levy apparently overlooked, were able to extend the reach of the Authority back to the year 1945 in picking up so-called 112 credits. In other words, as Mr. Logue explained it, the preliminary planning and survey application on the New York Streets was filed in 1950, and there is allowed a period of five years before that under the federal regulations, during which period properties in the project area acquired by appropriate institutions may be credited against the city's contribution to the project cost.

Interestingly enough, both Mr. Hazen and Mr. Logue said that, of course, such credits were available because the original application was filed in 1950 and project execution before which a period of seven years is allowed carried them back only to 1950. Neither Mr. Hazen nor Mr. Logue apparently knew that project execution of the New York Streets was not 1957 but 1954, which, of course, would extend the reach back to the year 1947.

It strikes me that our highly compensated employees in the Redevelopment Authority ought to be expected to at least bother to look up the date of a project execution in a project where their personal responsibilities are deeply involved.

II

It is personally heartwarming to me to have Mr. Logue concede in the communication dated April 8, 1963, that there is merit in the concept of permitting the community involved on its own initiative to take advantage of the liberal mortgage guarantee provisions of the FHA law. This is a position and a suggestion which I have been urging upon the Redevelopment Authority for nearly two years. The policy of permitting the people affected on their own initiative to take advantage of practically speaking 100 per cent financing provided by the FHA under the 221-d-3 program is a policy which I have been saying, should have been applied in Washington Park for the colored people. Nothing would have helped our colored people more in the City of Boston than using Washington Park to permit the leadership in the colored community to put the roof over the heads of the colored. Instead of that, the Development Administrator brought in the First Boston Realty, Building Services Union, and Carl Koch to do something which persons and leaders in the colored community could easily have done.

I say that this letter is a proof, if proof were needed beyond simple common sense, that a very bad mistake has been made in Washington Park.

I suggest further that the implications in the Strickland Keyes Report were proven, if proof were needed, by Mr. Logue's performance Thursday. Mr. Logue needs the South Cove Planning and Survey Application for one reason and one reason alone: He needs the money to support his bloated staff, and when pressed, he concedes that for poor people, we have to give them public housing, just as was stated in the Strickland Keys Report. The 221d-3 program certainly cannot produce housing at a rent poor people can afford to pay and nothing in the world can gloss over that fact.

When pressed, Logue has to promise public housing, which strikes me that this is a point in the National Housing Program at which we came in back in the 30's.

III

I suggest further that a number of different approaches were discussed at the hearing on Thursday, one of which was that something paralleling CCBP planning for the Central Business District would be attempted for the South Cove. (2). I suggest separately and apart, there was an understanding that no outside developers would be brought into the area. (3). I suggest that separate and apart from this understanding there was a representation that a veto of project execution would be extended the Chinese community.

I suggest further that Mr. Logue indicated that this understanding would be reduced to writing. I suggest that common sense indicates in a most elementary way if you reduce such complicated undertakings to writing, that both sides ought to examine the writing and agree that this is the understanding. Action today based upon a letter to the Chairman of the Committee read on the floor here for the first time, and dated today, would be a massive breach of faith with the Chinese community, which, in 1957, was saved from extinction (and this is a matter of public record) by the Boston City Council.

IV

Mr. Logue states somewhere it is impossible to have a precise timetable in connection with urban renewal projects. I suggest an examination of the time schedule which Mr. Logue offered the city and the people of Boston in the year 1960, in the month of September, would be all too sorrowful proof of that proposition. I suggest further, however, that a basic premise of the so-called Logue program was to answer the question: Can Boston afford this program? The answer, as can be seen from the examination of that document in the "City Record" in 1960 was that if the programs were executed according to the time schedule, that taxable property would be coming on the tax rolls as a result of the program which would help to pay for the program. I therefore conclude that we cannot afford to be quite so casual about the proposal that it is impossible to have a precise timetable. The entire program is built on the execution of a so-called massive program according to a timetable, so that taxable property might be available during the early stages of the program to help support the later stages of it.

Upon our last examination of this problem during our annual examination of the Workable Program, it was apparent the only project of the ten originally mentioned where the project is proceeding according to schedule was the Prudential Project and, of course, that is outside the domain of the Boston Redevelopment Authority, for all practical purposes.

Redevelopment, Rehabilitation and Renewal.

INTERIM REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS AND FINANCE.

Coun. SULLIVAN, for the Committee on Appropriations and Finance, submitted the following interim report:

I would like to rise at this time to make an interim report for the Committee on Appropriations and Finance, to which was referred on March 4 of this year an appropriation order for $3,574,000 for salary increases. Your Committee at this moment is not prepared to report this measure out, but we would like to report that since the order was referred to the Committee on March 4, two hearings have been held. One was an evening meeting on March 13 here in the City Council Chamber, and the second meeting was last Friday, the 5th of April, in the Executive Committee room of the Council.

In considering this matter, one might approach it that our function was simply to appropriate the money and, strictly speaking, that is all that is before us, an appropriation order for a certain sum of money to cover the salary increases for City, County, and Income Departments.

But if the power to appropriate carries any power at all, it is the power to review the purposes for which the appropriations are being made, and it was in the light of this function that your committee held the public hearings, and, indeed, has scheduled a further public hearing for, I believe, the 18th of April at 10:30 A.M., once again in the Council Executive Chamber.

Certainly everyone in the Council is for appropriating money for salary increases. The question raised by the order and raised to the Council and certainly existing in the minds of the councillors, whether or not the numbers involved are adequate for the task that faces us if, indeed, we are to bring the remunerations for city and county employees to some level that might roughly approximate justice.

In the course of the public hearings that we have held, three basic questions appear to our eyes, and they are as follows:

One, is the level of salary compensation adequate for the vast majority of the city and county employees? Is it adequate to enable them to live in decency in this community?

Secondly, there seemed to be many questions ranging over the effect of longevity. One of the basic elements in the so-called Jacobs Survey which was the basis for the salary increases recommended, most of the current employees of the city fall into either one or two longevity plans, either the five- and seven-year plan or the seven- and eleven-year plan.

Under the proposal those under the five and seven would be raised to seven and fourteen and those under the seven and eleven would be raised to nine and eleven.

One of the matters that your Committee has been attempting to determine is whether or not the salary increases proposed when taken into conjunction with the deferred longevity to be implemented, whether or not this is going into effect, would bring the level of municipal pay to where it should be to enable people to live in decency in this community and, secondly, to allow the city to compete among the workers which are necessary to carry out the services so vital to a healthy community.

The reason we are not reporting it out today is that today we cannot answer these questions. We have discovered it is not easy to get the information necessary.

For instance, we know that under the old compensation plan approximately 5,000 of the city and county employees, after having completed their period of longevity were either under $4,000 or had just barely reached the $4,000 mark. Certainly, it was the judgment of the committee members with whom I have talked that this does not reach a decent level of pay for the community in which we live. Certainly, this was the burden of testimony that was presented before your Committee.

To what degree the proposed recommendations are offered, we are yet unable to say, because we have not yet been given the breakdown in the form in which we requested which would make it possible for us to make this kind of judgment.

Will people benefit? The answer is Yes. Who will benefit and to what degree is not as yet clear. The following breakdown throws some light on it.

Over-all, the implementation of the Jacobs element of this will add 8 per cent to the fraction of city and county employees covered by the survey; 8 per cent by their over-all wage cost will be added to implement the Jacobs Report. It breaks down roughly as follows:

During the first year of implementation, the percentage of pay increases will vary from zero per cent up to 10 per cent. Eight per cent of the city employees will receive a pay raise of 3 per cent or less. Seventeen per cent will receive a pay raise of between 3 and 5.9 per cent. Forty-three per cent of the city employees covered will receive a pay raise between 6 and 9.9 per cent, and 32 per cent of the city employees will receive a pay raise of 10 per cent or over.

On the county employees the figures are somewhat different. Receiving an increase of under 3 per cent would be some 20.5 per cent. 12.5 per cent for the county employees between 6 and 10 per cent will be 19 per cent and receiving 10 per cent or more will be 48 per cent for county employees. But we don't as yet have, as I have mentioned, the figures broken down in such a way as to be able to equate the previous grade classifications, and the previous number of employees in those grades with the revised grades and classifications. We don't know how many employees will be in each classification and, therefore, we are not really able to say where the balance or justice of this pay implementation rests.

A further point worth mentioning and raised in the course of the hearings your Committee conducted was the matter of compensation review for those city and county employees who feel the need to appeal on the justice of their situation that they will receive under the revision. The proposed rule as outlined to us indicates that there would be a two-man Board, one representative of the administration and a second representative named by the employee, and that their findings should be passed on to the Director of Administrative Services who would have the power to decide on the recommendation of the two-man Board. There seems to be a considerable difference of opinion as to the adequacy of this.

Your Committee will continue to review this, but the purpose of the interim report was to point out one area of complication that exists. Lumped in with the increase of the city and county workers survey by Jacobs in the appropriation order, there is an amount to cover pay raises for police and fire personnel. Some $1 million-plus is allocated for this purpose, and it would be expended to give the police patrolmen and fire fighters a flat $400 increase, and the police and fire officials an increase of 7 per cent of their current base rate.

It is the opinion of your Committee there was no dissension on passing this item for the police and fire pay raises of $1,549,981, but there is some question in the mind of your Chairman as to whether this money can be appropriated separately under the order that is before us, and I have sought opinions of various people, including Mr. O'Brien who serves with us here as Assistant Corporation Counsel for the Council, and the advice that I got is mixed advice, but it seems to me to lean on the side as these orders are written, we had better not try to appropriate the police and fire moneys separately.

To call this problem to your attention, I am making this interim report today. Your Committee's own action or your Chairman's action would have been to let the whole matter wait and try to report it at the meeting two weeks from today, but I would like to present it to you for your attention and to let you know the problem does exist.

In terms of the pay raises, we have the assurances of the administration in the accompanying letter and testimony before the Committee that the pay raises will be retroactive to March 6.

I believe that covers the basic material that the Committee felt should be brought to your attention here this afternoon, and I will close the report.

THOMAS SULLIVAN, Chairman

The interim report of the committee was accepted.

CITY OF BOSTON

Proceedings of City Council

Monday, April 15, 1963.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., Senior Member COFFEY in the chair. Absent, Councilor Hines.

The Right Reverend Christopher P. Griffin, chaplain of the City Council, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY THE RIGHT REVEREND CHRISTOPHER P. GRIFFIN.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Eternal and ever blessed God, we praise Thee. There is no fact of history more certain than the one that holds our reverent attention these days—the resurrection from the dead of Thy divine Son, our Redeemer. It is not mere dead fact but it lives as fresh and potent in its bud and promise as when the angel rolled back the stone from his grave; as glorious in its strong reality as when the soldier fled in terror; as masterful in its love as when the risen Savior said, "peace be to you." If there be no resurrection then all faith is vain and all else empty. Our beloved and venerable city shares the sorrow of all American hearts today for the 129 noble young American sailors who went to their death suddenly on the submarine "Thresher." But their death is not the end. The deep waters will give up their dead. The graves of all will one day open as did Christ's and all shall walk in the newness of life in the triumph and victory of the resurrection. Death does not have the final victory. It is swallowed up in the victory and triumph of the resurrection. This is the only consolation, the great comfort to the heartbroken, the bereaved. May their souls rest in peace. May they soon share the majesty, the beauty, the unending joy of the triumphant Christ. Amen.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

Coun. IANNELLA in the chair.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 8, 1963.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I return herewith, without my signature and disapproved, the order passed by your Honorable Body on March 25, 1963, accepting chapter 647 of the Acts of 1962 entitled "An Act to Extend Contributory Group Hospital, Surgical, Medical Insurance to Elderly Persons Retired from the Service of the Commonwealth and from Certain Counties, Cities, Towns and Districts and to Their Dependents."

My objection thereto is that, since said chapter 647 as an entity by itself is not subject to acceptance, the order does not make clear what is being accepted. I am however making a survey of this subject matter and will announce the results shortly.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

REPORT RE WINDHAM ROAD DEVELOPMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 12, 1963.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Commissioner of Public Works concerning your order of March 11, 1963, relative to report being prepared by Commissioner of Public Works to the Real Property Commissioner pertaining to the Windham Road Development in Hyde Park.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
April 5, 1963.

Albert Kramer,
Administrative Assistant, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to the following City Council order:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to submit forthwith to the Boston City Council the report prepared by said Commissioner of Public Works to the Real Property Commissioner pertaining to the Windham Road Development in Hyde Park.

This Department, in accordance with a request from his Honor John F. Collins and Real Property Commissioner James J. Sullivan, Jr., for the past seven (7) weeks, has been developing plans and improvements in the vicinity of Windham road, Hyde Park, and has completed studies on two (2) of the three (3) phases of the proposed work.

Phase one (1) calls for the construction of an extension of Beech street, West Roxbury, to the Hyde Park boundary line together with a paved footway from the end of said extension across the top of the slope in the rear of Windham road to Beech street. The Public Improvement Commission has voted to hold a public hearing on April 9, 1963, on the making of these improvements which it is believed will greatly reduce the rain water runoff down the embankment.

Plans for the second phase are now being completed. This work likewise will require a public hearing by the Public Improvement Commission and will be presented to that Board on April 23, 1963. The phase two (2) work includes the installation of storm drainage lines in a private way to be laid out and constructed adjacent to the rear of the Windham Road properties effected by the erosion.

The third phase of the project will comprise creating an embankment on the city-owned land which will sustain vegetation. We have decided to secure the services of a qualified consultant for this work to assist our department engineers.

At the present time, phases one and two can be scheduled for construction this Summer and phase three some time later in the year.

Respectfully,
JAMES W. HALEY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Referred to the Committee on Public Services and Recreation.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC LANDS.

Coun. FOLEY, for the Committee on Public Lands, submitted the following:

Report on proposed sale of discontinued portion of Mt. Washington avenue, South Boston (referred April 8) to Gillette Company.

Your Committee on Public Lands, having considered the above, recommends that it ought to pass.

The order requires the purchaser to reconvey at any time on or before December 31, 1970, if it is determined by the Commonwealth, the city or the BRA, or any other public authority that said land is required for public purposes.

The wisdom of such a provision is not at all clear. The option is not well worded, is open for misinterpretation and hard feeling and most importantly of all it ties up a piece of well-sited land until 1970 and prevents the really effective use thereof until then by one of Boston's most vigorously expanding industrial firms.

However, on balance, your committee makes the above recommendation.

For the Committee,
WILLIAM J. FOLEY, JR., Chairman.

The report was accepted. The order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 6, nays 0:

Yeas—Councillors Foley, Iannella, Kerrigan, McDonough, Piemonte, Sullivan—6.

The order was assigned for 14 days for final action.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS AND FINANCE.

Coun. SULLIVAN, for the Committee on Appropriations and Finance, submitted the following:

1. Report on message of the Mayor and three orders (referred March 4) for appropriation of $3,574,975 for salary increases—recommending that the orders ought to pass.

MINORITY REPORT OF COUNCILLOR PIEMONTE, MEMBER OF COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS AND FINANCE.

MINORITY REPORT OF COUNCILLOR PIEMONTE, MEMBER OF COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS AND FINANCE, RE APPROPRIATION FOR SALARY INCREASES.

Coun. PIEMONTE—Mr. President, I offer a minority report.

I am in favor of the appropriation order insofar as it is a means of providing money for adjustments in the salaries of our employees.

In any business, private or public, employees are a most vital organ. Boston houses many large and important businesses within its borders. The government for the City of Boston itself is the largest and most important.

In order to most ably serve all of its businesses which includes the servicing of business houses as well as 600,000-odd people who may be its residents and the millions who come within its borders, it is important that Boston have as its employees the pick of the crop and retain them.

However, we must realize that this is a material world we are living in and despite the loyalty and the pride of its employees, rent must be paid, the butcher must be paid, the baker must be paid; your city employee is also expected to pay the new taxes being planned, such as the sewer tax and the increase in the water tax.

Boston finds itself fortunate in the sense that it has captive employees, and the word "captive" is used advisedly, a large number of employees who are dedicated, yet because of the years in the service are at a disadvantage if they were to sever their relationship with the city. It is unfair to these individuals and it is shortsighted on the part of the administration not to give these employees their just due. The fact that the city is hard pressed can no longer and should never have been a justifiable excuse.

From the very days of the beginning of our civilization, it is written that a man is worthy of his hire and must be paid for his hire.

I am voting in favor of this appropriation, but want it distinctly understood that I am in no way approving the recommendations submitted by the Jacobs Survey. Why? To do so would be sheer mockery. The very first group that is listed in the proposed pay schedule of the Jacobs Survey are the ward workers, women who work in the City Hospital. While it would appear in the record that they are getting an increase in salary, by simple arithmetic we will find that they are getting a decrease in salary, the old salary and, therefore, the figures shown on the current pay schedule are for a 27-hour work week as compared with the 40-hour work week. By simply dividing the figures in both cases, you will find that the ward workers have received a reduction in wages per hour.

You will also note the longevity which this Council has recognized as very vital in the morale of the city employee, and which I am privileged to have been, as the records will indicate, the author of reducing the 20 years to 12 years, has now been again brought back to the 20 years. Instead of going forward, as far as employee relations are concerned, the City of Boston is taking a step backward.

The irony of the situation is that Boston has now got some five or six million dollars in its treasury which it received from the imposition of an additional tax on the sewer charge, by increasing its water rates, even though there has been no corresponding increase by the Metropolitan District Water Commission, by collecting the excise tax on automobiles for two years in the one year; in other words, collecting the tax even before the tax was due, by collecting five quarters of certain licenses and fees, even though there are only four quarters in the year, by the simple but treacherous practice of billing the licensee for the year and a quarter and extending the date from April to June, and by an increase in fees.

The best source of getting additional revenue for the city has not as yet been tapped, and that is, making savings by volume purchases. It is a sad note, for example, that the Boston Municipal Research Bureau called attention to the fact that the Purchasing Department was buying paint on so-called split orders, and that there was no follow-through. An examination of the records will show that a hardware firm in Dorchester over the course of years, especially the last year, has been the beneficiary of a large volume in dollars of orders, and the question arises as to whether or not savings could have been accomplished had somebody cared enough to have correlated the needs, to take advantage of the savings that come through mass purchases or volume purchases.

Finally, it was my privilege before I left the Council in my last service to have prodded and spearheaded a movement to collect delinquent taxes. At that time there was brought in millions of dollars. Unfortunately, the city, as of this date, has not followed this source of revenue to its fullest extent. It was testified by a department head that insofar as moneys due the city from occupants of tax title properties, the treasurer has no record of the same, that the Law Department as of the date of the hearing which was about a month ago failed and was still failing as of that date to furnish him with any information as to how much money was due. At the time of his appearance, even though we had laid out the formula for him, that is, for the city, the only knowledge the treasurer's office has of moneys due from tenants who occupy tax title properties is in the form of a call by the person who obviously is a tenant with a letter in his hand from the Law Department stating from henceforth he should pay his rents to the Treasury Department.

The treasurer on questioning said he didn't know how much was due, the letter contained no notice of how the sites are occupied, what the current rents are, or what the arrearage was, and as of the date of the hearing, the treasurer had not been informed by the Law Department how much was due the city from this source.

This is a source which can be much more productive if people cared enough or if people had knowledge of the use of the tools which are theirs.

For a long time, it was stated that legislation was needed. I at that time pointed out in my humble opinion as a lawyer that new legislation was not needed, and through research introduced evidence of other cities in other states which were carrying out the collection of this money without legislation. However, the Legislature in its generosity and in its understanding has given to the City of Boston the tools that it requested. That was over a year ago. As of this date, it is obvious that the people to whom the tools were handed either don't know how much to use them or care little about using them properly.

In closing, I urge the public, both the residents of Boston and those who care enough about Boston, to become actively interested in the plight of our city employees. Of course, as in any organization, there may be one or two who perhaps are not as productive as they should be. The fault, I say, is not that of the 20,000-odd more who make up the little army of captive employees of the City of Boston, but the fault is in the administration. If the one or two either because of illness or because the responsibility that has been given them is too much of a challenge, then I say it behooves the administration in the interest of the thousands of other employees to give these people, these one or two, an assignment that will fall within the physical needs of his ability, to the end that the employees of Boston, the city employees who make up a large corps of the loyal employees, might be given the dignity that is due them, that Boston may once again return to the days where it might be said to work for the City of Boston is an honor and a privilege and something to which our neighbors look forward to becoming a member of.

APPROPRIATION FROM PARKMAN FUND INCOME.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 22, 1963.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I am in receipt of the attached communication from the Commissioner of Parks and Recreation, requesting the appropriation of $100,000 from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Parks and Recreation, for the Maintenance and Improvement of the Common and Parks in Existence on January 12, 1887.

I submit herewith an order appropriating the sum of $100,000 from the income received and to be received from the George F. Parkman Fund, and respectfully recommend its passage by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Parks and Recreation Department,
April 15, 1963.

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.
Re Parkman Fund Income.

Dear Sir:

Will you kindly arrange to place the following order in the City Council:

Ordered, That there will be, and hereby is, appropriated from the income received and to be received from the George F. Parkman Fund in the calendar year of 1963 the sum of $100,000 (one hundred thousand dollars) to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Parks and Recreation for Improvements on Boston Common which park area comes within the Parkman will.

The contemplated work to be done at this location in the amount of $100,000 is as follows:
Boston Common—$100,000.

Regrading and beautification of the area formerly occupied by the Buddies and U.S.O. Clubs.
Redesigning and reconstruction of areas in the vicinity of the Parkman Bandstand.

Regrading, sodding, and seeding of lawn areas, etc.

The above-listed work is to be done in the approximate amount of $80,000.

The remaining $20,000 is to be allocated for improved lighting on Boston Common. This would be a start toward a project which is absolutely a vital necessity.

It would be my hope in succeeding years to allocate additional amounts so that in due time Boston Common would be properly lighted and would be a showplace in the evening hours as well as in the daytime hours.

Respectfully yours,
MARTIN F. WALSH, Commissioner.

Ordered, That the sum of one hundred thousand (100,000) dollars be, and hereby is, appropriated from the income received and to be received from the George F. Common and Parks in Existence on January 12, 1887, Maintenance
and Improvement of.....	$100,000

AGREEMENT FOR ACQUISITION AND INSTALLATION OF PARKING METERS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 22, 1963.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I am transmitting herewith a communication of the Traffic and Parking Department. At a meeting of the Traffic and Parking Commission it was voted that the chairman be authorized to make a request for new parking meters.

In my opinion, the city should in purchasing and installing new meters take advantage of provision of section 22A, chapter 40 of the General Laws, whereby meters may be purchased and paid for out of current parking meter receipts for a period not exceeding five years without appropriation by the city.

I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Traffic and Parking Department,
April 18, 1963.

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir:

Since the increase in parking meter fees from five cents to ten cents this department has experienced a tremendous increase in parking meter vandalism. Approximately 9,400 meters were vandalized in 1962 whereas in 1961 the number only amounted to 2,700 meters. The Police Department has given the Traffic and Parking Department the utmost cooperation in the surveillance of parking meters throughout the city. Notwithstanding the increasing number of arrests and prosecutions by the Police Department, the vandalism has continued.

If the same trend continues during this year it is anticipated that the cost of materials to repair these broken meters will amount to over $200,000. In addition, the moneys stolen will probably reach the sum of about $100,000, plus the fact that the inoperative meters will result in a further loss of revenue.

It is the opinion of the technical staff of this department that the solution to this problem is the installation of vandal-resistant meters. For the past year we have experimented with a vandal-resistant meter and to date no case of forcible entry has occurred.

It is felt that the problem is of such an emergency nature that we should replace all of the ten-cent-per-hour meters with vandal resistant meters.

At a meeting of the Traffic and Parking Commission it was voted that the chairman be authorized to make a request for new parking meters. Accordingly, it is hereby requested that the permission of the Boston City Council be obtained for the acquisition of 6,500 parking meters and that the funds to pay for same be appropriated from the item "Parking Meter Fees".

It is estimated that the cost of this purchase will not exceed the amount of $442,500.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS F. CARTY, Commissioner.

Ordered, That pursuant to General Laws, chapter 40, section 22A, the Traffic and Parking Department be, and hereby is, authorized to enter, from time to time, into one or more agreements for the acquisition of and installation of not more than six thousand, five hundred (6,500) parking meters in the aggregate and such agreement to provide that payments thereunder to the vendors of said parking meters be made over a period of not exceeding five (5) years, without appropriation, from fees received for the use of such parking meters.

SOUTH COVE URBAN RENEWAL PROJECT.

Coun. FOLEY moved:

1. I move that the resolution concerning Survey and Planning Application for South Cove Urban Renewal Project be taken from the table.

2. That the said resolution be referred to the Executive Committee.

3. That the Executive Committee be, and hereby is, directed to hold a hearing for the purpose of determining whether the understanding between the representatives of the Chinese community, i.e., Chinese Merchants Association and Chinese Benevolent Association et al. and the Boston Redevelopment Authority concerning this project has been reduced to a writing acceptable to all parties concerned in accord with the intentions of the Development Administrator as expressed at top of page 272 of the transcript of the April 4, 1963, hearing on this subject reading as follows:

"Mr. LOGUE—I for one think we can reduce this to a satisfactory form of writing so that they and we can have a treaty of friendship and understanding, whatever you want to call it. I think it can be done."

Then he was asked: "When do you think you might be prepared to prepare such a writing?"

"Mr. LOGUE—With cooperation, and I emphasize we have had it from them and I hope they feel as Dr. Chin has indicated; since December we have been able to talk together. While I would say it is a reasonably short time, I would hope certainly within the end of this month; in fact, I think we should set some kind of time for ourselves and for them to try to reach such an agreement. I think we can."

Administration Bldg. At BCH Grows Taller

Within a few hours after the decks were cleared the other day, work got underway with jet-propelled intensity in the reconstruction of Boston City Hospital's Administration Building.

To meet the extremely heavy demands upon its facilities it was found necessary to add two stories to the existing three-story structure facing Harrison avenue.

Evicted while the work proceeds was Dr. John F. Conlin, himself, along with his office staff. Also forced to vacate while the work, expected to require several months proceeds, was Deputy Superintendent Joseph P. Lally, head of the hospital's financial affairs.

Dr. Conlin's office will be on the mezzanine floor of 818 Harrison avenue during the work. Deputy Lally has taken over temporary quarters on the first floor of the Administration Building.

"The Sign" Hails Work Of Boston's Mayor Collins

Under the title "Rescuing Boston from the Poorhouse," a feature article paying high tribute to Mayor Collins appears in the May issue of The Sign, national Catholic magazine and one of the most widely circulated of all religious publications.

A heading in the article written by Bill Duncliffe reads, "John Collins has transformed a dying city into a model of progress."

Here are two excerpts from the article:

Cancer Drive Support Urged by Dr. Conlin

Dr. John F. Conlin, head of the Boston City Hospital, has sent the following communication to members of the hospital's medical staff in connection with the cancer drive:

DEAR DOCTOR:

To provide productive opportunities for gifted cancer research scientists, the American Cancer Society is establishing Research Professorships which underwrite the careers of a highly select group of men. Of the 17 scientists thus far chosen, Massachusetts has 3 — a number unsurpassed by any other state.

In effect, the American Cancer Society has said to each of these scientists: "From here on, your only responsibility is research. Stay with the cancer problem until it is solved, and we will back you all the way."

This program is typical of the many well-conceived approaches used by the Society in combating cancer through research, education, and service to patients. Such methods have paid off in lives saved, in research advances, in patients helped.

All programs of the American Cancer Society need and deserve increased support. The more money, the more progress — and the sooner an end to cancer. We need your contribution.

The American Cancer Society has given substantial and appreciated assistance to Boston City Hospital. This is an opportunity to support that assistance and to show our appreciation.

"He has agreed, although reluctantly, to the razing of valuable taxable property in the core of the city for road construction and other improvements. He has presided over the destruction of Scollay square, once known far and wide as a cesspool of crime and vice, and is watching a $150,000,000 Government Center rise in its place. On what was a wasteland in the historic Back Bay, the Prudential Center, a $150,000,000 complex of office buildings, hotels, apartment houses, and a civic auditorium (begun by his predecessor 'Honest John' Hynes) is being built."

"In his first five minutes as mayor, Collins made a vow: to save his city, if it could be saved. How well he has succeeded can be measured by the fact that Boston was one of this year's finalists for the Look Magazine All-America Cities Award, cited as a model of civic probity and progress."

(Editor's Note: the Final All-America Award came to Boston after the article had been written.)

STILL MAKING HISTORY —

The dramatic picture on the opposite page was made by a Christian Science Monitor news photographer by whose courtesy it is reproduced here. It was made at Faneuil Hall, which began making history almost from the first day its doors were opened. The camera study was made at the gathering which marked the unveiling of the model for Boston's $200 million Government Center.

Dorchester-Mattapan Schools Get Face Lift

Mayor Collins has ordered the complete exterior repainting of the Thomas J. Kenny School on Oakton avenue, Dorchester, and the paint spruce-up of other public schools in Dorchester and Mattapan.

The work will get under way soon, in line with the Mayor's insistence for the best possible physical appearance of the city's schools. Contract for the Kenny School job was awarded to the R. Van Putten & Sons firm of 735 Hyde Park avenue, Roslindale.

The firm's bid was the lowest of nine submitted to the Boston School Buildings Department, Construction Superintendent William A. McPherson announced.

Other bidders were H. Piken & Co., Inc., $9,300; Valley Painters, Inc., $9,540; Caputo Construction, Inc., $10,750; General Painting Company, $10,947; Domenic A. Gentile, $11,580; Avondale Painting, Inc., $11,772; Kabot Painting Company, Inc., $11,900; Abbot Painting Service, $13,420.

For other school painting jobs in the Dorchester-Mattapan district the Domenic A. Gentile firm was awarded a contract on a low bid of $3,307. Other bidders were Avondale Painting, Inc., $5,292; Kabot Painting, Inc., $6,413; Caputo Construction, Inc., $8,750.

Arrested Cabbies to Lose Credentials

Licensed taxicab drivers arrested by Boston police must be stripped of their credentials, Police Commissioner Edmund L. McNamara directed in a special order to division commanders.

The Commissioner called attention to a section of the department's rules and regulations which states that such arrests must also be reported to the Hackney Carriage unit within 24 hours.

Commissioner Haley in Sharp Reprimand

Public Works Commissioner James W. Haley has sent the following communication to President Frank J. Cavaliere of F. J. Cavaliere Company, Inc.:

DEAR SIR:

Acting on evidence submitted at a public hearing conducted at my office, Room 511, City Hall Annex, on Thursday, May 2, 1963, I hereby reprimand you for your failure to adequately control the use of city-owned equipment, furnished for use under your contract for the collection of refuse in the West Roxbury district.

The failure of invited eyewitnesses to appear and the evidence presented indicated that you did

Msgr. Lally Praises Help of Welfare Dept

Welfare Department staff members received a first-hand report of redevelopment in Boston from BRA Board chairman, Rt. Rev. Francis J. Lally, at the department's May administration staff meeting.

Msgr. Lally discussed the progress and long-term goals of the BRA and voiced concern for people in the midst of a changing city.

He praised Welfare personnel for assistance and cooperation in planning with BRA staffers for low income groups who are most apt to be uprooted and hurt in the process of renewal.

Total success of redevelopment, he emphasized, hinges on the results of neighborhood rehabilitation aimed at restoring blighted areas without destroying tradition.

Msgr. Lally termed the decision to expand Boston's redevelopment efforts from isolated projects to the present massive effort involving the total remaking of the city as "an intelligent and serious step forward," and feels the wisdom of this move will be proven as Boston's skyline begins to emerge in the years ahead.

not gain any financial benefit from the unauthorized use of the city-owned truck and did not provide sufficient grounds for terminating your contract.

However, you are directed to exercise more effective control of such city-owned equipment in the future. One more such incident indicating improper use of city equipment under your contract will be deemed sufficient cause for me to cancel your contract as provided under the specifications, section 4, Failure of Compliance.

Evidence that the driver of the vehicle used the same for a personal errand, but not for personal profit, does not warrant ordering his discharge at this time, and there is no provision in the contract for his suspension.

Therefore, you are further directed to reprimand the driver of the misused vehicle, Mr. Angelo Cavaliere, and warn him that any further unauthorized use of city-owned vehicles or other misconduct, will result in an order for his dismissal in accordance with the specifications, section 1 (i), Work Requirements.

Top Federal-N.Y. Officials at Roxbury Ground Breaking

Dr. Robert C. Weaver, Administrator of the United States Housing and Home Finance Agency, was welcomed to Boston, May 10, by Mayor John F. Collins on what Mayor Collins officially designated "Robert C. Weaver Day."

Dr. Weaver, who directs all of the federal housing and renewal programs which are changing the face of urban America and which are undergirding Boston's dramatic civic renaissance, was here for the ground-breaking ceremonies of the first moderate-income housing to be erected in Boston under the Mayor's Development Program.

Dr. Weaver's itinerary included a guided helicopter flight over Boston's renewal areas accompanied by William L. Slayton, Commissioner, Urban Renewal Administration, and Edward J. Logue, Development Administrator for the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

Other highlights of the program included a luncheon hosted by the Local 254 of the International Building Service Employees Union, AFL-CIO, and the First Realty Company, respectively sponsor and builder of the moderate-income housing for which ground was broken in the Washington Park Urban Renewal Area in Roxbury.

The official party from Washington also included Fred A. Forbes, Assistant Administrator for Public Affairs, HHFA. From the New York office of the HHFA were Anne M. Roberts, Deputy Regional Administrator, and Charles J. Horan, Regional Director of Urban Renewal. Completing the guest list were Ralph W. Morhard and John B. Maylott, respectively, Regional Director and Deputy Regional Director of Multifamily Housing, New York office of the FHA.

"Mighty Mo" Turned Over to Scrappers

The USS "Massachusetts," the mighty battleship known as "Old Mo" to the many Boston and Bay State boys who served her during her greatest days of combat in World War II, is on the edge of the grave.

Recently at Norfolk some 350,000 gallons of fuel were pumped from her tanks and plans were made to sell her for the scrap she'll yield. She has been in mothballs since 1947 and last year the Navy announced it would be sold this spring for scrap.

A sort of reprieve seemed in the offing for "Old Mo" when some folks in Boston and in the State thought she might be purchased as a sort of souvenir or monument. But the deadline of April 1 came and passed without anyone taking up the option.

Registrar Mackie to Retire After 50 Years

Registrar Charles Mackie of the Registry of Births, Marriages, and Deaths, will retire May 31, after 50 years of city service.

He is 70 years old.

During his tenure of office he has introduced in the Legislature, through the State Clerks Association, an estimate of 50 bills pertaining to vital statistics. One of these is a recent bill making it a legal offense for minors to produce fraudulent birth certificates. He also sponsored the minimum-fee birth certificate law.

He is a member of the bar and a World War veteran. Formerly he captained the detail of life-guarders stationed at City Point's old Head House.

A native of South Boston he now makes his home on Glenville avenue, Allston.

Vital Type III Polio Vaccine For Preschoolers and Adults

"Mr. Wellbee" came to City Hall the other day with a message. He was greeted by Mayor Collins and Health Commissioner John T. Foley who greeted him handsomely and announced they would do everything possible to help him put over his message to Bostonians.

"Mr. Wellbee" is a symbol dedicated to everyone's well-being. The message he brought to City Hall urged all Bostonians who have not yet had their "sip" of Type III oral polio vaccine to make sure they get their protective dose during May.

Free clinics for preschool children are scheduled from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, May 22, 23, 24, at the Health Units and Substations of the Boston Health Department. Adult clinics sponsored by the Health Department and the Suffolk County Medical Society are scheduled on Saturday, May 18 and 25, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Daily clinics—10 a.m. to 2 p.m.—will be held at City Hall and the Health Department Building, Haymarket square, Monday, May 20, through Friday, May 24. A voluntary contribution of 25 cents is requested.

Oral polio vaccine is safe, effective, and long-lasting. Booster doses are not required. There are three major types of polio virus, Type I, Type II, and Type III.

Library Offers New Aid to Businessmen

The Central Library can now, for the first time, offer to the business community and the general public a representative collection of manufacturers' catalogs. The new service was made possible by the acquisition of the new Thomas Micro-Catalogs and Film Reader as an adjunct to the use of the Thomas Register of American Manufacturers. Approximately 2,500 catalogs are now available on microfilm cards.

A specific dose of vaccine is necessary for protection against each type. The vaccine is easy to take—just drink. Anyone who missed Type I or Type II may start with Type III.

Mayor Collins notes that in 1961 the Boston Health Department pioneered in the research on oral polio vaccine. The Boston and Brookline Health Departments jointly conducted a program of limited field trials of Sabin oral polio vaccine in which 3,500 persons, between the ages of six months and 40 years, participated. Data collected in the program contributed to the licensing of the vaccine by the United States Public Health Service, making it available for distribution nationwide.

Last June, 76.4 per cent of Boston preschool children received

Type III vaccine in the clinics sponsored by the Health Department. These children will not have to return as "booster" doses are not necessary with oral polio protection. There are, however, a number of children six weeks to school age who did not get the Type III oral polio vaccine and these youngsters should have the protective drink now, regardless of the number of Salk shots they have received.

This is the first time Health Department community clinics have provided Type III for adults—Type I was given in January, and Type II, in March. Mr. "Wellbee" says, "Every member of the family who has not yet received his 'sip' of protection against the Type III polio virus should make sure he obtains it during May."

WELCOME "MR. WELLBEE"—Mayor Collins, right, and Dr. John T. Foley pay a gracious welcome to "Mr. Wellbee" symbol of Boston's drive to make the big Type III polio vaccine program for preschoolers and adults a success.

Where to Go for Type III Polio Sips

Here's where Type III oral polio vaccine clinics are located:

Brighton, Courthouse, 52 Academy Hill road; Allston, Washington Allston School, 392 Cambridge street, Allston; Charlestown, Health Unit, 73 High street; Dorchester, Health Unit, 895 Blue Hill avenue; Codman Square, Library Building; Uphams Corner, St. Kevin's Hall; Columbia Point Administrative Building, 270 Mt. Adult clinics will be held May 18 and May 25, from 10 A.M. to 2 P.M., at the locations listed above. Preschool children clinics will be held from 1 P.M. to 4 P.M. at the above places, May 23 and May 24.

Daily clinics will be held at City Hall Annex and the Health Department Building in Haymarket square, from 10 A.M. to 2 P.M., May 20 through May 24. A 25-cent contribution is asked for adults.

Alleged Welfare Gyp Gets Jail Sentence

A 37-year-old South End man was sentenced to 18 months in the House of Correction by Municipal Court Judge Frank Morrissey on charges of larceny of $4,522.70 from the Welfare Department.

Attorney Austin O'Malley, counsel for the Welfare Department who investigated the defendant's activities, said that the accused received checks from the Welfare Department, the Veterans Administration, and the Boston Veterans' Services from 1958 to last February.

Dr. Collins Taking Over Long Island, N. Y., Post

Dr. James F. Collins, former assistant medical director at Boston City Hospital and for the last 10 years head of the Cambridge City Hospital, has submitted his resignation, effective August 1, to the trustees of the Cambridge Hospital.

He will take over the direction of a major Long Island, N.Y., Hospital. His salary at Cambridge was $21,000.

The popular hospital executive announces that he will also be obliged to resign as president-elect of the Massachusetts Hospital Association because of his coming duties outside the state.

Space-in-Peace Show Here in '64

The space agency will hold its big annual Conference on Peaceful Uses of Space in Boston a year from now—May, 1964.

James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, has instructed NASA's Boston office to make the necessary arrangements. Frank Phillips, head of that office, said he intends to start mobilizing support among Boston civic leaders at an early date.

The Boston meeting will be the fourth since Webb instituted the series at Tulsa, in May, 1961, just after President Kennedy called for a manned lunar landing in the '60s. The 1962 conference was held at Seattle in conjunction with the World's Fair, and this year's will be at Chicago, May 6-9.

Jocularly known with NASA as the "road show," the Peaceful Uses Conference brings together governmental and industrial leaders for a headline-making review of space developments.

Top Officers of BPL Win Second Terms

The president and vice-president of the Board of Trustees of the Boston Public Library have been re-elected for second terms.

Rt. Rev. Edward G. Murray, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Roslindale, and active as representative of the Catholic Archdiocese in civic, cultural, and ecumenical affairs, was re-elected president and Augustin H. Parker, Jr., as vice-president.

Elizabeth B. Brockunier was elected secretary.

Mr. Parker is president of the Old Colony Trust Company, and senior vice-president of the First National Bank of Boston.

Idaho boasts all kinds of wild game. Within its borders it claims to offer the sportsman his choice of wolves, lynx, moose, antelopes, cougars, black or brown bears and some grizzly bears which weigh in at 600 pounds.

Postal Zone Numbers Are Important Now

Have you been using postal zone numbers? It's a good habit in which to find yourself if you'd like the Post Office to give you the best possible service both on private and business mail.

Postal zone numbers in the Boston Postal District will be an integral part of a new ZIP Code to commence here July first.

Although postal zone numbers have been in use here for many years, when coupled with a special three-digit code to be assigned to each post office and utilized by the local firms in their electronic computer systems mail deliveries to some out-of-town areas will be speeded up by as much as 24 hours.

ZIP meaning Zone Improvement Program is expected to save millions of dollars for the Post Office Department when fully developed.

Ida Kahn Re-Elected Welfare Board Head

At the Board of Overseers of the Public Welfare's annual meeting, May 6, Ida M. Kahn, Brighton; James Leo Mulvey, Dorchester; and James F. Bowers, West Roxbury, were re-elected chairman, vice-chairman, and treasurer, respectively. A. Edna McCarthy, Boston, was elected to act as secretary for the board.

Others serving on the board are Thomas F. Brady, Jamaica Plain; Melnea A. Cass, Roxbury; Joseph S. Dow, West Roxbury; Katharine E. Driscoll, Chestnut Hill; Rev. John V. Driscoll, S.J., dean, B. C. School of Social Work; Philip Goldstein and Dr. Robert Lavrakas, both of West Roxbury.

Board members are appointed by the Mayor for three-year terms and volunteer their time toward forming welfare policy and administering the 19 private trust funds left to the city.

Dear Sir:

Chapter 92 of the Acts of 1953 authorizes cities and towns having parking meters to apply the receipts from said meters to the payment of any debt incurred for the acquisition of off-street parking areas and facilities.

establish parking areas and facilities. It is estimated that seven hundred sixty-two thousand, four hundred and twenty-five dollars ($762,425) of parking meter receipts will be available to meet these requirements.

In view of the authority granted by the Legislature, I recommend that an order be submitted to the City Council to appropriate from parking meter receipts the sum of seven hundred sixty-two thousand, four hundred and twenty-five dollars ($762,425) to provide for the principal maturities and interest requirements on these bonds in 1963.

INTERIM REPORT RE CLASSIFICATION OF "SPECIAL MUNICIPAL EMPLOYEES."

Coun. IANNELLA, offered the following:

It is the intention of this committee to have it understood that this is not the final order of this Council with respect to the subject matter of classifying special municipal employees under Chapter 268A of the General Laws.

It is our intention to hold subsequent hearings for the purpose of inviting all interested parties before the Executive Committee to review their status and classification. The committee will then make a determination as to whether these various boards should be designated as special employees under said chapter of the General Laws.

The Executive Committee, in accordance with the provisions of said act, has adopted certain reasonable standards as a guide in making this determination. The standards adopted by the committee are as follows:

1. Is the job unpaid or under $500?
2. How much time is spent on the job?
3. Does the job entail the spending of money (other than salaries of subordinates) primarily (a) by the bid procedure (b) by statutory scheme or (c) not involve much expenditure?
4. Does the job require specialized skill or, at least for some members, business experience and knowledge?
5. Would the instances where average members might need to deal with their departments be few (two or less per year)?
6. Can the holders of this job contract with other agencies of the municipality upon full disclosure filed with the clerk and still do a conscientious job in the position?
7. Would favorable rulings by this board or officials be known and substantially balanced by necessary adverse rulings as far as promoting the popularity of the incumbents?

It is also the intention of this committee to afford these members an opportunity to be heard as soon as possible. The first hearing will be held next Monday afternoon, and it is our desire that by the end of next week, each and every member of as many boards as there are, will be given an opportunity to come before the Executive Committee.

CHRISTOPHER A. IANNELLA, Chairman.

The interim report was accepted

Adjourned at 5:45 p.m., on motion of Councillor Iannella, to meet on Monday, May 6, 1963, at 2 p.m.

Mayor Urges ICC to Aid NE Rail Survival

At a hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission held here May 20, Mayor John F. Collins made an urgent plea for consideration of plans which would include the Boston & Maine and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroads in the proposed merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads.

The Mayor pointed out the heavy odds facing the New England railroads in their battles for survival; the tremendous stake Boston and all the rest of New England share in rail transport and the need for the adoption of a policy which will enable the New England roads in providing continued service without government assistance.

Here is the Mayor's statement:

The City of Boston is the heart of the Boston Standard Metropolitan Area, which is the seventh largest metropolitan area in the United States. Boston is also the largest city in the six-state New England Region, and it serves as the center for governmental, commercial, educational, and cultural activities in this region.

The geographical location of Boston and New England in the northeast corner of the United States dictates that this area must have strong and efficient transportation links with the rest of the nation and the world by all modes: rail, highway, water, and air.

It is because of Boston's concern with its present and future rail transportation service that I appear here today.

Boston and southern New England presently receive rail service from three separate railroad corporations, namely, the Boston & Maine Railroad, the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, and the New York Central Railroad. The latter is one of the two railroads initiating this merger application before the commission. The other two railroads serving Boston now face a situation which threatens their very survival. I need only cite the fact that one of them, the New Haven Railroad, is now in bankruptcy, and that the other, the Boston & Maine Railroad, faces very heavy odds against future long-term operations as a private enterprise rail carrier.

The existing conditions are well known to the commission and others, including the two railroads seeking to merge, and I shall not burden the record by enumerating them at this point.

Brilliant Boston City Hospital Therapist Lauded by Mayor

Mayor John F. Collins, stricken with paralytic bulbar polio during his campaign for City Council in 1955 and warned that he might permanently be confined to bed, today steadily improves his ability to walk on crutches.

Much of the credit for his remarkable physical rehabilitation progress has been personally accorded his physical therapist, Miss Barbara Lake, superintendent of physical therapy and occupational therapy at Boston City Hospital.

"She's the world's best physical therapist in my personal estimation," Mayor Collins remarked admiringly at a recent meeting with Miss Lake at his office.

Regarding the Mayor as the ideal therapy patient, Miss Lake believes his continuing improvement in muscular coordination is due to disciplined and strict exercise schedule which has been gradually increased to a daily quota of one and a half hours.

"The most important facility any person has for overcoming the total physical disability experienced by the Mayor is courage, determination, and the ability to set realistic goals for muscle re-education and exercise," she added.

"He continues to improve beyond the point expected of any ordinary man and his efforts to regain the use of his leg and arm muscles will eventually allow him to rely more and more upon crutches," she went on.

Miss Lake, who resides at Commercial Wharf in Boston, has been the Mayor's therapist since 1955 when he was admitted to the New England Center Hospital during a polio epidemic. She went to the Medical College of Virginia's Physical Therapy Department following graduation from Sargent College in 1951. Recruited to the Detroit Children's Hospital in 1952 during a polio epidemic in that city, she later went to the Waterbury Connecticut Hospital for two years. When the Boston polio epidemic broke out in 1955 the New England Center Hospital asked her to join their Physical Therapy Department. She remained on the Center's staff until 1962 when she was appointed to her present position at Boston City Hospital.

Stricken by polio a few days before the preliminary municipal elections in 1955, Mayor Collins spent the final campaign in bed while his wife did the campaign rallying for him. He came in third in a field of 18 candidates.

Mrs. Collins maintained a hectic re-election pace while serving as a therapist to the three eldest Collins' children who contracted non-paralytic polio shortly before the Mayor's attack. Miss Lake who treated the children at New England Center Hospital taught Mrs. Collins therapy procedures which enabled her to take care of her children at home when they were released from the hospital. All of the children have completely recovered.

Recalling the Mayor's admittance to the New England Center, Miss Lake remembers "... he was completely disabled physically upon arrival. He remained in the hospital from August 16 to a few days before Christmas and was under the care of his orthopedic physician, a general physician, and myself.

"All of the exercise procedures used in the Mayor's treatment were for muscular coordination and endurance, including the Hubbard Tank whirlpool exercise program," she went on. "It was a long and difficult struggle for the Mayor. He had to learn to turn over in bed and gradually adjust to a wheel chair.

"But he left the hospital in a wheel chair when attending physicians feared that he might never leave his bed," she emphasized. "Today his arm and chest muscles have greatly improved and strengthened, but his leg, hip, lower back and abdominal muscles remain to be strengthened sufficiently and might take years of exercise."

Miss Lake cared for the Mayor as a daily out-patient for several years following release from the hospital. His out-patient therapy visits were gradually reduced and today she visits him at his home three or four times a year to check his braces, observe his progress on crutches and make suggestions for new or improved exercises.

Rail Survival . . .

Poor Alternatives

There are several alternative choices that are likely if the commission allows the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads to combine into one corporate entity and leaves the Boston & Maine Railroad and the New Haven Railroad to continue as at present.

One of the alternatives is government ownership and operation of these two New England systems. This is an alternative which neither railroad management, nor railroad labor, nor government wishes to occur.

A second alternative is a continuing government subsidy for future operations of these two New England rail carriers.

A third alternative, one which has not yet been faced up to as a real potential and which is completely unacceptable to Boston and the New England economy, is substantial or complete liquidation of the New Haven and Boston & Maine Railroad systems.

All of these choices would be contrary to established federal policies, and/or the economic interests of Boston and New England.

Acceptable Opportunity

There is a desirable opportunity which precludes the necessity of accepting any one of the three alternatives I have mentioned.

This opportunity provides that the New Haven and the Boston & Maine be merged into stronger railroad systems, or a stronger railroad system, so that many of the factors threatening the continued solvency of these two roads will be minimized. There are a number of actions the commission can take so that these two, relatively short-line, New England railroads will continue to provide service without government assistance. One action the commission could take is to require that approval of the merger of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New

Appraisal to Fix South Station's Role in New Boston

An important step, which city officials hope will lead eventually to development of the 100-acre railroad land in back of the South Station is under way by the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

The board authorized Development Administrator Edward J. Logue to hire the real estate firm of Meredith & Grew, Inc., to make an independent appraisal of all the assets of the Boston Terminal Corporation.

Logue notified the Authority that he and his staff have discussed the possible development during the past several weeks with Attorney Henry Leen, trustee of the Boston Terminal Company which, with the New Haven Railroad, controls the land.

Proposals for possible development were advanced last January by the city administration to Federal District Court Judge Robert Anderson who is handling bankruptcy proceedings of the railroad.

Logue told the Authority that Judge Anderson has asked the trustees to make a survey of their property to determine what their future railroad needs might be.

From discussions held, said Logue, it "has been agreed that the Terminal Corporation and the Authority would each obtain an independent appraisal of all the assets."

Nordblom & Co. was selected by the Terminal Corporation to make its appraisal.

"We estimate that the appraisals will take from 60 to 90 days," said Logue.

Under consideration for the area, should all entanglements be cleared, are a 5,000-car garage, possible wholesale market district, and athletic stadium.

York Central Railroad be conditioned upon the absorption of both the Boston & Maine and the New Haven into the merged company. A second action is approval conditioned upon acceptance of either the New Haven and Boston & Maine into the merged Pennsylvania-New York Central system and acceptance of the other into a second, strong, trunk-line railroad system, being formulated around the Norfolk and Western railroad system, which is now before the commission in a separate proceeding.

Acceptable Merger

It is obviously more desirable from Boston's and New England's point of view to have two strong rail systems serving New England; however, if the commission, in its wisdom, believed only one such system was adequate to serve the needs of the public for railroad transportation in New England, absorption of both the New Haven and Boston & Maine into the merged New York Central-Pennsylvania system would be acceptable.

The City of Boston does not oppose the railroad mergers, per se, but believes that protection of the New England economy, the cities of New England, and its labor and industry can be properly assured only by well-conceived mergers.

In fact, merger undoubtedly offers the most acceptable method of solving many of the problems now confronting Boston's two short-line railroads.

The commission is, I am sure, aware that nine New England senators have successfully petitioned the President for a study by the Department of Commerce on the effect of pending railroad merger proposals upon the New England area. I endorse this action taken by the Executive Branch of the Federal Government and I sincerely urge that when the conclusions of this study are available, the commission and other responsible governmental agencies will take quick action to solve the serious problems now clouding the future fate of the New Haven and Boston & Maine Railroads.

April 26.

Personnel Order No. 120.

The following officers are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation:

District 9.

Sergt. Salvatore J. Ingenere, Detective Stephen E. Flaherty, Patrolman Edmund H. Kasianowicz, Patrolman Arthur N. Cardarelli, Patrolman Lewis G. McConkey, Patrolman Stephen C. DeLosh.

Robbery Squad.

Detective Charles W. Miller, Jr., Detective Alan J. Crisp, Patrolman John J. Donnelly.

Special Service Squad.

Detective Warren S. DeLaria, Detective Gerald R. Bulman, Detective Robert L. Chenette.

About 6:23 P.M., Saturday, March 9, 1963, Saul Green, 51 years, married, 575 Morton street, Mattapan, was shot and killed during an armed robbery of his variety store at 2818 Washington street, Roxbury.

At approximately the same time, Joseph McRae, 61 years, single, of 2822 Washington street, Roxbury, owner of a variety store, same address, was shot and injured during an armed robbery of his store. The stores are within a short distance of each other and the first reports were that each crime was committed by two unknown men.

Immediately upon being notified, Sergeant Ingenere, Detective Flaherty, Patrolman Cardarelli, Kasianowicz, McConkey, and DeLosh, District 9, all working in plain clothes, responded. Detectives Miller, Crisp, and Patrolman Donnelly of the Robbery Squad (on day off), and Detectives DeLaria, Bulman, and Chenette, Special Service Squad, also responded to the scene. These officers working under the supervision of Sergeant Ingenere commenced an intensive investigation and brought about an early solution of these crimes.

Sergeant Ingenere received information that a certain individual had threatened to kill Saul Green within a week prior to his death. This man was arrested for Green's murder by Detective Flaherty and Patrolman Cardarelli, but the suspect denied the charge while informing the sergeant that a boy named "Johnnie" who lived on Galena street had witnessed the shooting. A number of houses were checked on Galena street and "Johnnie" Stephens, 12 years, 14 Galena street, was finally located by Patrolmen McConkey and Kasianowicz. He was brought to the station as were witnesses to the McRae shooting, Helen Murphy, 2812 Washington street and James Dennehy, 3 Elmore street, Roxbury.

At first "Johnnie" Stephens denied that he had witnessed a shooting, but after questioning and being confronted with the suspect, the boy stated he saw the holdup and when shown a group of six pictures he identified John L. Spencer as the one who shot Saul Green.

Stephens and Dennehy were then questioned by Sergt. Detective Leo Gannon of the Homicide Squad, and statements were taken.

The combined investigation by officers of District 9, the Robbery Squad, and the Special Service Squad continued and it was revealed that the home of Melvin Simpson's girl friend was at 2 Ellis street, Roxbury. About 5:45 A.M., March 10, 1963, the sergeant, with the above officers, entered 2 Ellis street where Simpson was found and arrested. He denied the charge. Under a bed was found a brown rain and shine coat with a button missing. This coat fitted Simpson and when the sergeant produced a button, which had been found by Detective Crisp at the scene of the McRae shooting and which matched the buttons on the coat, the prisoner confessed to his participation in the shooting and holdup of McRae and stated that David E. Johnson was with him at the time and did the shooting.

As the result of further investigation and interrogation of various suspects the sergeant and the above officers then proceeded to 65 Homestead street and in a rear bedroom arrested on suspicion of murder, John L. Spencer. When questioned at District 9, Spencer finally confessed that he had shot Saul Green and that with him at the time was a man known as Gist. Detective Sergeant Gannon, Homicide Squad, responded and took statements from Simpson and Spencer.

On the evening of March 10, 1963, Sergeant Ingenere further questioned Spencer and Simpson and learned that the two remaining wanted men, Johnson and Gist, had done time together. The sergeant contacted several penal institutions and found that a Garry Guess, 19 years, of 119 Bond street, Springfield, had been confined to the Shirley School at the same time as Johnson. Officers of District 9 went to Springfield and, with the police of that city, located Guess in a home from which he tried to escape. He was apprehended and returned to Boston, where he admitted his part in the crime.

On March 11, 1963, David E. Johnson, the last member of the holdup gang, surrendered himself in New York and was returned to this jurisdiction.

On March 13, 1963, the four prisoners were arraigned in Roxbury District Court, before Judge Tracey, each being charged with murder, two counts of armed robbery, and two counts of conspiracy. These cases were continued and each defendant was held without bail.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the excellent police work performed in this case. The apprehension of the aforementioned defendants, who had committed the atrocious crimes of murder and armed robbery, was accomplished after many continuous hours of detailed investigation by the above-named officers, under the skillful supervision of Sergt. Salvatore Ingenere. The prompt solution of these crimes is commendable in that it relieved the tensions of an aroused citizenry and reflected credit not only on the officers concerned in the case, but on every member of the department as well.
